

Jokes

Harvey Jackson: "I'll bet that guy's name is Franklin."
"Pee Wee" Graham: "How come?"
Harvey: "Well, he has air-cooled teeth."

Mr. Crose, in mechanical drawing: "Don't get your eyes so close to the paper and you won't get a headache."

Marshall Combs: "I have a headache, Mr. Crose."
Mr. Crose: "I'll bet I can tell how you got it."
Marshall: "Never mind."

Leona McLachlan: "I like you."
George Gannon: "I like you, too."
Leona: "What do you think I am, the Siamese twins?"

Warren Coe: "I think that dress is a perfect fit."
Lois Emde: "My dad had a perfect fit, when he saw the bill, too."

Jack Parkison: "I only missed two questions in that last test."
D. Woodson: "Not bad at all."
Jack: "Oh, I don't know. We only had two questions."

Bright Freshman: "I sure like to hear an Englishman talk."
Miss Pilkington: "I do too, even if he don't say a word."

History student: "A captain, by the name of General Jones, ordered a retreat."

Mr. Hoffman: (drawing cornstalk on the board) "Now what do you see here?"

Lloyd Moore: "Hoover jumping the hurdles."

Big Hold Up—

Some of the seniors are wearing suspenders.

Mr. Windsor, (showing cross section of a piston): "Theoretically, what's wrong with this?"

Hubert Frey: "One side is missing."

Butcher: "Do you want round steak, madam?"
Evelyn Roseberry: "Never mind the shape. Is it tender?"

Alvine Tecklenberg: "Tell me, my good man, have any big men been born in this town?"

Native: "No, only babies."

Mr. Vert: "This is going to hurt me worse than you, my son."
 John Vert: "Then don't be too severe with yourself, dad."

Ward Smith: "Say, Bailey, what's an operetta?"
 Bill: "Don't be foolish. It's a girl, who works for the telephone company."

Patriotic

Our father slipped upon the ice
 Because he couldn't stand;
 He saw the glorious stars and stripes,
 We saw our father land.—Ex.

The Way of a Maid with a Man

M. Combs: "Would you accept a pet monkey?"
 Lois Ham: "Oh, this is so sudden. I will have to ask father."

I know a girl
 Who paints
 And she certainly
 Can draw
 Men.

Office Boy: "You told me to file these letters, sir."
 Big Boss: "Well!"
 Office Boy: "Oh, nothing, except I thought it would be easier to trim them with a pair of scissors."—Ex.

George Gannon: "What did she say when you turned the light out and kissed her?"
 Ted Cottel: "She said she felt as if she never wanted to see my face again."

And then someone piped up and said, "Why is it that the freight on a CAR is called a SHIPment and the freight on a SHIP is known as a CARgo."
 —Ex.

Frosh: "Say, what kind of ears do locomotives have?"
 Freshman: "Engineers, stupid."—Ex.

Mr. Borst: "Don't you remember way back in 1880 when sugar was about half white sand?"
 Naomi Matheny: "No, I don't recall the incident at present."

Jack Schmidt: "Gosh, it seems like I am dancing on rocks."
 Esther Clifton: "How dare you! You're standing on my feet."

Teacher: "I don't understand why pupils can't come to school with a headache. Why I've gone to school when I had such a bad headache that I couldn't see."

Emil Mettler: "How did you find your way?"

Lindsey Marshall: "I sure made a dollar slick today."

Pete Marshall: "How?"

Lindsey: "Greased it."

Did you ever see a land slide?
Did you ever see a fire escape?
Did you ever see a cowslip?
Did you ever see a horse hide?
Did you ever see a pen point?
Did you ever hear a train whistle?

Freshman: "There's a better looking guy than you in town."

Ted Cottel: "You'll have to show me."

Jim Conklin: "Of course someone will have to make a dummy for the top of the bonfire."

Bert Allen: "That's not necessary."

Jim: "Why not?"

Bert: "We can just use Gannon."

Miss Rinn: "How do you say milk in Spanish?"

Will Troutner: "Make it wine or water. I don't like milk."

Customer: "Do you sell milk here?"

Vic Wittmier: "No, but we have very good bluing."

Ray Walters: "Why is victory always represented as a woman? I should think—"

Mr. Halsey: "Wait until you get married. You'll find out."

Albert Bonora: "Say, Gerald, where did you get that big 'L'? I want to buy one."

Isabel Post (cooly): "Can you drive with one hand?"

Knox Marshall: "You bet I can."

Isabel: "Well, here's an apple to eat."

Pome

A bit of green,
A vacant look,
Two dangling arms,
And an English book.
Here comes a "Freshie."—Ex.

Miss Van Hollebeke: "He was not alone in his thoughts."

Clyde Moore: "Listen, you can't make a monkey out of me."
Edna Moore: "I know it, you big ape."

Billy Crete: "Who wrote Stevenson's 'Treasure Island'?"
Ernest Filler: "I think Kipling wrote it."

New Books in Our Library

"Freckles" by Louie Vallem.
"The Clarinet and What It Has Done for Me" by Irwin Waters.
"Bobbed Hair and Its Defects" by Marie Lutz.
"Laugh and Grow Fat" by Leopold Heindl.
"The Taming of the Shrew" by Gerald Strobridge.

Roy Glick: "And have you any brothers?"
Frank Heffley: "Yes, two living and one married."

Herschel Burson: "I'm getting good in swimming. Only yesterday I came in third in a swimming race."
Roy Hoover: "How many were there in the race?"
Herschel: "Three."

Mr. Reese (in geometry): "Now what is X?"
"Sis" Granlees: "Twenty-fourth letter of the alphabet."

Robert Alexander: "I suppose you're a gold digger."
She: "No, I'm a coal digger."
Bob: "What's that?"
She: "I strike, when I'm displeased."

Quadramotive

The balky mule has four-wheel brakes;
The billy-goat has bumpers.
The fire fly is a bright spotlight
And rabbits are puddle-jumpers.
Camels have baloon-tired feet
And carry spares of things to eat.
But still I think that nothing beats
Kangaroos with rumble seats.—Ex.

Hen: "Say, child, what were you doing in the water?"
Chick, (sob, sob): "Those ducks were showing me how to play pool."
—Ex.

Teacher: "Leon, will you use the word 'disarmament' in a sentence?"
"Flash" Mettler: "Dis arm meant a lot to me in the Lodi-Stockton football game."

Teacher: "Is it too dark in this room?"

Leona McLachlan: "That's all right, I'm used to the dark."

"Toots" Campbell: "How are we going to get this phonograph downstairs without help?"

Robinette Fisher: "We can wind it up and let it run down."

Photographer: "How do you want your picture taken?"

Helen Schaffner: "With a camera, of course."

Mr. Murphy: "When was the war of 1812 fought?"

Leon Mettler: "1492."

Professor: "What do we mean by 'college bred'?"

Student: "I don't know, but it must be made from the flower of youth and the dough of old age."—Ex.

Heard in a Speech

John Watson: "And like all other great men, I think this is a very good plan."

Pome by a Stockton Girl

The FLAMES went to STOCKTON,

To show the TARZANS tricks

And they won by a score

Of SEVEN to NIX.

She: "I fainted in San Francisco."

He: "What part of San Francisco?"

She: "Market street, but I had to walk four blocks, before I could find a place to fall down."

Mr. Borst: "What kind of people live in Haiti?"

Edna Moore: "Negroes."

Mr. Borst: "What kind of negroes?"

Edna: "Black ones."

"Have you heard the one about the Scotchman, who waited, with a piece of bread in his hand, for three days for the traffic jam?"

John Vert: "I asked a grocer how many bananas grew on one bunch, and he thought I was crazy."

Teacher: "Only those, who were quick on the draw could live, if we didn't have policemen."

Alvine Tecklenburg: "I can draw pictures fast."

Teacher: "Americans average a car and a half per family."

Ray Walters: "That's right. I own a half a car."

M. Declusin: "Can I sing this song?"
 Ray Thompson: "I don't know. Can you?"

Just Try It

Gurdon Leete (reading): "And so, when the king arrived, the prince and his wife galloped away on the castle wall!"

Herschel Burson: "There was money all over the floor! Big money, too!"
 Charles Moore: "That's right. Three pennies and a washer rolled by me."

Desires of Ambitious Freshmen

- To walk down the hall with "Biff" Strobbridge.
- To be a shiek like Warren Coe.
- To sing like Leon Mettler.
- To make wise cracks like Howard Bailey.
- To get all A's like Margaret Allington.
- To have an intelligent look like "Husky" Leete.
- To be a student-body president like Marion Lasell.
- To have a personality like Robinette Fisher.
- To look like Marie Bacigalupi.
- To live in Victor.
- To read the teacher's mind during a test.
- To be an intelligent senior.

Esther Clifton (translating Latin): "Caesar was murdered. He regretted this greatly."

Cecil Mumbert: "I can't find a baseball bat."
 Jim Conklin: "Use your head."

Cop: "I won't arrest you 'til Saturday night."
 Earl Hoff: "Why not?"
 Cop: "I want you to come clean."

"Biff" Strobbridge: "I'm a mind reader?"
 Viola Koenig: "Can you read my mind?"
 "Biff": "No, I left my magnifying glass at home."

Knox Marshal: "I have the fastest car going."
 Winifred Wilkinson: "Yes, but it is slow coming back."

Bald headed man: "I'll have a hair cut."
 Barber: "Which one?"

Ward Smith (our latest Scotchman) is going to quit school, because he has to pay attention.

Marian Newfield: "Are you afraid of dogs?"
 Marjorie Declusin: "Not the leashed."

On Board

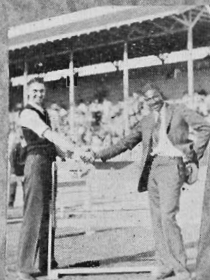

The Four Horsemen Plus One

Ready to Go

Soak

The Best Man etc

Elton

Syncopation

Use Sta com b, Carl

St. Louis Champions

Studious

Parked

Oswald

Our Bonfire

Reporter

Who's On Top ?

Such is Life

Cop: "Do you act quickly in a traffic jam?"
Motorist: "No, my wife stutters."—Ex.

First robber: "I'm leary of this business."
Second robber: "I'm Murphy."—Ex.

Sophomore: "I suppose my room-mate is studying as usual."
Freshman: "Yep."
Sophomore: "Then wake him up for me."

Miss Davis: "Have you read 'The Three Musketeers'?"
Merle Walker: "I don't like books about insects."

Evelyn Epperson: "What is a good Spanish wise crack?"
"Toots" Campbell: "Don't take any wooden pesos."

Hugh McKenzie: "I wonder how that freshman got so dizzy?"
Roland Kessel: "He ate a doughnut, while riding on a merry-go-round."

"Bud" Smith: "I went to Mexico last summer."
Alice Sharp: "Were you ever disturbed by a revolution?"
"Bud": "No, I'm a sound sleeper."

She: "Do you like to travel by boat or train?"
He: "By boat. Especially when I go to Europe."—Ex.

"Gil" Engel: "I found out how to keep grape-fruit from squirting in my eyes."

Esther Wencel: "How do you do it?"
"Gill": "Eat peaches."

He: "Say, that nickle has heads on both sides."
'Nother He: "Well, two heads are better than one."

The business manager wishes to take this means of expressing his appreciation and that of the entire Tokay staff to those merchants and organizations which have so heartily co-operated in making this yearbook a success.

WARD SMITH,
Business Manager.

