Poet Pete: "Burglars broke into my house last night."
Friend: "Yes? What happened?"
Poet Pete: "They searched through every room, then left five dollars on my bureau."
—Pathfinder.

Gatzert: "Our laundryman has the wisdom of Solomon. When he can't decide to whom a certain shirt belongs he splits it in half."

Osky: "Too bad that guy there with the bushy hair hasn't a wooden leg."
Mettler: "Why for?"
Osky: "We could use him for a mop."

Miss McDole in 8A English: "How do you like O. Henry?"
Bertie Smith: "I don't like it—the peanuts get in my teeth."

Absent-minded professor's wife: "Wait, John. Are you sure you've forgotten everything?"
—Ex.

Aimee Solomen: "I play by ear."
Peewee: "You must have frequent earaches."

Lloyd Phipps (to Francis Stewart): "Your hands are dirty—better play on the black keys."

Josephine Gannon's mama (with newspaper): "It says here that cooks are often decorated in France."

Her papa: "I sometimes feel like crowning the one we have!"

HOT ONE, TOO

Miss Neverstop, seating herself between much-engrossed elderly men, exclaimed: "A rose between thorns."

"No," retorted one, "say rather a tongue sandwich."
—Ex.

Kathryn Graham, enthralled in a conversation with the school adventurer: "But couldn't you save your friend from the cannibals?"

Jack Mainland: "Nope. When I arrived he was already off the menu."

BREEZY

Pop Blewett: "Have you a good opening here for an unusually bright and energetic young man?"

Business Man: "Yes, I believe we have—and please close it softly as you leave!"

Ward Smith: "I wasn't going forty miles an hour, or thirty, or even twenty or—"

THE SECRET OF SUCCESS

"What is the secret of success?" asked the Sphinx.

"Push," said the button.

"Take pains," said the window.

"Always keep cool," said the ice.

"Be up-to-date," said the calendar.

"Never lose your head," said the barrel.

"Make light of everything," said the fire.

"Do a driving business," said the hammer.

"Aspire to greater things," said the nutmeg.

"Find a good thing and stick to it," said the glue.

—Clipped.

Leopold H.: "What time is it?"

Bill Crete: "Four o'clock."

Leapold: "It can't—I was supposed to be home by four, and I'm not home yet."

Fond mother: "Why are you sitting there when you ought to be in bed?"

Peter: "There's a mosquito in my room."

Mother: "It hasn't bitten you has it, darling?"

Peter: "No, but it came close enough for me to hear its propeller."

—P. G. & E. Progress.

The new Italian tennis champion is Gasoline. How do you suppose he ever survives a match?

"Your office is as hot as an oven," said a client to his lawyer.

"It ought to be. I make my bread here."

—Christian Science Monitor.

After the Lodi-Stockton game as the spectators were crowding out through the two small gates, one little fellow, impatient, began to climb over the fence.

"Hey!" shouted the gate-keeper, "can't you go out the way you came in?"

Walter: "That's what I'm doing."

The silk-manufacturer's theme song—"I Get The 'Blues' when it Ray-ons."

Paul McClure, during chemistry exam.: "Gee, it's hot in here."

Edwin: "It's not hot—you're just having a 'final'."

"What are these 'college lectures' you mention?" wrote the father.

"A college lecture," replied the son, "is an extended series of remarks-passing from the notebook of the professor to the notebook of the student without entering the thought of either."

Stanford senior to U. C. frosh: "So you're entering Cal.?"

Frosh: "Yep—and am I glad!"

Senior: "So's Stanford!"

Extensive research has found that the latest way to earn money is to "buy up" old cars, spray them with alum, and sell them for Austins.

Katherine Powers, reporting on the life of Pilsudski: "I have chosen this topic because the name appealed to me."

Mr. Borst: "It interests me, too. It always reminds me of Monday morning."

Neighbor: "What are you doing?"

Mrs. Smith: "Oh, I'm knitting. I heard Ward say the other day that his car needed a new muffler."

Judge: "Here, steady now, or you'll be backing into something!"

—California Grower.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Recently, some sixty distinguished guests were assembled in the reception room of the White House, awaiting the entrance of Mr. and Mrs. Hoover. Finally a door was opened and a functionary appeared, just as White House ceremony prescribes. He entered the room and stood stiffly at attention.

"The President of the United States," he announced, "and Mrs. Coolidge."

—TEN YEARS HENCE—

Donez (looking up from a magazine): "I've just read an article about electricity, Bill, and it says that before long we shall get everything we want by just touching a button."

Bill Bailey (sadly): "It won't do us any good."

Donez: "Why not, Bill?"

Bill: "Because nothing would even make you touch a button. Look at my shirt."

MAY YOU ALL HAVE A HAPPY AND SUCCESSFUL LIFE

IS THE WISH OF THE
LODI ROTARY CLUB

Definition of a dimple: A dimple is a lump turned inside out.

Dear old lady: "Captain, would you please help me find my state room?"

Captain: "Have you forgotten what number it is, madam?"

D. O. L.: "Yes, but I'll know it if I see it again; there was a light-house just outside the window."

—Puppet.

Fat lady: "If you were half a man, you'd help me onto this street car."

Passenger: "Madam, if you were half a lady, you wouldn't need any help."

—California Grower.

Landlady: "Why yes . . . I have a vacancy on my top floor."

—Ex.

Lloyd Phipps: "I say, what shall I do if they ask me to sing?"

Dora Lerza: "Why sing, of course. It'll be their own fault."

Frosh: "What's the time?"

Soph: "Half past."

Frosh: "Half past what?"

Soph: "I dunno, my watch hasn't any hour hand."

Miss Wassick: "Of what use is the stem to a plant?"

George W.: "To keep the roots and leaves apart."

"Pop": "What did you get on your last birthday?"

"Gatz": "A year older."

R. Bishofberger (in biology): ". . . and geotropism is that attraction of a plant to electricity."

Miss Wassick: "What are the legs of a butterfly used for?"

E. Wright: "Landing gear."

Girl: "Why don't you carry me across this mud puddle? All good beaux do."

Victim: "Heavens, girl . . . what do you think I am . . . a ferry boat."

Jim: "Are there any boys here who can carry a tune?"

Chorus of yeas.

Jim: "Fine! Carry this piano up to the cafeteria."

Mr. Borst: "Who is Morrow?"

"Pee Wee": "Lindberg's father-in-law."

Then there was the barber who spent his vacation shingling his house.

Senior: "What's yer name?"

Frosh: "G-G-G-George, sir."

Senior: "Fine, I'll call you George for short."

WHO

Teacher: "Use the word 'miscellaneous' in a sentence."

Pupil: "Miscellaneous the greatest man in Italy."

—Punch.

Lloyd Phipps: "Why is it all pretty girls like to look into my eyes?"

Dorothy Irely: "They like to see if their hair looks all right in your glasses."

The business manager and the entire staff of "The Tokay" wish to take this opportunity to thank all those who so generously contributed and helped to make this annual a success.

Ward Smith,
Business Manager.
