

SCHOOL LIFE

THE 1954-1955 SCHOOL YEAR WAS A VERY SUCCESSFUL ONE FOR THE Student Council

MANY VERY WORTH-WHILE ACTIVITIES WERE SPONSORED BY THIS GROUP

To start the year off with a bang, a fantastic total of 90% of the students bought student body cards. To keep the noise roaring, the football team fought its way to a championship, with the whole student body cheering them on. The roar turned to a grumble when the student council announced a forthcoming election on campus clean-up. Cries of "Down with the council" rang through the halls of old Lodi High. Everyone, except for a teeny-weeny minority who favored school pride, was happy, though, when the old system of clean-up was voted in. It was too bad the campus was never clean so we could have gotten out early.

With some of the most terrific song and yell leaders in Lodi High's history showing the way, we shouted and paraded ourselves to the Stockton-Lodi game Sportsmanship trophy. The townspeople of Lodi admitted that not even in their youth was there such spirit. They also took off their hats to us for keeping vandalism to a particle of what it might have been. The Lodi rooting section is known around the conference for its enthusiasm, just as our teams are known (and feared) for their athletic skills.

With a student-faculty committee carefully selecting the performers, the quality of assemblies at Lodi High reached a new high. The student talent show was just about the best program of the year.

Lodi High was represented at every conference in this area. We conducted a couple of panels, and in April we sponsored a conference of our own. These conferences develop leadership in the student, and from the meetings come ideas on how to cope with problems in student government.

In the middle of the year, through the courtesy of the Congress of the United States, our congressman, Leroy Johnson, sent us a flag that had flown over the Capitol in Washington, D. C. Now that famous place has something in common with Lodi.

I'd like to thank the student body for co-operating to make this year a big success for the council and me. Thanks too Mr. Christensen, Mr. Stocking, and Mrs. Melby for keeping us in line and giving us much-needed advice. Best of luck to next year's president, council, and student body.

Sincerely,

Mike Lindeman,

Many Enjoyable and Educational Activities Highlight

Third-year Spanish students attain fluency as well as enjoyment by singing popular Spanish songs.

In order to be a member of Los Ameo-les, a student must take a second year of Spanish, and he must be interested in attending the meetings. After being a member of the club and of the third year class, a student is an honorary member and is welcome to attend any of the meetings thereafter.

the Agenda of Los Ameoles, the Spanish Club

The activities of Los Ameoles are many and varied. The first function of the year is a meeting held in October at which new members are initiated. In December the annual Christmas Party is held. One of the highlights of the evening is the breaking of the pinata, an old custom of Spain and Mexico. Then in April, the Spanish Club puts on a Pan American Day assembly for the students. During the program they try to bring out a few of the songs, dances, and customs of the Spanish speaking people. Spanish Club ends the year with a Mexican dinner at which the members enjoy themselves immensely.

The aim of Los Ameoles is to promote a better understanding between the people north of the border and their neighbors down south.

Students who successfully complete their first year of Spanish may look forward to being a member of Los Ameoles.

Gavaliers Are the Advanced Speech Students of Lodi High

Members of Gavaliers are students of the third-year speech class, and most of them also belong to the National Forensic League, a nation-wide speech organization. They enter various speaking contests and tournaments during the school year.

This year the tournaments attended were those held in Modesto, Tracy, Stockton, San Francisco, and Santa Clara. In the spring three original oratory contests were entered by Lodi's speech students. In two of them, speeches were prepared on the subject of Safety; and in the other, California History.

Other activities of Gavaliers include the annual speech picnic and a speech assembly.

In most of the contests and tournaments Lodi's contestants won several high honors.

the First F.F.A. Organization in the State of California

One of the most important aspects of the program aside from the class-room activities is the home-supervised projects. This year 100 boys have a total of 382 head of livestock, 15 are raising 96 acres of field and truck crops, and 30 are managing 102 acres of grape and orchard crops. Home-supervised projects are the backbone of a successful agriculture department.

We also have 7 judging teams—grape vines, trees, dairy cattle, general livestock, truck crops, farm machinery, and agronomy. These teams compete against about 60 other schools at the Fresno, Davis, and San Luis Obispo contests. The teams that win at San Luis Obispo will represent California in the national contests.

The Lodi Agriculture department is rated as one of the best in the state.

This Is Your Tokay Staff

Very few students on Lodi High's campus realize how much time, work, patience, worry, and real enjoyment go into the making of an annual. For example: although this page has been one of the simplest to prepare, all the following steps have been taken before it was completely out of the hands of the staff:

1. To show the size and placement of all pictures and copy (print) a penciled layout is drawn on a piece of ruled graph paper.
2. Pictures are taken by an available photographer and printed to the specified size. The layout and pictures are placed together in a special envelope labeled "Page 79-Tokay Staff."
3. The envelope is sent to Stockton, where cuts (etched blocks) are made for each picture and sent to the printer.
4. After the envelope's return, someone laboriously composes a title and copy, and it is typed by the copy editor.
5. The contents are checked, the envelope goes to the printer, and it soon returns with a page of printed proof clipped to it.
6. A competent proof-reader carefully reads each word and punctually marks every misspelling, etc.
7. The envelope is then returned to the printer, and each staff member breathes a sigh of relief—1/132 of our annual is finished!

We would now like to say "Thank you very much" to every one who has helped in any way in the making of this year's annual. We sincerely hope that every student enjoys the 1955 Tokay as much as we have enjoyed editing it.

Sincerely,
Evelyn Post

Weekly Editions of the "Flame" Are Issued under the Many pleasant incidents go into the making of a long-to-be-remembered year. Editing the "Flame" was an experience I found to be invaluable.

Highlights of the year were the big eight-page Stockton-Lodi Game edition, the unusual Christmas edition, the April Fool's Day razz edition, and the Senior edition.

Seventy new first-year reporters worked diligently on the staff, and it was really enjoyable to watch their writing talents develop as the year rolled on. Perhaps the biggest task which faced this crew was putting out the Freshman edition, a job they handled very capably.

Working as a smoothly co-ordinated team, nine people filled irreplaceable positions in the second-year Journalism class. At this time I would like to express my sincere thanks to Rose Mary Schramm, Marlene Nelson, Hazel Frei, Jim Bird, Don Pritchard, Liz Ratty, Betty Hatzenbuhler, Norma Grimmett, and Claudia Randle for the wonderful job they have done this year.
