DAISY SMITH 1920

RALLIES

The year 1919-20 will long be remembered as a year during which many thrilling rallies were held. It has been a year in which athletics have been in great popular favor and in which winning teams have been turned out, and enthusiasm has been easily aroused among the students.

Rally For Football

On September 24 a rally was held to rouse enthusiasm for the great fall sport. Coach Cave, Leonard Santini, and Everett Prindle urged the students either to come out or to lend their moral aid to the team.

Rally For Berkeley Game

On Friday, October 17, a rally was held in the gym for the U. C. Freshman and Berkeley High School games. A long night-shirt parade was the feature of the evening, when 150 boys serpented the business section, clad in pajamas and nighties.

For Fresno Game

After a lapse of several weeks, during which the team played away from home, a rally was held on Friday, November 7, for the game with Fresno High. Another parade, this time with a big bonfire and with the visiting team as interesting onlookers, was held in the evening.

For Sacramento Game

A rally, featured by school songs and the band, served to rouse interest in the game played with Sacramento High the next day, Saturday, November 22. The confident air that filled the gym was well founded, for S. H. S. won its only football victory the next day.

For St. Helena Game

On Friday, January 16, a rally was held to rouse the students' interest in the first basketball game of the year. The rally was featured by the yells, as basketball is a popular sport in S. H. S. and nearly everyone was anxious for the first game.

For Preston Game

On Wednesday, January 21, a rally was held to announce the game with Preston that night. Although enthusiasm was mediocre, a good crowd was on hand at the game.

For Fresno Game

The first appearance of Coach Lenz at an S. H. S. rally took place at the rally held Friday, January 30, to tell of the game with Fresno High on the 31st. The difficulties of financing the games was also told and students were urged to bring a visitor to the games.

For Reno Game

Good sportsmanship on the part of local rooters was the theme of a rally held Friday, March 12, to rouse interest in the game with Reno, Saturday. Rooters who went to Sacramento Friday night were urged to group together in the northern city and root for the local team.

For Orange Game

Two rallies were held for the game with Orange High School, which took the state championship to the south.

At the rally held Wednesday, March 24, it was announced that it would be necessary to charge students 35 cents and others 75 cents at the game. Enthusiasm was high, and a vote of the students showed them in favor of the prices and anxious for the game to be played here.

On Friday, the 26th, the rally was featured by the presence of the Orange team. They sat facing the local team at the opposite end of the floor. A jolly spirit held sway, as the jokes directed at the Orange team were well meant, and it was really quite funny to tell them how badly they would be beaten.

For Tacky Day

Wednesday, April 14, was the day when joyous cheers greeted the announcement of "Good-Morning-Tacky" Day. Everyone was urged to come in old clothes and to enter into the spirit of the day. Mr. Caulkins and William Wright were the speakers.

For Annual G. & T.

On Monday, April 19, the G. & T. annual ticket sale was the incentive of the rally which served to announce the plans for the book and to ask all to buy a ticket. Mr. Toms, Mr. Garrison, Zelda Wolfe, and Albert Monaco were the speakers.

Block "S" Rally

On Tuesday, April 27, a Block "S" was awarded each person who played on the C. I. F. championship basketball team. A feature was the presentation of an Honorary "S" to Mr. Toms.

Block "S" Rally

Five members of the track team, everyone of whom won several points in the league meet at Chico, were presented with a Block "S" late in the year. The fellows worked hard and made a wonderful showing.

MAY DAY FETE

Wake ye! Arise! Spring is greeting thee
In the leafy trees
And the stirring breeze.
Wake ye, O nymphs, Spring is calling thee;
List to the sighing symphony.

Come, come away;
'Tis merry May!

Then came the nymphs to the leafy glade,
Wooded there by Spring's sweet serenade.

Thus was May welcomed again at high school in the glade on the western slope of the campus by the maidens of both aesthetic dancing classes.

At five p. m. on the afternoons of the fifth and sixth of May, just when the shadows are longest and softest, a large assembly of onlookers gathered to behold the lovely dances, all expressive of Spring and all created and supervised by Miss Lucile Halwick.

The beautiful dell surrounded by large oak trees and low shrubbery, was a perfect setting for this glimpse of fairyland. Through the green foliage flitted daintily garbed maidens in all the exquisite tints and hues that belong to Spring. To the rhythm of soft music they poised and glided in the sunlight and shadow, their draperies swayed by the wind.

The spirit of Spring, impersonated by little Maurthea Friedberger clad in rainbow hues, opened the programme by flitting in through the foliage, calling and beckoning the wood nymphs to the dance. The "nymphs" were the girls of the advanced aesthetic class. Girls dressed like flowers next bloomed in the hollow and danced the "Flower Ballet."

"The Summer Idyll" was portrayed by three girls, Ann Stone, Dorothy Dawson, and Dorothy Perryman, each of whom carried a large basket of red roses which they held in innumerable graceful poses.

With many-colored, soft, filmy scarfs waving in the breeze, the dancers next interpreted the "Scarf Dance," whose rhythm and grace delighted the on-lookers.

"The Cameo Dance" and the "Artist's Gavotte" blended into one harmonious group. The girls in gauzy, beruffled dresses danced the quaint steps of 1870.

"Paul and Virginia," a duet dance by Helen Moore and Gladys Turner, charmed the audience by the dancers' graceful interpretation.

The "Butterfly Dance," an airy vision of dainty poses and gauzy wings dotted with brightly colored spots, was a delicate touch of realism, for all through the dance these human "insect angels" seemed to poise and flutter.

The "Roman Ball Dance," a very difficult number, was beautifully finished. The girls danced in pairs, each one playing with a colored ball in time to the music. And "Sunset," the last lovely number, was begun by five girls wearing wreaths of geraniums and carrying a large garland with which they grouped themselves into a series of picture tableaux. Later they were joined by both classes in a rhythmical dance of quiet poses. In the last pose all knelt with their heads toward the setting sun,—and the program was over.

The music was furnished by Mrs. I. H. Robinson, pianist; Emma Whipple, assistant; and A. Clark Blossom, violinist.

A repetition of the May Day Fete was held for the entertainment of the Ad Club convention, on the high school campus on May the twenty-fourth.

The girls in the Aesthetic Dancing classes have won a great deal of popularity through their beautiful dances, not only in Stockton, but in other cities as well.

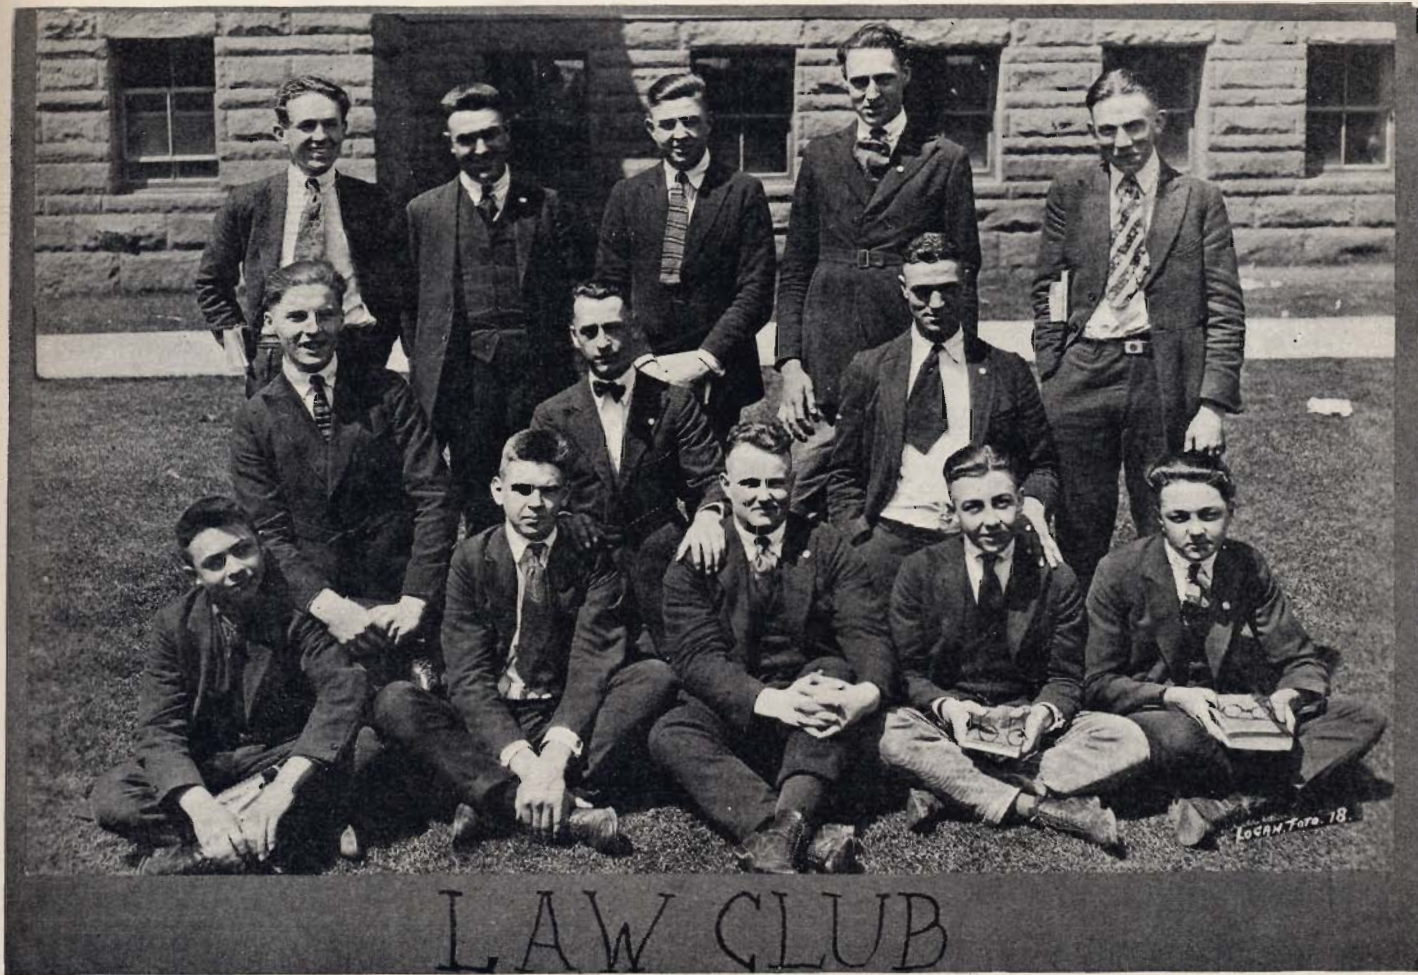

At the Rotary Club Convention in Oakland, April twenty-eighth, twelve of Miss Halwick's girls contributed to the programme which was held in the Oakland Auditorium. The "Roman Ball Dance" was danced by all, the "Scarf Dance" by Helen Moore and Catherine Oullahan, and "Spring Morn" by the entire group. The twelve were: Helen Moore, Catherine Oullahan, Ann Stone, Dorothy Dawson, Mildred Norcross, Alice Luke, Zeta Arbios, Ruth Zuckerman, Gladys Turner, Beryl Wellington, Sallie Smith, and Katherine Kerrick. Mrs. I. H. Robinson played for the dances.

In Sacramento on May twenty-second, the girls entertained at the Rotary Club Convention. "Spring Morn" was given by the entire group, "Summer" by Helen Moore, "Roman Ball Dance" by the group, and "Paul and Virginia" by Helen Moore and Gladys Turner.

At the Crysanthemum Carnival in the Stockton Auditorium last fall, Miss Halwick's girls were called upon to give a number for the entertainment. Three times during the school term the girls have portrayed the creations of Miss Halwick for the Philomathean Club. The Artist's Gavotte and Cameo were given at the Playground Festival on May twenty-sixth.

LAW CLUB

THE LAW CLUB

The last society to be organized during the year was the Law Club. At the first meeting about twenty-six students responded to the roll-call. Leonard Santini called the meeting to order and explained the purpose of the organization.

At the next meeting a constitution was adopted, and the following officers were elected: Darrell McLeod, president; Alfred Nelson, vice-president; Everett Prindle, secretary-treasurer; and Wallace Rohrbacher, custodian. A court room was planned for the trial of cases, and the following court officers elected: Leonard Santini, judge; Everett Prindle, clerk; Darrell McLeod and Alfred Nelson, prosecuting attorneys; and Martel Wilson, bailiff. A few mock cases were tried, and the society was gaining prominence, when athletics distracted most of the active members, and the organization existed only in name.

It is up to the few members who will return to school next year to see that the society is again made active, and its work one of the leading activities of the school.

A TRAVELING LATIN BOOK

In days of old,
When boys were smart,
There lived a lad
Named Johnny Hart.

And Johnny was
A Latin shark;
So in his book
He made his mark.

Since Johnny's time
(I hate to tell)
A few bad boys
Have done quite well.

My grades, you know,
Are ne'er a three,
For John's book now
Belongs to me.

As in years past,
In years to come,
May Johnny's book
Help some "dome" dumb.

THE STUDENT BODY CONVENTION

Elaborate entertainment for the seventy-seven delegates who attended the Fifth Annual Student Body Presidents' Convention was the feature of the three-day visit of the delegates at our school, beginning October 24, 1919. The delegates gathered in Stockton over the week-end represented schools from the entire state. Schools as far south as San Diego and as far north as Eureka sent representatives.

Throughout the week before the convention, the entire school was agog with anticipation of the coming event. And it was indeed a great event for Stockton High School, for it placed S. H. S. in the front rank of California high schools. On Thursday, the twenty-third, the first of the delegates began to arrive. By Thursday evening fully a third were here, and were being entertained at the homes of S. H. S. students.

Friday morning witnessed the real beginning of activities. Delegates had continued arriving throughout the night and early morning. At 9 o'clock the school assembled in the gymnasium to welcome the sixty delegates already here. President Leonard Santini welcomed them in the name of the school with a brilliant and stirring speech. Mr. Garrison then, in gracious manner, told the guests that it was an honor to the school to have them meet here. John J. Lynch of San Jose and Theodore Tarbox of Huntington Beach spoke in behalf of the assembled representatives. The as-ident; Lois Raggio, vice-president; Frances Ann Gummer, ssembly, which was enlivened by the band, was dismissed at the end of the first period, and the serious work of the convention began.

Among the plans and ideas discussed, were student government, honor societies, athletics, elections, and school publications. After a day and a half of discussion and speeches, the convention adopted six resolutions that every high school in the state was urged to put into effect. These resolutions dealt with membership in the association and maintained that pins for clubs in schools were an unnecessary expense, that all delegates should give a detailed report of the convention to their schools, that campaign speeches at school elections are beneficial, that only one representative will be allowed from each school, and that all high schools establish regular visitors' days. The next convention was awarded to Santa Ana High School.

The most notable feature of the convention, according to the visitors, was the remarkable hospitality shown by the students of Stockton High. The first social event was the banquet at Hotel Lincoln on Friday night. Among the speakers at the enjoyable affair were: Mayor A. C. Oullahan, J. P. Irish, Mr. Garrison, and Mr. Ellis, all of Stockton, —and Ted Tarbox, of Huntington Beach. Saturday night at the Country Club a pleasant dance in honor of the delegates wound up the program of the convention.

To the committee that arranged the affair and who worked so hard, the school is duly thankful. Foremost among the workers was Lester Cowley, who, as secretary of the student body, sent over three hundred letters and carried on correspondence with over one hundred schools for a period of three weeks. The rest of the committee were: Leonard Santini—president, Mr. Garrison, Mr. Ellis, Everett Prindle, Sherid Moran, Albert Monaco, Kenneth Harry, Eugene Palmer, William Wright, Josie Arbios, Frances Ann Gummer, Zelda Wolfe, and Alice Luke.

SENIOR PLAY

"Quality Street," one of J. M. Barrie's delightful plays, was presented by the senior class at the T. & D. Theater, June 7.

This charming drama was cleverly acted, and aroused the enthusiasm of a very large audience. As each member of the cast was exceptionally well fitted for the role he or she played, the result was a particularly artistic production.

The cast was as follows:

Phoebe Throssel.....	Frances Ann Gummer
Susan Throssel.....	Marcella Brownfield
Valentine Brown.....	Fred Evans
Miss Willoughby.....	Vivian Wriston
Fanny Willoughby.....	Dorothea Herring
Henrietta Turnbull.....	Norma Raggio
Ensign Blades.....	Joseph Dietrich
Lieutenant Spicer.....	Ralph Wentz
Harriet.....	Imelda Burke
Charlotte Parratt.....	Marion Buell
Patty.....	Marie Weiss
Old Soldier.....	Harold Shaffer
Isabella.....	Julia Dupont
Arthur Wellesley Thomson.....	Bruce Vazeille
Sergeant.....	Donald Gallagher

School Children—

Gertrude Atkinson, Gertrude Frazier, Gladys Turner, Russell Yost, Ira Herbert, Lorraine Ellsworth.

Dancers.....Jack Jordan, Bardo Silva

This cast had the efficient coaching of Miss Mosbacher and Miss Newby, the able direction of Mr. Toms, as faculty manager, and the assistance of Everett Prindle and Peter Todresic as student managers.

Through the kind courtesy of Mr. F. A. Gummer and McNeill and Company, choice and appropriate furnishings were provided for the attractive stage settings.

The entire production showed how successful a performance given by the Stockton High School can be.

SCHOOL EXHIBIT

On Friday, June 4, the annual exhibit of school work was held for the public.

Specimens of the work done in the commercial, free hand, and mechanical drawing classes, the auto and wood shops, the science, and the cooking departments were exhibited.

The entire school was thrown open from 7:30 until 9:30 p. m., and during that time a great crowd of people saw the exhibits. All were greatly pleased with the work and left with the feeling that practical work can be and is done in the high school.

ASSEMBLIES

Assemblies played an important role in the life of the school throughout the 1919-20 term. Several noted speakers appeared here. What proved very pleasing to the faculty, was the fact that after the first few assemblies the conduct of the students was extraordinarily good.

First Assembly

The first assembly was held Friday, September 19. The student body officers were formally introduced to the school by Leonard Santini.

Big Sing

A big community sing was held in the gym on Tuesday, September 23, under the leadership of Captain Stone of the War Camp Community Service. The students had a jolly time and hated to leave at the end of the period.

Girls' Associated Students

The girls met on Monday, October 19, to make plans for the year. Mrs. Minta spoke and several committees were appointed.

Boys' Assembly

On October 22, the boys of the school assembled to discuss the "housing" problem in connection with the big convention. Everyone was urged to try to have a delegate as his guest for three days.

Student Body Convention

On Friday morning, October 24, the entire school assembled to welcome the 75 visiting delegates of the Student Body Presidents' Convention. Mr. Garrison, John Lynch of San Jose, Theodore Tarbox of Huntington Beach, and Leonard Santini were the speakers.

School Rules

On November 19, Mr. Garrison gave an interesting talk to the boys of the school on school rules.

250 Mystery

A mystery called the "250 Mystery" was the incentive for an assembly on Tuesday, November 28, at which Mr. Toms was the main speaker. He said that the 250 meant dollars and that the school must get it in the contest which he announced. (The school got the money in two days.)

Heart Sales Assembly

On Thursday, November 20, Mrs. Kennedy, of the Children's Home Society of California, undertook a "Heart Sales" campaign to raise money for her work. She was heartily received by the students, both in spirit and financially.

Contest Prizes Awarded

A week after the "250 Assembly," Mr. Toms awarded the prizes, amidst the cheers of the students. An aeroplane ride, a big turkey, and six mince pies were awarded. It was a fine, lively assembly.
