Treasurer.....	James Caufield

The Class of January, 1931, although quite small in numbers, claims to be as loyal as any class in the school. A goodly number have fallen by the wayside. Nevertheless, a fine class that has contributed much to the progress and success of the school remains.

The low seniors have faithfully worked to promote good fellowship, to learn parliamentary procedure, and to cooperate with the student body.

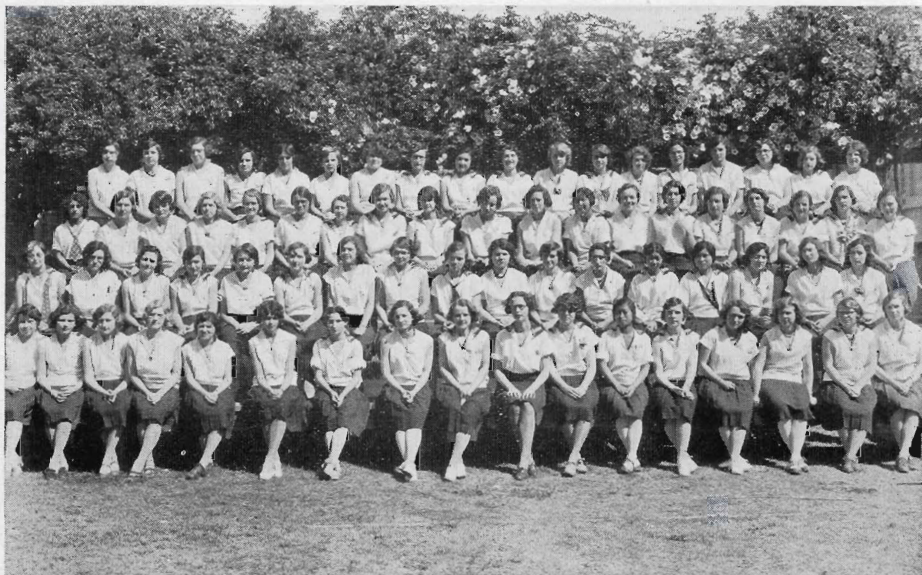

The class has been well represented in all branches of activities. Many of the members have won honors in athletics; many, in band, orchestra, and chorus; and likewise goodly numbers have done their best to make the affairs of the various scholastic clubs and student body successful.

The class party, a most enjoyable affair, was held on May 17. In it culminated a year of progress, during which much was accomplished.

The Class of '31" has made great progress in social and athletic activities, as well as in striving for honors for this school.

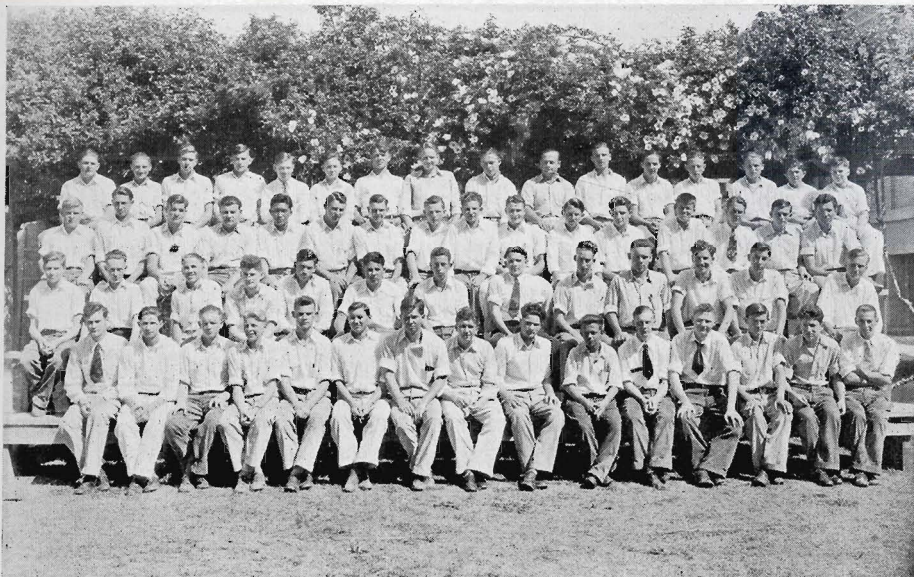

Howard Anderson, William Pirie, and Carl Binger won the national championship in milk judging at St. Louis.

The class has many representatives in the following clubs: Hi-Y, Chemistry, Band and Orchestra, and Agriculture clubs.

Both boys and girls have taken an active part in dramatics.

Numerous students among the juniors have won block and circle letters. Leon Mettler has been chosen captain for next year's football squad.

For the first time in many years, the juniors gave the graduating class a banquet. On May thirty-first, members of the two classes and the faculty enjoyed this, their last social function together.

The Class of "32" has just completed the first two laps of the Lodi Union High School course. This large class found the going somewhat easier this year than last, since it has become more accustomed to the ways of once new surroundings. However, the road has not been too easy. New trials and experiences have been encountered and sometimes hard won rewards have been the result. At the end of two years the will of this class to achieve greater things has become thoroughly aroused.

Several members of the class have achieved a high goal in sportsmanship, scholarship and also in plain ordinary (but very honorable) good citizenship, which after all is really one of the greatest lessons school associations can teach.

Those who have achieved high goals this year will aim higher for the next, just as those who have not successfully achieved their ambitions will get a new goal and strive still harder next year to win.

ELSIE KLIPFEL.

The doors of the high school were open wide for the freshmen to enter on September 11, 1929, and it was here the freshmen began their first real work. The members of the class have done their part in school activities and have tried to be good sports on all occasions. They have played on the athletic teams, in the band, and in the orchestra.

In the years to follow we hope to accomplish more and bigger tasks.

—LOIS EMDE.
