P. Woodward

F. E. Wrider, J. Lowery, H. A. Fridlund, J. Webb, and A. A. Daniells discuss the construction of the building which is to be used for a warehouse and a community canning house.

Secretary to the superintendent, Mrs. Hines.

The superintendent and our chief executive, Mr. C. A. Castle.

OUR CHIEF EXECUTIVE

AND GOVERNING BODY

Villages, as the World once knew them, can no longer exist. So, too, for villagers.

Our high school "village" has its own concerns, its own problems, its own pleasures.

The villagers" seem to live in a little community of their own. They are workers and traders. They trade time and effort for knowledge and skills. They are producers, for from their efforts come future doctors, salesmen, farmer, and all manner of laborers and workers. They are producers, too, of things of immediate value, of "Comets" and parties, of bands and ceramics, of athletic teams and essays, of fatted live-stock and speeches.

The villages of old were largely self-sufficient. The people lived more or less serenely, trading among themselves, wrapped up in their own affairs, vexed by their own problems, not too concerned with the great world outside the village limits.

The school "village" at one time existed much that way. There are villagers who would still be content and happy to live on in such a village of their own making.

Today the village within a village has been absorbed within the world community. The high school youth is challenged by the work problems which he must attempt to solve and by the favorable relationship with other people all over the globe which he must seek to build and maintain.

Thus, though immediately present activities engross much of his attention, the high school villager's interests have extensive range. The world's problems cross the village limits and the village resident in turn reacts to the economic, moral, social, and physical impacts which destroy his isolation, complacency, and self-sufficiency.

The theme for this 1946 "Comet" has been well chosen for in expressing and recording the manifold activities of our "village" life, the editors also indicate to us the extensive community of peoples and cultures in which we live.

C. A. CASTLE.

Ralph Waldo Emerson has said, "The true test of civilization is, not the census, nor the size of cities, nor the crops—no, but the kind of man the country turns out."

From a similar point of view, the test of a school is the kind of young man or woman that it turns out.

Lindsay Senior High as an American school, is turning out young people of whom it can well be proud, young people who already are proving again that their school can meet this test, young people, who, as years go by, shall tread the footsteps of other Alumni who advance the Lindsay Tradition.

As young Americans, these students of ours deserve commendation.

But they are more than young Americans: they are marchers in the parade of nationalities in the vanguard of the future.

They face oncoming events not only as young Americans, but as citizens of the world.

They face the "slings of fortune" girded with knowledge and culture from all over the world.

From the Holy Land they've learned the ideal of Peace.

From Greece they've learned of Beauty.

From Rome they've learned of Liberty in Law.

From Pan America they've learned of Brotherhood.

From Europe they've learned of Literature, Science, Language, Music and Mathematics.

From our own glorious America they've learned of Democracy.

Our Seniors, equipped with a wealth of vital thoughts, many of which originated beyond our shores, are prepared to take their rightful places as members of the world community.

As young Americans, aware that each country, each person, has a unique contribution to make to world friendship and progress, students at Lindsay High are being prepared to appreciate and utilize such contribution.

As world citizens they cannot do less.

In the Lindsay Tradition, they do not desire to do less.

Mrs. Moneymaker is seen in the office during a rush between periods. Bill and Doug seem to be interested in what she is writing for Ronny, but Wilma is too busy talking to Don to notice.

OUR ASSISTANT EXECUTIVE AND HIS STAFF

Dorothy Givan

Mrs. Givan, the school nurse, was replaced the second semester by Miss Rowe.

Our counselor and assistant executive, Mr. L. L. Belanger.

OUR LEADERS

*We don't see
other.
C. E. Allen*

Mr. Allen, the advisor of the F. F. A., imparts his knowledge of modern agriculture to our students, and also instructs biology.

Secretarial duties are taught in the fields of shorthand and typing by Miss Douty, Spur adviser and girls' gym instructor.

*Benj. B. Benzel.
Lots of luck, you'll need it.*

Metal shop is taught by Mr. Benzel, who carries on high school math by teaching plane geometry to industrious students.

Valuable training in clothing and physiology is given by Miss Glasson, who also directs the Junior Red Cross, and school banquets.

*So Pam
luck. Dec. Bernal*

Future linguists are trained, both in Spanish and the use of English, and the school's purse strings are controlled by Mr. Bernal.

Miss Hostetter oversees the publishing of the Echoing-L, prepares students for the English-A Exam, and advises the C. S. F.

*Adeline
Hostetter*

Miss Cochran begins the mathematical instruction of students by indoctrinating them with the mysteries of algebraic figures.

Earl Cunningham

Hopeful engineers master the intricacies of mechanical drawing and begin their training in woodshop under Mr. Cunningham.

OUR LEADERS

Wayne Kemper
"Musically"

With us again this year is the maestro, Wayne Kemper, who has led our band through many successful undertakings.

Mrs. Lee leads girls' physical education and also advises the Girl Reserve Club and the Girls Athletic Association.

Mr. McFadzen gives instruction in the arts of book-keeping, shorthand, and office practice and also has a study hall.

The secrets of the atom are shown to chemistry students by Mr. Squire, who coaches track and basketball and teaches higher mathematics.

Miss Williams teaches the basic language, Latin, trains the future artists of America, and advises the Comet staff and editors.

Historians learn their data from Mrs. Woodward, girls' league adviser; she also teaches English and keeps our scholars in study hall.

Orators, English scholars, and thespians are taught by Miss Perkins; she also teaches U. S. History to Lindsay High students.

Baseball and football are coached by Mr. Skadan. The remainder of his time is spent teaching boy's physical education.

Pam
Here's to a swell
time for our class in the future, and may it be a happy one.
Bill Allen.

THEY HAVE FOUND OUT HIGH SCHOOL IS NOT BOOKS, NOT DATES, AND NOT BULL SESSIONS, BUT ALL OF THESE AND MORE BESIDES. ALMOST ALL THE SENIORS HAVE BEEN CHANGED A LITTLE BY HIGH SCHOOL AND REALIZE THE VALUE OF EDUCATION IN THE ADVANCING WORLD OF TODAY. AFTER GRADUATION, THEY WILL TRAVEL IN MANY DIRECTIONS. SOME OF THEM WILL GO ON TO COLLEGE TO TAKE UP SPECIALIZED STUDY FOR THEIR LIFE WORK. SOME WILL ACCEPT JOBS IMMEDIATELY AFTER GRADUATION. SOME OF THE BOYS WILL BE CALLED TO THE SERVICE. A FEW OF THE GIRLS WILL START ON THE JOB OF MARRIAGE. IF THEY ARE AROUND, THEY WILL COME BACK, FOR REGARDLESS OF WHAT THEY SAY THEY LIKE LINDSAY HIGH SCHOOL.

On September 11, 1944, a new family moved into the Lindsay High School community, a family whose members were destined to become the school's leading citizens. It was the class of "47." We began as all classes must as lowly sophomores, but it was apparent from the start that nothing could hold us back.

Our seventy-three members immediately elected Dean "Slim" Jessup as our class president, the one who was to lead us to glory in our first year at Lindsay High. We chose to have Willard Miller take over the class presidency in our junior year.

This year we showed adequate proof of our school spirit, businesslike manner, and dramatic ability, by putting on the junior rally, the junior dance, and the junior play, one success after the other.

The success of the junior play, we attribute to the cooper-

We must not forget the hard work of the advertising and business managers, the stage crew, and Miss Perkins, our able dramatics adviser.

Through cooperation, not only with each other, but with our marvelous faculty, we shall fight on to new heights of glory.

This year has been another stepping stone among many, on our upward trek toward graduation.

We have succeeded in our various projects, our activities and enterprises because our class is a group of students of different racial backgrounds who have learned that through cooperation, initiative, and a blending of talents success is inevitable.

As in any other village, there must be citizens and so the "sophs", who were not only smaller in stature, but also inexperienced in scholastic achievements bowed and scraped before those terrifying tuffies, the juniors and seniors.

In our little village the citizens proved their worth. Thus the sophomores industriously white-washed the L, sponsored and promoted the annual sophomore amateur hour, and presented the sophomore assembly under the guidance of the village leaders.

The "soph" boys learned the ways of the athletic fields and proved their valor against all foes of L. H. S. in football, basketball, baseball, track and tennis with real skill and determination; sophomore girls, never to be outdone by their more muscular cohorts, worked in G. A. A., tennis, and for Spur points with real sophomore spirit.

Since brains were really a surplus commodity with the under classmen, naturally they contributed heavily to the C. S. F., having five members the first semester and six the second semester. They have also contributed to the success of the Spanish club; have helped give the newly formed debate club a good start; have produced several able musicians; and have worked diligently on the Comet staff. Learning the laws of parliament and taking a hand in running the class and school were all in a day's work for the mites, who have done things, most of the time the right way, sometimes the hard way.

In March two sophomores, Bob Depew and Dick Dietrich were runners-up to Richard Webb in the ninth annual Lions Club speaking contest.

They have fallen in love, gone to sleep in English, rushed for the cafeteria, talked in study hall, got acute stomach aches the day before the West Coast Relays, been attacked by the forces of spring fever, and at times have given the instructors little hope that they would ever be salvaged from the depths of ignorance, which sometimes seemed to engulf them completely, just as any normal sophomore would do.

All these things the sophomores have accomplished and have grown academically, athletically, and in the qualities of leadership in order that they might return in future years as upper classmen.

Every year the sophomores trudge up Elephants Back with lime, water, and brooms to industriously white wash the L.

So a swell girl 49

I'll be for you.

THE VILLAGE COUNCIL

Bob Stivers, student body president, is caught by the photographer as he walks down the steps.

Cabinet members Barbara Longacre, Howard Boardman, Bob Black, Ray Jones, Noel Daniells, Edna Landers, Willard Miller, Bill Franks, Dick Dietrich.

Bob Stivers has been an excellent student body president, leading his cabinet in very important decisions. Barbara Longacre has performed the duties of secretary accurately and promptly, while Howard Boardman has done the large job of planning the budget like a veteran. Good assemblies are hard to obtain, but Bob Black, secretary of welfare, has helped his job well. Ray Jones, secretary of welfare, has helped plan school parties and made the noon dances happy occasions. Noel Daniells very ably represented the seniors on the cabinet and acted as vice-president. Edna Landers did double duty in representing the girls and with Beryl Calhoun edited the Comet. Willard Miller and Dick Dietrich defended the junior and sophomore classes. Bill Franks, boys' representative, Percy Francis, athletic manager, Ricchard Webb, Echoing L editor, and Ronnie Boles, Block L president, all did their part in adding zest to the cabinet. Yell leader Richard Ford did a super job.

ITS PRESIDENT AND MEMBERS

Percy Francis, Richard Ford, Beryl Calhoun, Richard Webb, Edna Landers, Ronny Boles.

Here we see the cabinet in session in the conference room.

Another year, a second of infinity, has passed, and the activities of our little community, with the alias of Lindsay High School, have again been written in the record books.

As the members of the student cabinet first faced each other across the council table at the beginning of the year, there was an air of expectancy as to the year's issues and a complacent assurance that everything would run smoothly.

The school went on record this year as endorsing two stripe honor sweaters in the case of students buying their own. A by-law was added to the constitution stating that all C class letters earned in sports running on schedules drawn up by the principle's association and having identical requirements as A and B sports sweaters. In addition to this by-law, another was written prescribing tennis letters to be eight inches high in place of the previous six inches.

A new moving picture projector with complete accessories was purchased this year. It was bought with money from the student body, the school district, and gifts. The student body paid half of the cost. Besides the usual uses in which a projector would be employed for the schools, there was a project to begin having noon movies to entertain the students during their free hour.

Mr. Belanger, as the adviser, always seemed to create incentive in the cabinet to tackle the problems which came up and do the best work possible in the quickest way. He has always been ready to give credit where credit is due to students and other teachers, and I believe he is due as much credit as anyone for the fine things done in our high school.

As a last word, I wish to thank everyone for their cooperation, and I hope all of you have enjoyed yourselves as much as I.

BOB STIVERS.

THE VILLAGE HISTORY

Hello, students of Lindsay High School and citizens of a new post-war world. This has been an exciting year for us and also for the world. We live in a great history making age and we are a part of that history. Our theme this year attempts to convey our part as a small high school in the world of today, how the other countries of the world, their customs and ideas play a definite part in our routine as high school students. We have treated our high American high school represents, a village in which you have a chance to know, work and play with other people where you become a little more familiar with study as a preparation for the future—where you can formulate a few ideas—maybe develop a better sense of values. This has been a year spent in the freedom of an American high school and in this Comet we have endeavored to bring to you parts of your life this year, and to present as objectively as possible, not only the surface events of the year, but also the mood and spirit which underly high school activities. We hope you will long treasure this book and look again upon familiar names and scenes of this year, maybe not the happiest year of your life, but a year effecting your ability to go forward.

Verne Chapman, photographer and Kenneth Vetter, business manager.

Beryl Calhoun and Edna Landers, editors. Verne Chapman, photographer.

Kenneth Vetter, business manager. Tom Griffin and Wayne Comstock, assistant managers. Ruth Woolbright, typist.

We owe a lot of gratitude to Miss Williams, who gave us advice and helped us all during the past school year to make this book a reality, and to the business, commercial, art, and literary staffs who have helped to make our Comet a success.

Kenneth Vetter, Tom Griffin, and Wayne Comstock really worked hard on the business end of the staff, and Ruth Woolbright, the typist, did a wonderful job on typing the pieces of copy accurately and quickly.

Verne Chapman did a swell job on taking and developing the pictures for this year's annual as everyone can see.

Margaret White, art editor, did the division pages for the organization and citizen sections and also the map on the cover. Phyllis Woodward did the division page for the teachers as well as writing for the Comet. Anne Miller did the life division page and Richard Ford did the sport's division page. Berniece Vetter did the map of the world on the sheets; Imogene Cochran did the beautiful lettering on the cover, and Violet Taylor and Susan Bandy did the lettering throughout the book.

The literary staff have done excellent work this year. All of the staff should be congratulated on their fine work. The credit for the copy goes to Louise Cole, Bob Depew, Dick Dietrich, Vic Durbin, Ralph English, June Landers, Barbara Longacre, Alma Jean McClure, George Osborn, Bill Richey, and Phyllis Woodward.

VILLAGE SCHOLARS

Bob, Helen, and Beryl are enjoying their fried chicken, Yum!

Plaids were fads at the C. S. F. dance, weren't they, Verne and Earl?

In all nations of the world the depths of learning have been explored, and in the United States it is no different; nor is it in Lindsay, a small, representative town in California. And in this town is a school called Lindsay High where the young men and women go to learn. This is the place where most of their knowledge is attained.

If, at the end of their three years in high school, they have been a member of the society for at least four semesters, one of which has been during their senior year, they are named life members of the organization. This entitles them to a special seal on their diploma and also a lamp of knowledge pin.

This year during the last semester, there have been more members in the society than in the preceding two semesters put together. Their activities were thus enlarged, and for the first time in some years, the organization sponsored a dance and took over the business part of a band review in addition to their numerous other activities.

At graduation, Edna Landers, Bob Stivers, and Pauline Longenecker were presented with the life membership seals.

The C. S. F. certainly did justice to its title this year, and our little village can well be proud of all its members.

NEWSHOUNDS

Our community has been blessed this year as usual, with the steady publishing of its finest newspaper, the Echoing L. Staffed by students of the journalism class of our little village and under the gentle but firm-guiding hand of the adviser, Miss Hostetter, it came out every week. The paper was absolutely free to holders of Lindsay High student body cards.

The staff of publishers were: editor-in-chief, Richard Webb; associate editor, Wanda Webb; news editor, Joan Selby; feature editor, Helen Ball; sports editor, Bill Richey; exchange editor, Don Roy; art editor, Louise Cole. The reporters were Mary Gray, Pat Owen, Evelyn Lady, Nola Jeanne Lay, and Bill Franks. On the technical staff were Betty George, Pat Auchard, Ruth Woolbright, and Idessa Gilliam.

These citizens worked hard all during the week collecting the news—everything from the front lawn gossip center to news of fashions and sports, plus jokes and songs. Then they put in many hours writing it into first class literary style. Next they topped off their weekly grind by seeing that the paper left the press in perfect form. Everyone looked forward to Fridays, not only because it was the last school day of the week, but because of the super-treat, a copy of the Echoing L.

The technical staff views its handiwork as the paper rolls off the press.

Throughout the world music is the one universal language, expressing joy, sorrow, love and all the other emotions which human beings everywhere have. In our village within a village, life wouldn't be complete nor as enjoyable without the band. It added pep to rallies with snappy marches and fight songs and it gave spirit to football and basketball games.

This year the band marched at the head of the annual Armistice Day parade in Porterville; it presented a new and entertaining modern musical review, featuring solos and numbers in the modern mood plus a brilliant regular spring concert; and on April 19, it represented Lindsay High School in the "C" division of the national music festival zone contest at Reedley. In addition, the band helped immensely in the success of the revival of the Orange Blossom Festival. Also, at the end of the year when graduation caps and gowns were the style in our village, the seniors took their last steps out of school to the music of the band. So, as you see, the band played a large role in our village life.

The man responsible for the band's success and under whose baton its twenty-six members played was Mr. Wayne Kemper, who has added much to music here. Mr. Kemper has introduced a well-rounded course for band members in popular as well as classical music.

VILLAGE MUSICIANS

Mr. Kemper leads our band with one hand and plays the trumpet with the other. Think what he could do with both hands on the trumpet.

SPANISH COLONY

Friendly neighbors—that is what the United States and all the countries of Central and South America are. But to be really friendly, we must get to know these people better, their speech and customs in order to be real neighbors. For this reason the Spanish Club of Lindsay High School was organized.

All the students taking first, second, or third year are members. At the beginning of the year the newcomers choose Spanish names and with patience set to work conjugating verbs and memorizing modismos. The old timers with their perfected accents read and speak in the best of manner. They show real interest in their South American friends by corresponding with students who live in Chili, Brazil, and Mexico. School activities, the town, and friends are described and discussed.

Each year a banquet is given in real Spanish style where only Spanish is spoken. This year it was held most appropriately on Pan-American Day.

This past year the club was run most efficiently by the president, Percy Francis; vice-president, Beryl Calhoun; and secretary-treasurer, Margaret White. Senor George Bernal, Spanish born and American bred, was el profesor de estudiantes espanoles.

The girls league may be compared to the United Nations, for all girls large or small, blond or brunette, leaders or followers belonged to this organization. Every girl was an integral part of the group belonging to at least one of the standing committees which were school beautiful, ways and means, entertainment, advertising, courtesy, friendship and service.

All the clubs of high school which were exclusively feminine were represented on the central council. Unlike the United Nation's Security Council, the central council was not controlled by a "big five" but was run in a very democratic way with all groups having an equal voice and vote.

Some of the duties of the various committees were to see that cards were sent to girls who had to remain home because of illness, to be friendly and sisterly to new girls entering school, to devise ways of making money for the group, and to provide entertainment.

The leaders this year were Edna Landers, president; Desda Smay, vice-president; Joan Buszek, secretary; Pauline Longenecker, treasurer; Colleen Taylor, sophomore representative; Jean Owen, G. A. A. representative; Louise Cole, Girl Reserve representative. Each girl felt that she, regardless of race, creed, or station in life, was an important cog in the ma-

The purpose of the organization was to make every girl in the Lindsay High School feel that she regardless of race, creed, or station in life was an important cog in the machine that makes our lives here in our "village" run smoothly.

The officers of the G. R.'s are: J. Buszek, treasurer; M. White, program chairman; L. Cole, president; B. Longacre, vice president; J. Selby, piano player; and A. McClure, secretary.

What is more important in a village than organizations for developing thought and also having fun! Girl Reserves, a branch of Y. W. C. A., began this year with an increased membership of girls and a full schedule planned.

First on the agenda was the beautiful recognition service held on Sunday in the St. James Episcopal Church to welcome the new girls; formals added to the loveliness. The backward banquet given for football boys was tops with a splendid program following.

To add Christmas spirit, a party was given for some less fortunate children of Lindsay; Christmas Eve brought the traditional winter formal which included some alumni.

Next was the big carnival. It was complete with floor show games and balloons. Sadie Hawkins' Day came late in spring so that barefeet and pigtails were not amiss.

Final social event of the year was the formal senior tea at the home of Mrs. G. A. Richardson preceding baccalaureate service. The girls and their mothers met the Y. W. C. A. board and the officers for the coming year were installed by members of the outgoing cabinet.

These activities and others were led by a very capable senior, Louise Cole, assisted by her thirteen member cabinet and advisers, Frances Mahowald Lee and Lorena Hannaford.

First row: Mrs. Lee, A. McClure, H. Arnold, I. Hoffmeyer, J. Perkins, M. Barkman, J. Fox, H. Ball, D. Todd, B. Vetter, B. Gavian, J. Landers, C. Land. Second row: A. Miller, D. Woodward, N. Black, I.  Standing: D. Jessup, W. Miller, L. Miller, G. Hoyt, H. Boardman, N. Peck, H. Boardman, K. Vetter, J. Burnett, V. Chapman.

Another group in our community is the Hi-Y, a branch of the Y. M. C. A., a world-wide organization. After lying dormant, this group was recently reorganized with strong vigor. It provided the young men of high school age with recreation and an opportunity to do service to the community and to themselves, under the guidance of Mr. F. Ewing Bone, the adviser.

The Hi-Y at frequent intervals has engaged in numerous activities and recreations. They held exchange meetings with the Girl Reserves to allow an interchange of ideas between the two organizations. Numerous discussions of certain principles allowed free, democratic expressions of ideas by these young men on problems besetting the youth of the nation.

This year the Hi-Y members distributed track and baseball schedules to the townspeople; also had a booth at the Girl Reserve Carnival. To top off the year they entertained their fathers at the father and son banquet.

The cooperation with which the club members worked is ample proof that these boys have attained the unity that the world is striving to acquire.

Several members of the Hi-Y have entered the armed forces and have carried the principles of the organization with them to the far corners of the globe proving that once that feeling of working together enters a person's being, it shall subsist under any circumstances.

Hi-Y officers: president, LeRoy Miller, first semester, and Gerald Hoyt, second semester; and their cabinets, Bob Stivers, Tom Griffin, Noel Daniells, Norman Peck, and Percy Francis.

Caught by surprise, we see James Burnett dancing with a certain beautiful blond. Behind him Hayward Boardman is quite contented with Susan Bandy. At the right Mary Lou is hungrily heading for the refreshments.

COMMUNITY MEMBERS OF HI-Y

SPURS

We have in our little village the Spur organization which is composed of girls who have worked on committees, on the show cases, as usherettes, at school dances, and at different functions in order to become members of this increasing organization. The work for membership is done entirely during the sophomore year. The girls who have attained their goal are rewarded at the end of their sophomore year with a white cardigan sweater with a green spur emblem on the left pocket on the condition that they have met the following requirements: that they have a "C" average, except by recommendation of the faculty, and that throughout the year they work on different activities, in order to earn twenty points. Their president was Vivian Raulston, Carol Humbarger, vice-president, Cathleen Taylor, secretary; Edna Mae Fulbright, treasurer, Alma Jean McClure Girl's League representative, Miss Douty, adviser.

First row: J. Buszek, H. Ball, C. Humbarger, J. Wakefield, C. Taylor, A. McClure, M. White, L. Cole, I. Cochran, E. Fulbright, F. Cranston, E. Landers. Second row: B. Longacre, P. Woodward, A. Miller, J. Selby, N. Land, B. Calhoun.

E. Landers, C. Humbarger, J. Selby, L. Cole, B. Calhoun, N. Land, and V. Raulston are the senior Spurs.

Here three sophomores are arranging the show cases to earn Spur points.

BLOCK L

Second row: N. Daniells, K. Vetter, T. Sonoda, W. Miller, B. Stivers, P. Francis, V. Durbin, R. English. Third row: D. Landers, B. Carlson, J. Reed, D. Depew, R. Jones.

One of the most honored organizations in our little community is one that demands a strong body and iron will, the Block L.

This organization is made up of choice physical specimens of our village who have honored themselves with the privilege of wearing an "A" class letter in any class or a "B" class letter in their senior year.

This year the club was ably headed by Prexy Ronny Boles; Secretary Bob Stivers; and Sergeant at Arms Ralph English. The club was advised by Frank Skadan, athletic coach in football and baseball within our inner village.

We won't forget the wonderful dance the fellows sponsored last April. This dance was the annual Block L financial activity.

Many of these boys will return to the village next semester to help pull us through with another good year of athletic competition with their valuable experience.

In every community, as in every nation, we have a period for refreshing our bodies and minds. Consequently girls turn to the Girl's Athletic Association as a fulfillment of this desire.

Sponsored by Mrs. Lee, the girls found that every Thursday from 4-5 was the most convenient time for their rendezvous. Captains were elected, teams chosen, and games played, not only among themselves, but with Tulare and Exeter.

Volleyball and basketball were the leading games played during the fall and winter months; in the spring the speedball and baseball fields were definitely monopolized.

Play day was an event which the girls enjoyed in early March. The G. A. A. council of Tulare County scheduled several days for this affair, and the girls found it to be a day of feasting and pleasure. They visited Porterville, Tulare, Visalia, and Exeter at different times throughout the year.

For their efforts during the year they received awards after obtaining the required number of points. These awards were presented to them at a banquet in early spring.

These athletic girls were headed by Barbara Jo Longacre, followed by Joan Buszek as vice-president; Doris Kagley, secretary; Joan Wakefield, treasurer; Phyllis Woodward, sports manager; and Vera Ballard, point recorder.

COMMUNITY FUTURE FARMERS

Within our village there is a continuous demand for one of the better parts of life, namely, food. In order to procure this vital substance, we must have vigilant sentinels of agriculture, and so, under the supervision of Mr. Allen and headed by President Dean Clark, Secretary Bob Black, and Treasurer Bob Carlson, the Future Farmers of America carry on their training to be America's farmers of tomorrow.

For this year's project the boys chose to fatten animals for show purposes, but due to vital situations that now prevail concerning the difficulty in buying feed, they were compelled to be satisfied with raising their stock for home uses only.

In this class the students learn every detail in relation to raising stock in order to gain the highest output for the future demands that are certain to exist in our country as well as the rest of the world.

The boys are also contributing a share of their time in the hot-house behind the shop learning the fundamentals of growing shrubbery from cuts and seeds.

We are proud of this class because we know that in later years every one of our farmers will play a great part in supplying the people of the world with straight bodies and strong minds through agriculture.

SENIOR TRESPIANS

While Kate Malloy and Mrs. Kimball chat, Dr. Kimball punctuates with sneezes and Cuthbert Lee catches up on his reading.

Shirley and Jeff look on as Mrs. Kimball takes a call for the Doctor.

Professor Stubbs smiles in relief as Shirley assures him that his wife is all right.

Gladys Miller listens intently as Chuck Malloy and Rosemary Lee discuss the dance.

I have been in the theater of London, England, and I have been in Le Parisian in France, the La Golendrian in Spain, and I have been in theaters at Budapest, Singapore, Moscow — from the largest one to the smallest one—from Carnegie Hall in New York to the auditorium in Lindsay, California.

I remember the play I saw there one night; it was "Going Places" presented by the senior class under the direction of Miss Perkins, Lindsay's well-known dramatic teacher.

"Chuck" Malloy, played by Jerry Hoyt, was a whiz at football, but a dud at ancient history. He wanted to enter Dartford College in order to play football. "Chuck" had passed all the entrance examination, except the history examination which was required.

Jeff Sterling, portrayed by Ray Jones, student football manager, was anxious to have "Chuck" on the football squad and wanted to find a way to get him into Dartford. He enlisted the help of Shirley Kimball, daughter of the president of the college, played by Desda Smay, and Rosemary Lee, Carol Humbarger, another attractive co-ed, and Gladys Miller, Vivian Raulston, a music student employed as a maid by the Kimballs.

After several attempts to get him in college, one finally worked for them which was a relief for me.

JUNIOR THESPIANS

"What a show!" 'Plane Crazy,' hit of the year was produced by the junior class under the direction of the world famous director, Miss Perkins.

The headlines of our little village newspaper screamed the news. The great success spread like wildfire. The actors were acclaimed by Hollywood, and honors were heaped upon them.

Tom Griffin, as Jimmy, the star of the show was sensational! His mother and father, portrayed by Barbara and Earl, were equally good, and with Anne as Eloise, the southern siren, and Cathleen as Peggy, the sweet little "expert in English," not to mention "Muscles" and "Put" played by James and Jim, Jimmy's comical best friends, and Virginia Wells, Fred Williams, Joan Wakefield, who also had a part in making the play a success—need I say more? The play couldn't help but go over in a big way. The supporting cast did their parts in smooth professional style, and the stage crews, art staff, and business manager came through magnificently.

Jimmy's dad couldn't seem to understand his son's love of flying, and the whole plot revolved around Jimmy's efforts to succeed, turning the play into a madhouse of mix-ups. Naturally everything turned out perfectly in the end, with Jimmy receiving his father's consent to go on with flying.

"George, look at his eyelashes!"

Friends of Jimmy enjoy cokes at Julie's Hot Dog Place while Julie is busy at the telephone.

Anne, with her Swedish placidness, would not hurt a flea, but she looks dangerous with that butcher knife.

Coffee and doughnuts as well as cokes and hot dogs are on the menu at Julie's, the gang's meeting place.

Pam

Well, here we are again at the end of the year signing our comets and everybody rushing around to get their clearance cards signed.

This has been a swell year as far as the school is concerned. Championships in ~~football~~ basketball and track, 1st place for the band at the festival in Reedy Cts. We have had lots of fun together in the past few years and I am looking forward to many more good times. Here's wishing you the best of luck and success. And don't get involved with too many boys. It's not a good policy. See you next year.

Sincerely,

"A" PIGSKIN PROTEGES

Lindsay High, like thousands of other American high schools, had its football teams for the building up of its youth and for the teaching of the ideals of sportsmanship.

Veteran Cardinal mentor, Frank Skadan, coached the Lindsay High School varsity eleven, the lightest team in the league, to within half a game of the Sierra league co-championship.

Boles and English co-captained the team to four wins, a tie, and two losses in all competition in the year. Boles, quarterback, was chosen by his teammates as the most valuable man.

English, tackle, and Hoyt, right end, were named on the all-county eleven. Jessup was elected to be next year's captain.

The Cards racked up 126 points in seven tilts to their opponents' 52.

LINDSAY 7 TULARE 26—The green Cardinals did their best against the never to be conquered San Joaquin League champs.

LINDSAY 0 STRATHMORE 0—Still not up to par, the Cards staged a second half rally in which powerful off-tackle plunges nearly supplied the winning margin for Lindsay.

LINDSAY 12 DINUBA 6—This day Lindsay's gridsters had to play their best to bowl over the powerhouse Emperor eleven.

LINDSAY 33 OROSI 0—Again working smoothly, the LHS' heavies passing attack was unstoppable.

LINDSAY 48 WOODLAKE 0—The Tigers were a push over for the Lindsay gridmen, largely reserves.

LINDSAY 26 Porterville 7—The annual non-league Armistice Day tilt saw the Cardinals at their very best dish out defeat to the Panthers for the second consecutive year.

LINDSAY 0 EXETER 13—The Exeter "T" formation was too hard to handle.

Place Kicker Dean Jessup punts the pigskin through the poles for a point to win the game.

"B" PIGSKIN PROTEGES

Photographer catches scene of eager substitutes, awaiting their chance to get in there and play the game.

Star backfield man Abe Buenafe runs the pigskin through the line for a good ten yard gain.

Besides the regular single wing to the right formation, Coach Butterbaugh introduced many new plays running off the "T".

Capably captained by Curtis McQueen the Cardettes rolled up seventy-seven points to their opponents' twenty in seven tilts.

LINDSAY 0 TULARE 0 — In their only pre-season tilt of the year, the Cardettes completely out-played the Papooses, but muffed three good chances to score.

The fighting spirit and enthusiasm with which the Cardette battled against their opponents this year showed that the lightweight football squad was an important factor in providing excitement for our citizens of Lindsay High.

Coach W. S. Butterbaugh led his team to a successful season losing only one game during the year. A turnout of forty-six was made at the season's start with the unusual number of six seniors making the lightweight squad.

LINDSAY 7 STRATHMORE 0—The league opener was a tough affair, but Lindsay's lads were never in any trouble.

LINDSAY 18 DINUBA 6—Still coasting, the Cardettes continued their victory march by easily tumbling the Babe Emperors.

LINDSAY 19 OROSI 0—The local lites were really rolling when they took the Orosi Cardettes into camp.

LINDSAY 20 WOODLAKE 0—The Tiger Cubs had some speedy backs that night, but a strong LHS line kept them scoreless.

LINDSAY 13 PORTERVILLE 0—Still clicking excellently, the Cardettes ran over the Cub Panthers for the second consecutive year in their annual non-league encounter.

LINDSAY 0 EXETER 14—The second game in four days, a huge line and fast backs proved to be more than they could handle as they yielded the league championship to the Monarch Babes.

HEAVYWEIGHT HOOPSTERS

In our village, every day for thirteen weeks, the big boys of our school donned their basketball suits sixth period and practiced diligently under the direction of their mentor, Mr. Squire.

After a few weeks of dribbling, shooting, free throws, ball handling and the fast break, cuts left Alex Morillo, L. G.; Dean Clark, R. G.; Gerald Hoyt, R. F.; Curtis McQueen, L. F.; and Dean Jessup, C., as the first team, with Ronny Boles, Don Landers, Ralph English, Reaford Young, Hayward Boardman, and Norman Mohnike providing the spurs to keep them going.

Just before the first practice game, the boys got together and chose Alex Morillo, capable guard, to captain them through the season.

Lindsay emerged victor in the final championship game with Exeter after having a very successful season. Results of the league games were: Lindsay 34, Corcoran 23; Lindsay 48, Strathmore 30; Lindsay 27, Exeter 32; Lindsay 49, Orosi 40; Lindsay 41, Woodlake 26; Lindsay 65, Corcoran 24; Lindsay 60, Strathmore 34; and Lindsay 26, Exeter 19.

Dean Clark's stellar work at his right guard post won him the honor of most valuable man on this year's hoop team. The Sierra League coaches selected Dean Jessup, Gerald Hoyt, and Dean Clark on the All-Sierra League team.

In two of its games, the "A" hoopsters tallied over 60 points, which is very unusual in high school competition. Top scoring honors in league competition went to Hoyt, 128, with Jessup, 95, and McQueen, 77, following closely.

Casaba, the great Polynesian sport, draws a large crowd in our village when foreign teams tramp upon our grounds because of the great skill that is displayed by our boys in action on the court.

Coach Squire led our "B" team to co-championship through eight games this season bowing only to Exeter in the last game of the year.

The team was ably headed by Albert Buenafe, local junior. Abe was voted first string forward on the all-county team and experienced his second year on the "B" squad this season.

John Isely secured the center position and with great accuracy rolled up enough points to honor himself with the rank of high man in pointage.

Douglas Fox held down the left forward position in his second year and was another of our championship team to be chosen all-county left forward.

First year guards were Bill Allen and Jerry Avina, who greatly contributed to the victories by challenging all opposers who neared our basket and made it unusually difficult to score.

Others who helped by substituting in the games and pushing the boys along in practice were Ollie Smith, Dick Dietrich, Bob Depew, David Vasquez, Wesley Leach, Wayne Comstock and Eugene Canning.

The "lights" tied for championship with one defeat. The scores were as follows: Lindsay 26, Corcoran 24; Lindsay 27, Strathmore 21; Lindsay 26, Exeter 25; Lindsay 40, Orosi 23; Lindsay 28, Woodlake 27; Lindsay 50, Corcoran 25; Lindsay 48, Strathmore 30; Lindsay 12, Exeter 34.

We're proud of the boys and we'll see most of them back next year on both teams.

John Isely, first center, challenges Exeter warrior to a jump-ball in the final game of the season.

Coach Ernest Squire gives the lightweight five last minute instruction before going onto the court, hopeful of victory.

Albert Buenafe and Douglas Fox, both all-league forwards, demonstrate their winning team work.

GYMNASTIC GIRLS

Physical education is compulsory in California, and thus it is in our community. However, it does not have to be forced upon our girls, as it is the period when they can let themselves go, yelling at everyone.

At the beginning of the year the girls were told how their gym suits should be marked and that they must be washed every week. However, they didn't mind that, because everyone in our village wanted to be clean and healthy.

First in the line of sports was volleyball. The girls then often were seen on the courts near the football field.

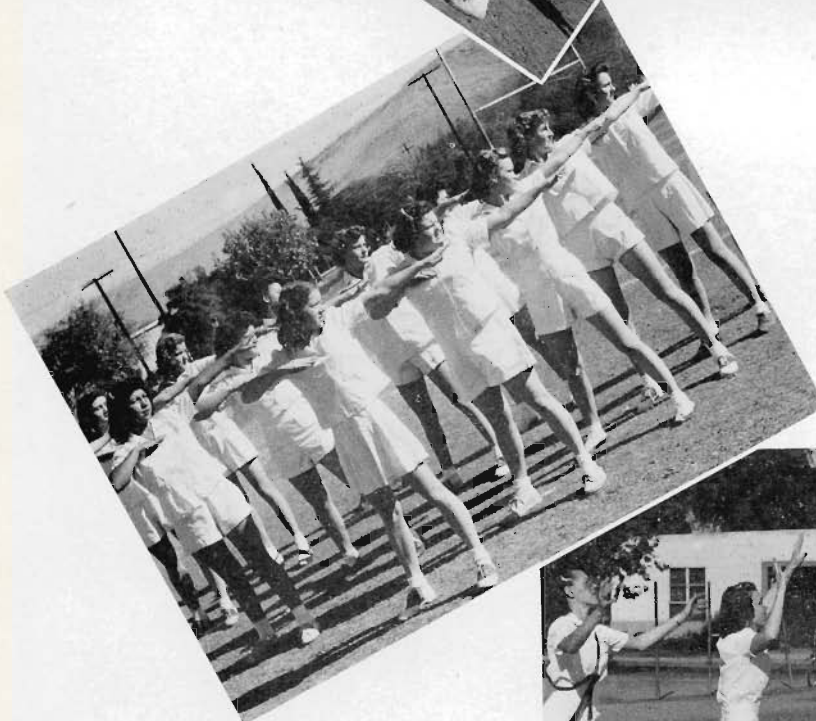

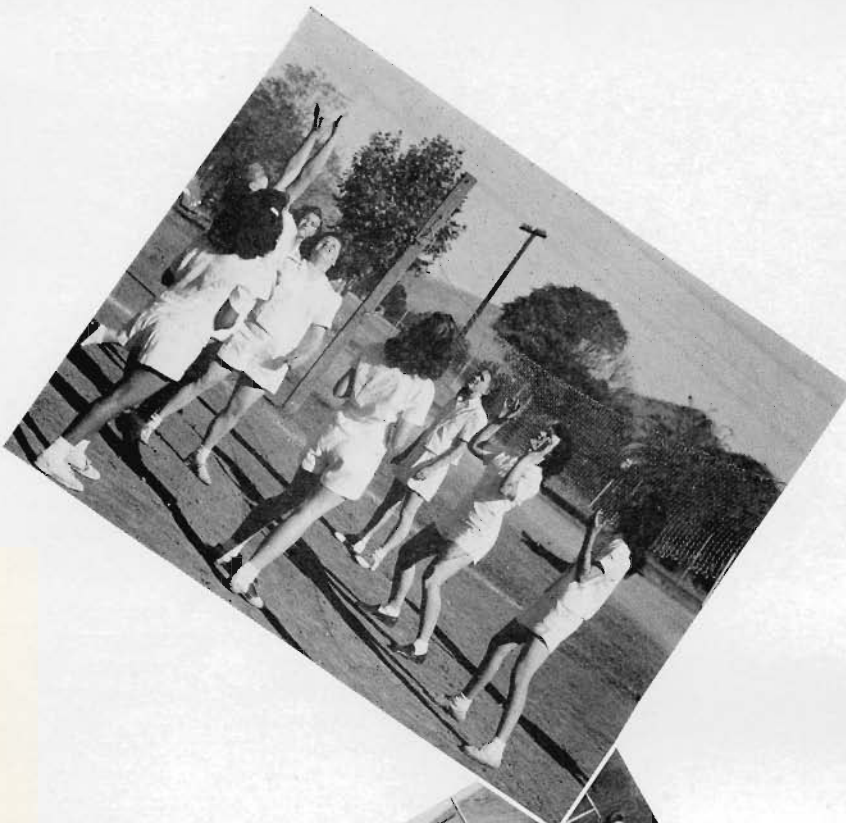

In the winter and early months the girls had many enjoyable tilts on the basketball courts. During this time the girls played several games in the noon hour, third period students making up the championship team.

Baseball and a few instructions in tennis and badminton ended this year's activities.

The girls were instructed by Mrs. Francis Lee.

Exercises are good for your physical condition they tell us but oh, those sore muscles the next day!

Basketball is the sport of sports for girls. Helen, be sure to get the ball because here it comes!

Volleyball takes plenty of energy and gives out with enthusiasm. "Be prepared" is the watchword of every volleyball player.

TENNIS RACKETEERS

High wire fences guard the courts lest the swift flying balls sail out and loose themselves in the grass outside. The players serve swift and hard; the balls flash across the net to be returned wobbly perhaps by the beginners and forcefully by the stronger experienced players.

This continuous practice went on all year, not only during the regular tennis period, but also for endless hours after school and on weekends.

The little village "raqueteers" played in one tournament in the fall and several small ones during the spring season.

Singles were played by J. A. Reed, Bobby Evans, Joan Selby, and Wanda Webb; boys' doubles by Leonard Soper and Bob Stivers; girls' doubles by Alma Jean McClure and Barbara Longacre; and mixed doubles by Helen Ball and Richard Webb.

Mrs. Frances Mahowald Lee and Miss Margorie Douty were the capable instructors.

CITIZENS OF BASEBALL

A jewel that is highly treasured by stalwarts of our village is the diamond. The baseball diamond is meant, of course.

Out of a comparatively large turnout this season, eight seniors, five juniors, five sophomores, and four freshmen survived the final cut leaving Coach Skadan two squads with which to work.

The team chose Tom Griffin, diminutive left-fielder and lead-off man, as captain for the "46" season. This is Tom's second year in left and also as first hitter.

Second man in batting order is Alex Morrillo, who holds down the keystone sack. Next comes Albert Buenafe, the team catcher; clean-up hitter for the squad is Dean Jessup, lanky first-sacker. Vic Durbin hits next, and patrols the hot corner. Arthur Honma, the only soph on the first team, bats sixth and holds down center field. Shortstop Glen Bivens hits next. He is a senior, and playing his first, as well as last year. That also goes for Doug Depew, right fielder and eighth batter. Last, comes Wes Taylor, ace pitcher, whom the team was glad to get back after injuries received in football.

Although the Lindsay nine bowed to defeat in the first three games with Tulare, Porterville, and Woodlake, they had overwhelming success in the fourth, defeating Dinuba with a score of 14-2. At the time this goes to press expectations are of the highest concerning victory for our boys.

No matter what the outcome of the season, the boys never regret the time expended because of the valuable experience gained by the returning players and the great enjoyment of playing the game.

VILLAGE TRACKSTERS

The first peaceful year in five found the call of the cinder path answered by approximately sixty-five track and field men. Returning to a peace time schedule, LHS tracksters participated in eight meets.

One record was smashed in the home meet by Bill Richey. Bill Richey, Herman Mosby, and Lon McQueen were elected captains of A, B, and C classes respectively.

In this year's Sierra league competition, LHS's B class team won the championship trophy with 50½ points. The A class finished third with 43 points, and in its division the C's copped second honors.

"A" class point makers were: 220 yard dash—Richey, fifth; 440 yard dash—Smith, fourth; Burnett, fifth; mile run—Moh-nike, first; Boardman, second; 880 yard run, Boles, first; 880 yard relay—Hoyt, Boles, Richey, Isely, tie second; 120 yard high
