The Foreword

An annual means a year of planning, with a mad scramble at the close . . . thrills at the opening of the finished book . . . a rush for autographs . . . lasting reminders of happy days. . . In offering the 1937 Caduceus the staff has had the year of planning and the scramble at the end. . . Hopefully it leaves with you the thrills . . . the autographs . . . the pages packed with memories.

The Dedication

To one who by his leadership has brought musical honor to our school. . . .

Whose loyal and understanding character has made both students and faculty admire him. . . .

Whose kindness toward timid ambition has endeared him to all. . . .

*To Mr. Louis Olker, a leader of band leaders, we dedi-

A Presentation of the Personnel of Chico High

The Panther's personnel is a contrasting patchwork of light and shadow . . . genius and plodding unimagination . . . leadership and mute willingness to follow . . . levity and days of earnest effort . . . bewildered freshmen . . . pseudo subtle sophomores . . . juniors on the threshold of sobriety . . . and seniors finishing a race they must but run again . . . traditional classes with faculty who are a tradition of the school and courses with those who were one of us but a few years back . . . stern problems of study and discipline . . . the realism of theories and the theories of reality . . . a patchwork as varied as the seasons, and as monotonous as the stately ticking of a grandfather's clock . . . a four-year ride on a roller coaster of ups and downs.

The New Board . . . Interested Mothers . . . Our Principal

The Board of Education . . . The Superintendent . . . The Association of Parents and Teachers . . . three units on which the welfare of the school largely depends . . . The Chico High School Board of Education are men and women of business capacity and experience in public affairs . . . who have so much interest in the Chico school system and its welfare, that they are willing to take this position of responsibility and trust with no remuneration except the satisfaction of serving well the citizens of Chico . . . Many problems they have to face . . . things about which the average school patron is uninformed, but which are of vital importance to the proper functioning of the school . . . The School Board has a notable task in keeping abreast of the times without catering to fads . . . in providing education for all types of students . . . to meet all sorts of needs in the community.

Superintendent of Schools F. L. Cummings as principal of Chico High exerts a masterly influence over the activities of the students . . . In addition to their studies he trains them for future citizenship by their school experience in carrying out a self-governing system . . . There is no task so arduous that he will not devote his energy toward if it is for the betterment of the school . . . For many years the Chico High School P. T. A. has been under efficient management and excellent direction . . . It seeks to bring together cooperatively the activities of the school and home . . . Their meetings bring about friendly relations and a helpful attitude between parents and teachers . . . Their aim is to improve the mental and physical development of children . . . Our P. T. A. has done much needed work among children handicapped physically or by environment . . . Their work also helps the parents to understand the student better because of a knowledge of his school affairs.

Friendly Counsellors . . . The Deans . . . Erudite Educators

Here are the ones who've helped us make the grade . . . From the English department we see pictured here Harriet K. Burr, Anne Currie, adviser of publications, Donna M. Due, Mrs. Mary Noe Fountain, Mary Love Harris, Marjorie Matthews, Chester Kennedy, Mrs. Kissling, and Laurene Shields, dramatics director . . . The five instructors from the Physical Education department who have turned us from weaklings to potential tarzans are Ethel L. Bornefeld, Mildred C. Crain, Lloyd Costar, L. E. Madsen, and Ralph Hensley . . . From the Social Science department, where we learned all about everything, we have had these teachers: Ada Botts, who also has typing once a day, Lorraine Couch, Clarence H. Leonard, T. O. Rinker, Donald K. Smith, and I. L. Ullery . . . We were taught to appreciate good music by Lucille Cooper and L. P. Olker . . . We got our tongues twisted over many an irregular verb under these foreign language teachers: Margaret J. Cooper, Mrs. Anne Cowan, W. R. West, and Lillie Earll who left the library once a day . . .

For those stenographers and bookkeepers to be, there was Mrs. Ellenore K. Robbins, Rudolph C. Kissling, Olive Vadney, and Ernest Van Matre to teach us . . . With many an A plus B equals C we struggled through math with the help of Joseph G. Crane, Ernest F. Lundeen, and Kenneth Maxwell . . . These women taught us the domestic arts: Mrs. Myrtle V. Walker, Mrs. Luella Madsen, and Mrs. Catherine Simson . . . In the field of science we had great fun in making experiments in the laboratory and going on field trips under the direction of Paul A. Paulson, Dr. A. A. Heller, Ernest F. Lundeen, W. R. West . . . For the artistic minded, Angeline Stansbury was always ready to help . . . Clyde Dahlman showed how it works in Auto Mechanics . . . In General Shop, William Woolley was always on the spot . . . The F. F. A. grew many a grain of hay under the guidance of Ralph T. Filson . . . Two smiling faces on the opposite page are our deans, Mrs. Ruth Thomas and Carl Schreiter . . . Lorraine Couch, T. O. Rinker and Ernest Lundeen, our counsellors, at the end.

This year the boys' and girls' glees have had more invitations to sing in public than ever before . . . On April 11 the girls sang two groups of songs at an evening service of the Presbyterian church . . . At the Principals' convention held in Chico April 17, Aunita-Belle Courts and Helen Marie Pillsbury proved themselves able directors in the absence of Miss Cooper . . . At the annual Music Festival the numbers they sang were "Lullaby and Goodnight" by Brahms, "Morning" by Oley Speaks, and "Dedication" by Franz . . . During the year they appeared on the F. F. A., Christmas, and other radio programs over KHSL . . . They also sang for the Commencement program . . . The boys' glee sang over the radio early in the fall semester . . . and for the Movie Club's western production "None But the Brave," they provided cowboy songs . . . The mixed glee was much more active than usual also . . . They sang for the dedication of the new gym, for the Music Festival, and for Baccalaureate . . . At the Music Festival they were the largest group ever to represent Chico High School . . . and also the largest at the Festival . . . So much interest has been shown in a cappella singing during the past year that an a cappella choir has been organized for next semester . . . The vocal department has grown so large in the last few years that next semester all three, boys' and girls' chorus and a cappella choir, will meet daily and be given the same credit as other subjects . . . This year Miss Cooper picked four students to attend the bi-annual California-Western Music Conference in San Francisco . . . Those going were Joyce Whitmoyer, Aunita-Belle Courts, Gail Moore, and John Berger . . . Miss Cooper accompanied them . . . Two pictures on the opposite page are of the Angels' chorus . . . in the drum are four angels with halos . . . the pianist? . . . none other than Miss Lucille Cooper . . . The small picture of the boys was taken just as they burst forth in a good old barbershop harmony . . . All of them have endeavored to sing harmony and now, just as they are about to quit, they have found the secret of close harmony.

Brass and reeds . . . symbols and cymbals.

With Mr. Olker directing both the band and orchestra, the instrumental part of the music department was a great success . . . Chico high's band this year was composed of about eighty pieces . . . As usual, they participated in the annual Sacramento Valley Music Festival held in Chico April 25 . . . Their playing was the climax of the whole day . . . The numbers the band played were "The Pilgrim" by Lake and the overture "Arian" by Boyer . . . They also marched in the Armistice Day and Decoration Day parades . . . In the way of a new idea this year they gave a series of concerts in the City Plaza . . . The band gave entertainment for the school exhibit held in the high school gymnasium and, played for the Fair and Fiesta, May 10 to 17 . . . On May 18 they played a group of pieces for the citizens of Paradise . . . The orchestra was also a good sized organization this year, having about fifty pieces . . . Throughout the year they gave several concerts for different organizations of Chico . . . Some of these were given at the All Schools Exhibit . . . the regular assembly of the student body . . . The Music Festival climaxed the year's playing for the orchestra . . . For their festival pieces this year they played "The Sleeping Beauty" by Tschaikowsky and the overture "Latona," by Franz Mahl . . . The processional at Commencement was also played by the orchestra . . . On the opposite page at the top is a picture of the orchestra, while at the bottom is the band . . . In the snaps at the left we have Art "Bom Bom" Lovin at the kettle drums . . . Art has played the drums all of his life . . . He plays for both orchestra and band, while in his spare time he beats the drums for Gail Moore's Troubadors . . . In the center we see Mr. Olker's back leading the band (at least part of it) . . . Last we see Frank Patocka with his sax . . . He's helped to make many an assembly entertaining . . . Frank has made quite a name for himself with his sax . . . what with being one of the winners in the amateur hour held in town . . . and going to the State Fair at Sacramento as representative of Chico . . . Even the judges praised him there.

Oh, Mr. Bishop! Tut, tut, tut! And another Christopher

"The Bishop Misbehaves" and wins new laurels for Miss Shields and her troupers . . . "The Late Christopher Bean" comes to light again in the senior play and covers the same group with glory . . . Stage settings by Miss Stansbury and the stagecrafters add distinction to both plays . . . On the opposite page as the Bishop Earl Booth finds an excuse to exercise his latent talent as a detective . . . Geraldine Hale, his sympathetic sister, looks on . . . Aunita-Belle Courts enters the inn, threatening the plans of Jim Roth, her lover . . . In front of the fireplace Jim's plan seems to be working . . . Joe Wadlington, bad man, looks ready to give up . . . Mary Helen Erwin, his wife, is startled, but pleasanter than in front of the curtain scolding Joe . . . Note Joe's horns . . . quite accidental . . . Ed Wong, the real crook, looks dangerous . . . The play ends as it should for all but poor Alex Donsker, the Bishop's secretary, who gets a black eye . . . Others in the cast were Keith West and Ray Phillips, who were confederates of Jim's.

Sam Chamberlin and Betty Jane Lauterio, lovers in "The Late Christopher Bean" cast, find no privacy . . . Sam has just proposed and been accepted . . . but Betty's jealous sister, Jean Douglas, has caught them in the act . . . Jean calls for her father and mother, Earl Booth and Thelma Kent . . . The mother hasn't appeared yet, but Earl, "Doc" Haggett, comes down the stairs to see what's wrong . . . In the other picture we see the Haggett family sorrowfully sitting down to dine after learning that they have been swindled out of thousands of dollars by Alex Donsker and Alan Carmack . . . These two pictures show only two of the many comical scenes in the play . . . The cast of veteran players gave a performance that marks the sterling quality of a production directed by Miss Shields . . . The play, Miss Shields' last one at Chico high, was considered one of the best senior plays ever given in Chico . . . Other members of the cast were Geraldine Hale and Jim Roth . . . Geraldine as "Abby," the maid, gave the best performance of her high school career.

About the new gym

A $100,000 dream becomes reality . . . modern architecture, elaborate simplicity, enhance the regions of Pantherland . . . spacious and adequate, sunny and airy, gracefully solid . . . basketball again tides over the post-football, pre-track lull . . . rallies, assemblies, and dances find new popularity within its ample walls . . . another milestone in a long record of magnificent achievements . . . such is the gratifying highlight of Chico history for 1937, bestowed by the new gym.

Impressions in black and white of Panther sports

FOOTBALL: The team took third place in the N. C. H. S. A. L. . . The team won four out of ten games played but scored 99 points to their opponents' 90 . . The team was a fighting one and will be remembered for their hard playing . . Important games and the scores, with Chico's first, are: Susanville J. C., 0-6; Marysville, 0-6; Red Bluff, 0-13; Oroville, 25-6; and Redding, 13-6 . . Not champions but fighters anyway.

TENNIS: This year more interest has been shown in this sport than in quite some time . . The chances for a tennis championship look dim in the singles, but Chico's doubles combination stands out as the best in many, many years.

TRACK: The unlimited track team was the best in the N. C. H. S. A. L. and won the finals at Gridley by 16 points . . They also won all of their meets except with the Chico State Frosh which was lost 54-50 . . The limited team did not fare so well and although they were barely nosed out in the semi-final they took a poor third in the finals.

BASKETBALL: For a first year sport this was a sport whose teams should be justly proud. . The team had a very good record of 18 straight wins before they were defeated . . Some scores, with Chico first, were: Marysville, 21-27; Colusa, 26-9; Yuba City, 12-25; Chico State Frosh, 30-25; Redding, 36-26 . . The "B" team did not have as good a record as the "A" team but they played some very good games . . The "C's" and "D's" were about the best teams of the lot and the "D's" lost the championship by only one game . . Ralph Hensley was the coach.

BASEBALL: The team had the good fortune of being the best in many years and when this book went to press the Panthers were tied for the championship with Yuba City . . This makes it impossible for the Panthers to be lower than second . . The game scores were, with Chico first: Durham, 13-1; Sacramento, 2-6; Oroville, 10-1 and 16-3; Marysville, 12-1 and 5-1; Yuba City, 5-6 . . The team was coached by Jerry Colma.

Not champs, but fighters ... the pigskin parade

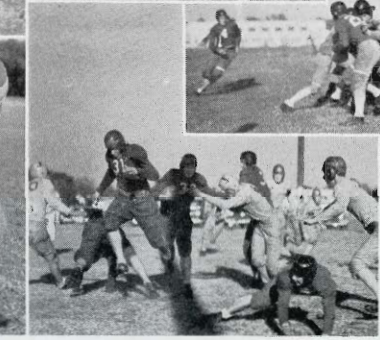

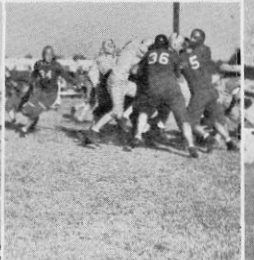

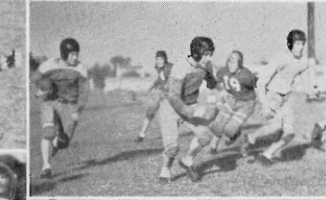

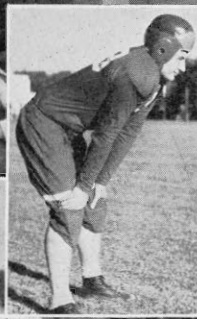

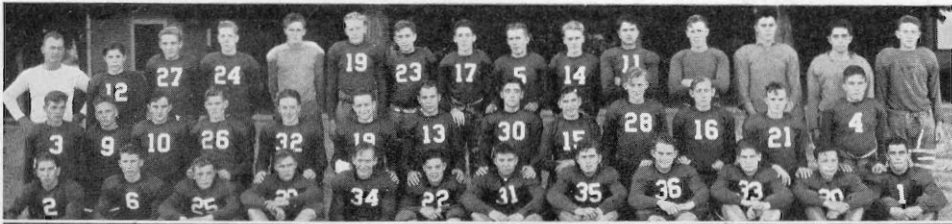

1937 Panther Varsity included—Ends: Captain Wadlington, one of the best in the conference; Pentico, the best prospect in years; Holmgren, one to be heard from. Tackles: Lewis, one of the seven veterans; Yalow, only a sophomore but hard to move; Anderson, another hard hitter. Guards: Captain-elect Sitton, a good leader and a fighter; Hennigan, plenty fast; Conley, little but mighty; Rist, one of the best. Centers: Palmiter, as good as you find; Roth, a good pivot man . . . Junior backfield: Flores, "little snake hips"; Pennick, a line-backer supreme; Bevins, a real All-Conference man; Cramer, not a talker, but a player . . . Senior backfield: Moore, a steady quarterback; Morehead, a good passer; Arens, good thing in big package; Rushton, the triple threat . . . In the top three pictures the Second "A" is playing Durham . . . The others are the "A" beating Yuba City, 20 to 0, and the lower right is Chico warping Oroville 26 to 0 . . . Reading clockwise, outer pictures are: Bevins, Yalow, E. Sitton, Pennick, Lewis, Rushton, Conley, and Moore . . .

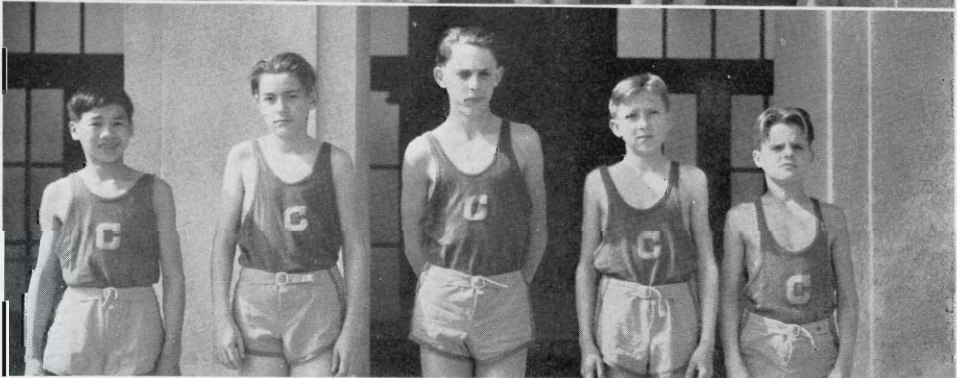

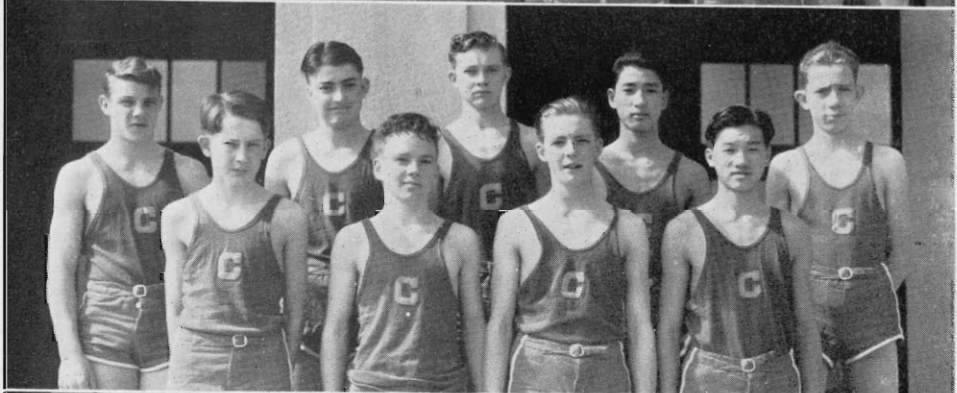

The second varsity battled its way to second place in Sub-League 2, being defeated only by Willows 19 to 6 . . . The team was built around Alan Carmack, center, flanked by C. Caywood and L. Shinn, guards; B. Kemp and C. Geise, tackles; Ray Morrison and J. Thompson, ends . . . A. Porter, K. Favilla, E. Conway, and W. Sitton alternated with the line posts . . . The fiery backfield was composed of E. Smith, quarterback; V. Bartram, fullback; H. Cramer and S. Stringfellow, halfbacks . . . Ray Orner, C. Brown, J. Romero, and H. Wertz alternated in the backfield.

A new gym, and Panthers whoop it up!

For the first time in many years Chico high school had a basketball team . . . They not only had an "A" team, but also a "B," "C," and "D" . . . These teams, whose players were for the first time playing organized basketball, set a very good record considering it was the first year . . . Under the skillful coaching of Ralph Hensley, the "A" team won nineteen out of twenty-four games, annexing a third place in the N. C. H. S. A. L. . . . The team had some very good players and many proved their worth over and over . . . The guards were: F. Pfeiffer, R. Flores, H. Beebe, J. Fisher, A. Carmack, F. Flores, J. Romero; center, R. Morrison; forwards: "Whitey" Morrison and Ashley Guynn, "B" team player who was brought up to the "A" because of his steady playing . . . The record of the "A" team is not one to be overlooked as they played and won thirteen games before losing to Marysville, the champions of the league . . . All of the players on the "A" team earned their Block "C's" . . . This is something that very seldom happens in a first year team.

The "B" team, though not setting the record of the "A" team, played very good basketball and should be complimented on their efforts . . . Many of their games were lost by only a few points and in many cases proved to be exciting contests . . . The team was built around their ace center, Warwick . . . The "C" team made a fairly good showing in their first year of play and many of the players showed very good prospects of becoming stars of the "A" and "B" teams . . . This team had as its mainstays Tony Winn and George Strong . . . The "D" team, or the dwarfs, are the last in line of the high school's teams . . . They nearly won their league, losing only one league game during the season.

Trade-mark of valor . . . a Red and Gold "C"

As usual the Block "C" has had a year of many activities . . . When the new gym was completed they were given complete charge of the seating and of checking attendance . . . When voted on in the meeting it was turned over to Jack Lawrence and as his assistant Ray Orner . . . The arrangement was handled so well that the council gave special recognition to the work by allowing the Block "C" to come in with them in giving a dance on May 14 . . . As usual the Block "C" and the Home Economics had charge of candy and refreshments sold on the school grounds, the returns of which went towards paying for the injuries of the athletes . . . The bills were very high this year and other money than the returns from the candy sales was needed . . . As the state had passed a law making it just about impossible for the society to sponsor their annual Jazz Party, a new idea was carried out in the form of a Fall Roundup . . . This was similar to the Jazz Party but no boxing or wrestling were allowed . . . Some of the events on the card were: barrel tilting, stripping contests, and some free-for-alls . . . As they did not make enough money on this event some other means had to be found . . . Fortunately the state legislature passed a bill which would allow a Jazz Party . . . This was staged before a capacity house and the returns from it were well over $150 . . . The money received from this was sufficient to pay all doctor bills . . . As in past years the Block "C" sponsored a Panther Prowl Day which was held on May 14 . . . The afternoon was spent in finding the championship baseball team in the school, both boys and girls . . . The winning teams were each given a pennant as was the home room putting on the best stunt . . . That evening the Block "C" and the Student Body together put on a carnival dance . . . The officers for the society were . . . Fall president, Bob Wadlington; vice-president, Rushton; secretary, E. Smith; treasurer, Stringfellow; publications, McDowell . . . Spring president, Sitton; vice-president, Pennick; secretary, Kemp; treasurer, Geise; publications, Hennigan.

A Cinderpath saga barriers for harriers

The unlimited track team had a very successful season this year and did not lose a single meet . . . The sprints this year were taken care of by Jim Lee, last year's frosh star, who broke the Orland track record in the 220 with the time of 22.6 and won the N. C. H. S. A. L. finals in 22.3 . . . With King, Thompson, and Pfeiffer in the high hurdles that event was taken care of very well . . . The low hurdles had Woodmansee and Bille . . . Captain Hamilton Dickey consistently took first place in the pole vault throughout the season and also won the N. C. H. S. A. L. finals with a vault of 11 feet 6 inches . . . Other pole vaulters were Palmiter and Englebretsen . . . Tony Aguiar, last year's limited captain, unofficially broke the mile record once, and at the finals broke it again but was nosed out by Hammack of Yreka . . . Tony's time was 4:31 . . . The Flores brothers, Frank and Ralph, were Coach Tommy Costar's 880 men . . . Arlie Bedford, a new Chico man, ran the mile and took fourth at the finals . . . Other members of the championship team were: Carmack, 440;

Voudouris, Wilson, Cramer, football throw: Mullins, Pfeiffer, and Pennick, broad jump: Morrison, Logan, and King, high jump: Sitton, Hoffman, shot put: and Drobney, Summers, Lee, Pfeiffer, Williams, and Mullins, relay . . . The limited team included: Pollack, Smith, 220; Kinoshita, Meinberg, Fish, and Berger, hurdles; Bellwood, Dooley, and Lewis, 660; Scott and Albright, 1320; Daniels, pole vault; Daniels and Eaton, high jump; Farmer and Eaton, shot; Eaton, Farmer, and Staffelback, football throw; Dixon and Eaton, broad jump . . . In the top right-hand picture, King, unlimited high jumper, is clearing the bar . . . The center-left is Palmiter pole vaulting, and center is King, Pfeiffer, and Thompson . . . The sprinters get a good start while Dickey clears the bar.

Every Panther has his inning ... Tennis balls a-court go spinning

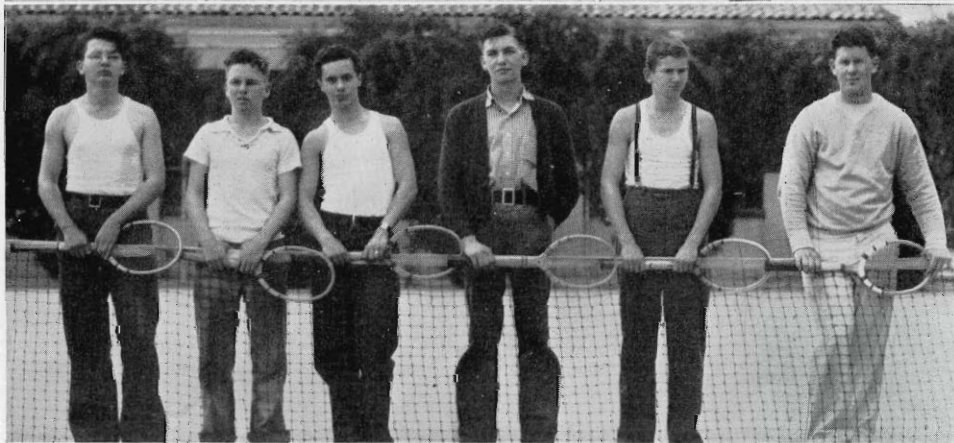

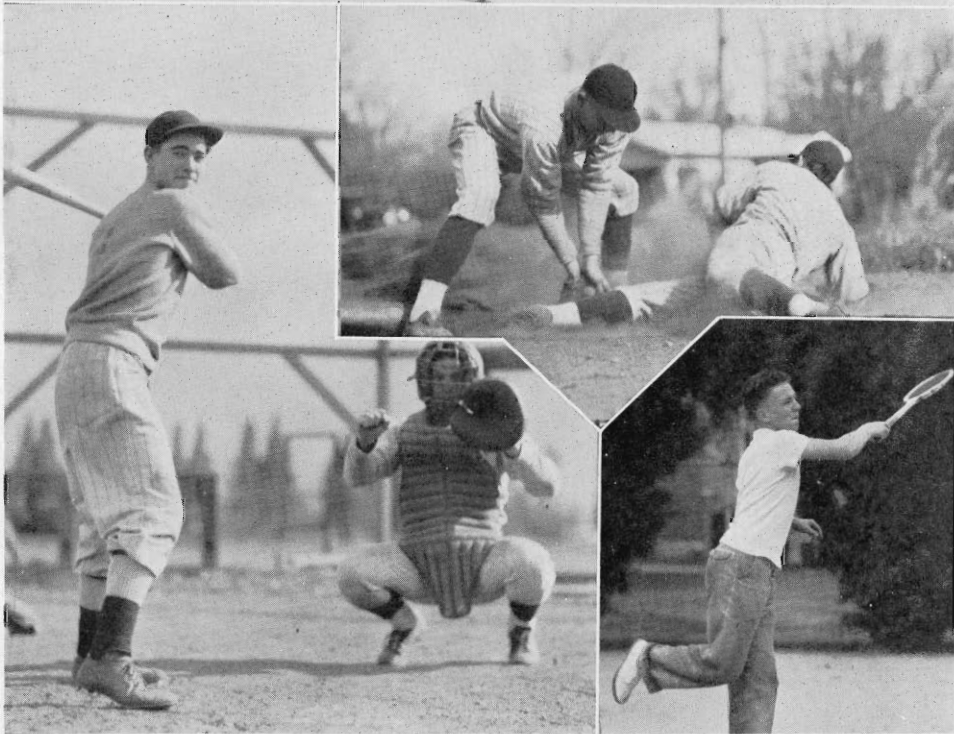

It is impossible to record in these pages whether the Panthers will be champs, for as the book goes to press they are tied for first place with Yuba City and the last game will decide the N. C. H. S. A. L. champions . . . This year's baseball team: Jack "Lefty" Lawrence, captain of the team, was the best pitcher in the league . . . By striking out 10 to 16 players in every game, he was the mainstay of the team . . . Harold Pentico, co-captain, in calling the signals cleverly made himself tops . . . "Whitey" Morrison was the outstanding first baseman of the league . . . He also hit very well . . . Leroy Meyers, second baseman, worked and got more walks than any other player on the team . . . "Red" Morrison held down the hot spot, but turned to track in the latter part of the season . . . His place was taken by Carrol Sisk . . . Jack Shaver had a good year as short-stop, and his good playing helped many a win . . . Norman Brooke was easily the best center-fielder in the league as well as a heavy hitter . . . Eugene Edgar played right field and was a very steady player . . . Ray Orner held down left field and was about as good as they come . . . The subs were: Norman O'Neill, Bob Aldridge, and Warren Kitchen.

The 1937 tennis team began poorly, but ended with a strong doubles team of Harold Beebe and Bob Rawlins . . . Vern Bartram and William Chiapella played to determine the first singles position with Chiapella coming out on top . . . The other members of the team were, in order of ability: Dick Rawlins, Dick Gerhardt, Bob Setzfant, and Manager John McDonough, who also played in some of the matches . . . Because tennis is a late spring sport no league matches had been played when this went to press . . . In the center picture Norman Brooke is batting while co-Captain Pentico is behind the plate . . . Captain Lawrence is putting Ray Orner out when he tries to slide into first . . . "Butch" Bartram is seen driving a hot one.

Chico's co-eds . . . sound bodies for sound minds

Interest in girls' athletics has increased greatly in this last year, not only in after-school sports but also in regular Physical Education classes . . . The modern girls are gradually growing away from the old idea that play is unladylike and harmful. Today in the Physical Education classes, the girls are getting lessons in sportsmanship and good citizenship, and are learning and acquiring interests that will carry over into their later life and serve as a leisure time activity . . . The four major sports offered in the girls' Physical Education program are hockey, speedball, basketball and baseball . . . Tennis, quoit-tennis, volleyball, archery, and badminton are considered lighter or minor sports . . . The pictures on the opposite page show the different activities in which the girls participate . . . Mary Youngs is the girl playing tennis and Mary Tkach is the baseball batter . . . The others are group pictures of basketball, speedball, quoit-tennis, hockey and baseball . . . The Girls' Athletic Association is an organization of 174 girls who have earned 100 points in after-school sports . . . Each girl however, must keep up her points or she is dropped from active membership . . . Also she must pass a test on the G. A. A. constitution . . . These are the only requirements for membership . . . Of the 174 members of the G. A. A., 59 are freshmen; 49 are sophomores; 47 are juniors; and only 19 seniors . . . The freshman class turnout this year was one of the largest in the history of the school . . . Points are given for completing a sports season and for hiking, bicycle riding, and horseback riding . . . At 300 points, the girls are awarded club emblems, and at 650 they are presented red and gold G. A. A. pins and guards . . . The highest award is the block "C" which a girl receives when she has earned 1,000 points . . . There are a large number of girls who have their emblems and pins, but only 13 girls have block "C's" . . . Those who have their block "C's" are: L. Meinberg, K. Jones, M. Berry, D. Acker, R. Gray, J. Landrum, W. Miyasako, H. Eejima, P. Snow, J. Douglas, L. Pentico, and E. Hoyt.

Basketballers ... volleyballers ... Wilhelmina Jells!

The Girls' Athletic Council is made up of the officers of the Girls' Athletic Association and the sports manager . . . These girls meet every other week to decide on issues and make plans for the G. A. A. . . they are hard workers and all are interested in athletics and its development in Chico high . . . Members of the G. A. C. are: Dorothy Acker, president; Jean Douglas, vice-president; Isabelle Meinberg, secretary; Jean Acker, point recorder; Marjorie Berry, Albatross leader; Iona Rollins, Diana leader; Jane Strachan, noon sports manager; Jean Young, hockey manager; Wakayo Miyasako, speedball manager; Jean Douglas, badminton manager; Elsie Hoyt, basketball manager; Hana Eejima, volleyball manager; Matilda Kass, tennis manager; Phyllis Snow, softball manager; Ruth Gray, hardball manager; and Arlin Hartt, archery manager . . . There are four clubs: Albatrosses, Dianas, Eagles, and Yellowjackets . . . The first two go out for after-school sports, while the other two participate in noon sports . . . There are four sports seasons in which a heavy and a light sport are offered . . . The first quarter hockey and archery were the sports offered . . . Then came speedball and badminton, followed by basketball and volleyball . . . The Dianas, winning a majority of these sports, will have their club's name and the year engraved on the G. A. A. cup, which for the last four years belonged to the Albatross club . . . This year interest in inter-class competition was very strong, despite the fact it is a fairly new innovation . . . Tournaments were carried on in each Physical Education class, the winners of which competed to determine the champions of all classes . . . Sixth period archers were victorious, while the fourth period class won the tenniquoit . . . Interclass basketball champions were the fourth period class, and hockey and volleyball went to the third and fourth periods respectively . . . Pictured on the opposite page are these interclass champions, the basketball turnout, Diana hockey winners, victorious Albatrosses, badminton artist, volleyball turnout, Diana speedball players, and the Diana archery team.

Something to kick about . . .

Dianas and Albatrosses

Jean Douglas is quite an artist at the game of badminton . . . Just look at the way she smacks that bird . . . These archers, Janet Costar, June Neyses, Nellie Litinsky, and Vivian Leroy, have very intent looks in their eyes . . . Will they or won't they hit the target? . . . Mary Tkach has just socked a ball way out in left field . . . pity the poor fielder . . . Wilma Penner and Jacqueline Oser are real basketball enthusiasts . . . Wilma seems to be tickled about something, doesn't she? . . . Maybe she thinks she can keep that ball away from Jackie . . . See how gracefully Marietta Woods hit the volleyball . . . where it went can't be seen, but from the look on Catherine McCarthy's face, it must be coming right down on her . . . Marietta hasn't three arms, that's someone behind her . . . Mary Youngs, our prize tennis enthusiast, plays so much she wouldn't be herself without a tennis racket . . . That looks like it is going to be a honey of a serve . . . Eleanor Rehse has slightly missed the ball in this picture, and if she doesn't duck pretty quick she's going to get hit right on the head . . . Watch where you're throwing there, pitcher . . . Be careful, Anna . . . Evelyn Heidinger is doing her best to tackle you . . . You can certainly tell this is a demonstration, not a regular class . . . for if it were, they would all be bunched together socking shins and knocking each other down regardless of Miss Bornefeld's instructions . . . Here we have Iona Rollins, speedball player, punting the ball out of danger . . . From the looks of this picture that ball is going a long way, too . . . This seems to be an exciting game of tenni-quoit over at the left . . . Rayna Tochterman seems to be all on edge and urging her partner on . . . You're out! . . . Helen Parrish didn't slide quite far enough . . . Even the worst umpire could see that . . . Notice how gracefully and skillfully Jean Young reached out and caught the ball . . . That's real baseball . . . It looks like that ball is going to slide off the mitt, though, Jean . . . you'd better watch out . . . These pictures snapped at odd moments during the day will give an idea of how the Chico high co-eds look at play.

Some inside dope on the Private lives of the great

This year the assembly committee put over several new and novel ideas in assembly programs . . . One of the most prominent of these was the exchange programs with Orland, Red Bluff, and Chico State . . . Although the public address system didn't always function as it should have, and the bleachers dumped a row of students on the floor one morning, we all enjoyed being able to get together in one place . . . Look at the satisfied smile on the committees' faces . . . they know that they've done a good job . . . The main worry of the Junior Class was raising money to put on the Senior Farewell . . . This was done by giving two dances, one on the day of the Music Festival and the other at another time during the year . . . The Senior Class has had a very busy year . . . Besides graduation and baccalaureate, there was the Senior Play to raise money for the senior gift, and a Senior Day with all its gaiety . . . The Senior Pilgrimage, the last inspection of the school by the graduates, proved to be a grand success . . . The Girls' Athletic Council has kept the after-school and noon sports one of the main interests of many girls in school by sponsoring contests between the Dianas and Albatrosses in hockey, baseball, tennis, badminton, speedball, and basketball . . . An unusually successful year was had by the Girls' Student League . . . They presented several interesting programs, and the Hi-Jinks was one of the best in many years . . . Baskets of food delivered on Thanksgiving by members of the Student League made many homes glad during that season . . . Down at the bottom of the page we have Madeline Swanson, Eldon Richert, commissioner of finance, and Mr. Van Matre counting out more money.

Third Picture: Conklin, Roth, Chamberlin, Moore, Rusconi, Morehead.

Candid camera catches Chico classrooms

"Good Deeds" Lauterio is putting the finishing touches to Madeline's blouse . . . That three-way mirror just triples the act . . . The skirt must be what is hanging over Betty Jane's arm . . . You can't see Mrs. Walker, but it's a sure thing that she is watching the whole proceedings with an eagle eye to be sure it's done right . . . Miss Currie's car in the process of being overhauled by Mr. Dahlman's grease-monkeys . . . It seems that Ray Yount is showing (?) where to put that extra bolt . . . Don't worry, they got the engine put back together again with nary a screw out of place . . . Well, well, well, look at Cora on the opposite side of the desk for a change . . . Miss Earll with her friendly smile has cheered up many a freshman vainly looking for a certain book . . . While many an unsuspecting person has received from her that well known summons "Please report to the library at your earliest convenience," reminding them that they have a fine to pay on that dull old history book they had forgotten about . . . The third period art class working diligently . . . Well, anyway, a few of them are . . . Maybe they're makin' pretty pictures for the All-Schools Exhibit . . . The Annie Oakley's . . . our mistake . . . I mean Bill Cody's of the Rifle club peppering the bull's-eye . . . Keep out of the way, you might be next . . . Those are vicious looking guns they have . . . Thank goodness their bullets are blanks, or a few of these feuds around school might end tragically . . . Here are those journalistic geniuses . . . the fall Red and Gold staff . . . All eleven are glad that the week's paper is out . . . Look at Ashley Guynn, admiring his own gossip column again . . . Jane Sweeney seems to be interested in it too . . . Ernest King and Lorna Wheeler, look unduly serious . . . probably worrying about next week's paper already . . . Miles acts like he is working, but he can't fool us . . . Florence looks industrious also . . . Peace and quiet reign in the library . . . when the librarian is at her desk . . . Ah, but are they really studying? . . . Too many people try to pose, and it's such a lovely day outside . . . Anyway, it makes a nice picture.

The struggles of school life ... and the noonday dance ...

We'll start with the lower left hand corner where we find the usual crowd of hang-arounders at the Block "C" booth during the noon hour . . . There is "Buzzy" Walker looking rather hungry . . . Why don't you match pennies with James Shelton in back of you? . . . Maybe you could win enough to buy yourself a nickel brick or candy bar . . . Next we have Mr. Danels doing his daily dozen about the school . . . Ah for the life of a janitor who can go to school, but never has any homework to do . . . While they make sweet music Jimmy Smathers and Albert Summers gaze longingly at lunchers' trays in the cafeteria . . . Can you blame them? . . . Wonder what they're playing . . . Probably Organ Grinders Swing, or something like that . . . It looks like Georgia Lowry has fallen down again, or maybe gotten hit by some of those swinging hockey sticks . . . She'd better watch out next time . . . Anyhow it gives Dora a chance to try out her first aid technique . . . Miss Bornefeld holds the bottle of arnica, and watches to be sure Dora gets one of those tricky knee bandages on right . . . Our very dignified faculty are caught at last eating . . . Mrs. Madsen's cheery grin shows that she isn't worrying about how it tastes . . . But what's wrong with the men over there . . . have the women got them cornered? . . . It certainly looks that way . . . Beginning of biology period usually finds Doc Heller lecturing in his usual place by the window . . . Several members of our faculty seem to find this a very comfortable place . . . From the smile on his face we would guess that some student has finally gotten the correct answer . . . or maybe he has just cracked a joke . . . Here we see embryo Fred Astaires and Ginger Rogers crowding the floor of the Little Theater to dance the short noon hour away . . . That is Gail Moore and his Troubadors giving out hot rhythms for the dancers in the background . . . In the little snap down in the right hand corner are "Maddy" Madsen and Tommy Costar . . . They're leaning on "Maddy's" beloved airplane in which he flies through the air with the greatest of ease.

With which photos we say "thirty" for thirty-seven!

Starting way down in the lower left-hand corner of the opposite page we have the long and the short of our school . . . None other than tall Ben Hansen and that little Buzzy Walker . . . Mrs. Crouch takes a moment off from a busy day to talk to Ann at the typewriter . . . Wonder who she's looking up in that file . . . Eva Hann looks rather sick . . . maybe she'll be her usual talkative self after she downs some of Mrs. Madsen's good cooking . . . How's about handing out some of those candy bars on the table there . . . Put a little more "oomph" into it, says Reid Staffelback as the stars of "The Rise of Teddy Norton" do one of their big scenes before the camera . . . Over here at the right we find a trio of Future Farmers erecting the barn door entrance, which made it more home-like, to their dance . . . They'd better watch out that it doesn't tumble over . . . Part of the practical citizenship class hard at work digging postholes on the football field . . . Is this a mistake, or does it really take five of them to dig one hole? . . . Somehow they look stronger than that . . .

Miss Shields urging the cast of "The Bishop Misbehaves" on to greater efforts . . . can't you just hear her? . . . The little white bow on her blouse sure looks like it tickles her chin . . . In case you haven't already guessed, that's the piano in the Little Theater she is sitting on . . . Well, well, if it isn't Dottie and Ruthie, our vivacious little yell leaders . . . Nice little bunches of flowers they're wearing on their red and gold sweaters . . . Lucky people if they don't get hay-fever . . . In the circle three worthy and illustrious members of this year's Caduceus staff . . . The editor, assistant editor and sports editor; all looking at the dummy of this book . . . No, it hasn't anything to do with being dumb . . . It's just a plan or outline . . . Isn't John Morehead's little curl in the middle of his forehead cute though . . . According to that old nursery rhyme, is he being very, very good, or horrid? . . . The front steps are a very popular place . . . Recognize that profile on them now? . . . It's none other than Jane "Stevie" Sweeney . . . Do you know who her latest catch is?
