

CLASSES

Senior History

Once upon a time,

* * *

Four years ago next fall,

* * *

The greatest class in the school's history

* * *

Entered its verdant existence as an exuberant gang.

No one would have believed that

* * *

Those creatures with the pea-green feathers

* * *

Could rise to those celestial heights

* * *

They occupy today.

When they nominated ten class presidents

* * *

And then elected June Woods,

* * *

With Charlotte Eckstrom, vice,

* * *

The conclusion was that

* * *

They were abnormal.

* * *

They managed to pass through

* * *

A year of ignorance and then

* * *

Emerged into their

* * *

Sophisticated year.

* * *

But when they held their election,

* * *

So many votes were thrown in for

* * *

Good measure that

The Executive Committee decided

* * *

That they should vote again.

* * *

This time Bart Lauffer and Dorothy Harper

* * *

Were the lucky ones.

* * *

And when the class

* * *

Realized they were

* * *

Juniors, they discovered

* * *

Several stars among themselves,—

* * *

Zent, Daly, Ray Stiles, Seifert,

* * *

Foster, Tumelty, Ford, Carr, Quinn,

* * *

Smith, and a mob of others.

Tom Quinn and "Torny" Williams

* * *

Were their leaders;

* * *

And, when they

* * *

Pulled the Junior-Senior Crawl,

* * *

It was the unanimous verdict

* * *

That it was the keenest ever.

* * *

So when they became

* * *

Seniors, they re-elected

* * *

T. B. Quinn and Florence,

* * *

Then agreed that

Their dignity was superb.
* * *
They adopted class lids and
* * *
Defended them against the
* * *
Onslaughts of the gory juniors.
* * *
They won the class fight.
* * *
One adviser section was original enough
* * *
To introduce the Teddy
* * *
Bear as senior mascot.
* * *
Their next accomplishments were

Winning the interclass track meet,
* * *
Putting over a spiffy senior picnic,
* * *
Then "The Tailor-Made Man."
* * *
This book is one of their last feats
* * *
So, if this isn't
* * *
Reason to call the class
* * *
Of '22 the finest yet,
* * *
Who knows what is?
* * *

I thank you.

Altior

When we have passed beyond these sheltering walls
That hold for us the memories of the year
And of three others spent in half felt fear
Of lingering o'er long in these dim halls,
And though, when we depart, scarce one recalls,
Without a passing shadow of regret,
Nor will we soon nor can we long forget
Our joy or grief at that which now befalls,—

Yet—put aside regrets and vain repining;
The future holds aloft a radiant star;
To each it has a different shape and size;
But it remains a goal and, constant shining,
Bids us to put aside each brace and bar,
And don at last the mantle of the wise.

—By Delbert Miller.

Seniors

THOMAS QUINN, President

"Tom" has nearly worked himself to death helping with and managing nearly every activity that has come along this last year. Besides being on a great number of committees, he has been junior president, senior president, 1922 basket ball manager, president of the Tennis Club, student manager of "Pinafore", and a member of The Honor Scholarship Society. Then he has debated successfully and won chief honors for the school in an oratorical contest. And, with all this and more, "T. B. Q." is a big husky looking animal.

FLORENCE WILLIAMS, Vice-President

Did you ever see a happy-go-lucky grin floating around the campus? If so, no doubt "Torny" was behind it. Nearly everybody in the school loves her, and she has made a success of her positions: such as, president of the French Club, vice-president for both her junior and senior classes, and secretary of this year's Student Control Committee. "Torny" says that she expects to go to work after she finishes school—just what work seems to be rather vague, but we predict that she will have an interesting career, whatever she does.

GORDON WALLACE, Treasurer

Did you ever in your life see such a little fellow with so many bright ideas? "Ted" will be forever remembered as the instigator of the famous and first S. H. S. yell book. He was the manager of this year's Big "S" Circus, helped create an interest in the senior "lids", and has been a good student as long as he has been here, "which, however", as little Bennie would say, "has not been long."

FRANCIS SMITH, Sergeant-at-Arms

"Ain't that crude?" says "Ye Scribe," and so it is if he didn't invent it. Oh say, but he's industrious! Why—he's been on all sorts of committees, on the G. & T. staff as a wit or special writer, spent two years each at football and pulling oars at crew practice. "The Admirable Crichton," "The Silver Lining," and the senior play were graced by his smiling countenance. But, would you think it? He wants to keep from women and be a professor.

EMMA ALFORD

Did you ever happen to be lucky enough to be invited to a candy pull when Emma was present? Well, you had better "pull all the strings" and bring about that enjoyment, for that is where "Toots" is in her prime. She doesn't know whether to go to the College of the Pacific when it comes, or to be truly a house-keeper. From personal experience, we advise the latter, as she is a great little cook.

ANNIE ASHLEY

Good old "Pat"! Did you ever see her when she did not have a collection of clever remarks to pass around to the crowd? She's been in three tennis tournaments and in the well-remembered girls' crew of four years ago, and listen, everyone —sh—! she won't tell what she's going to do after she leaves S. H. S. "Pat" is one with whom we hate to break connections, but we will have to say "good-by" with a smile—because she is "Pat".

LAWRENCE ASHLEY

Across is Lawrence Ashley, who is naturally dubbed "Duke." He was an active man on the S. H. S. track team this year, running the 440, high hurdles and relay. "Duke" can also sing, as we remember him in the Glee Club in 1920, and when he says "Absolutely" in his musical voice, "he simply knocks the girls dead" as the other fellows express it. "Duke" is planning to enter U. C. after leaving S. H. S.

Seniors

NEIL AUSTIN

"Cupid" never says the same thing twice. That might possibly get him into trouble some day, but we sincerely hope not. He is always "hangin' round" and is willing to help out wherever he can. Neil doesn't know what he wants to be, but we all know he helped the seniors win the cross country run; so he'll doubtless win a place in the race of life.

PEARL BAKER

That cheerful, smiling, blue-eyed girl is none other than Pearl Baker. Instead of working on committees, she has been making others happy by her sweet winning way during her high school days. She declares she is going to waste time until she is thirty, then find a rich bachelor and settle down. Oh Gee! (her expression) she doesn't know how she is going to waste time until then.

JAMES BERTHOLF

"Jimmie's" greatest claim to fame was his purple "cords". Other notable characteristics of the said "Jimmie" were his amiable disposition, personality, and self admitted "good looks". He did not take part in athletics but spent his spare time in developing the often lacking organ, commonly referred to as the brain. Last but not the well known least, friend "Jimmie" was a "mean stepper" on the also well known dance floor.

ELBERT BIDWELL

Across is Elbert Bidwell, better known as "Biddy." It seems unnatural not to see him fretting over his studies or his banjo. "Biddy" has taken an active interest in music during his stay in S. H. S., having played in the band and orchestra, and sung in "Pinafore." He is just as witty as his nickname suggests, and his jokes in this year's G. and T. have proven this fact, as has, also, the stunt that he planned for his adviser for the "Big S Circus." "Biddy" expects to continue his studies after leaving S. H. S., but just where, he has not yet decided.

AGNES BOBERG

Art! Art! And more Art! Agnes just radiates art. Doesn't she look just as a feminine artist should? Ever since "Bobby" came into prominence by drawing the best cut for the 1920 annual in her sophomore year, she has been bringing forth—with her pencil, pen and brush—posters, cuts, and various objects of artistic beauty. For instance, she is responsible for a number of the hand-somest cuts in this book, and she's going to draw pictures for magazines later!

MARIE BOREN

"My lands! I have been too busy to serve on committees", so says Marie Boren, one of our determined and ambitious classmates. Marie is preparing to go to San Jose Teachers' College to learn to be a kindergarten teacher. She finds time for other things besides study, however, for she loves to ride horseback and eat good food. We are sure that Marie will do well in her teaching, for she is patient and kind.

PAUL BOSTON

"Paulo" is one of the most genuine, persevering, and earnest of all our athletes, but he doesn't confine all his time to football, crew, and track. He certainly has a keen sense of humor. And his ambition is to be a doctor. The way he used to "treat 'em rough" in football kind makes one hesitate to call for his future professional services, though, when he becomes an M. D. at Los Angeles.

Seniors

OZRO BUCKMAN

"Ozzie" is very tall and manly! He's most business-like! You just ought to see him work in an orchard. He surely knows what to do. And wouldn't you like to know what kind of experimenting he's going to do? Ask him! Maybe it's electrical, though, because he's planning on being an electrical engineer.

LLOYD BURKE

"Poidie" sang in "Pinafore", in which he was able to show us how nice he will look in a uniform when he enters Annapolis to train as a naval officer. He was, also, a member of the S. H. S. state championship swimming team and of the second football team this year. "Poidie" gets a big "kick" out of saying, "Oh! Yeh!" just as if he did not understand a thing you are talking about. You have to put the spotlight on "Poidie", too, when it comes to dancing, because he can surely live up to his reputation as the "Dancing Kid"!

BESSIE BURTON

Bessie's name fits her perfectly—she is so very quiet and bashful. In fact, a little bird says that she spends a good deal of her time "hoping a man isn't looking at her" while she waits on the corner for Alice. But even so, Bessie is a wonderful cook, and her candy—Oh, man, it's too heavenly for expression! It seems kind of too bad for her to prepare at the San Jose Teacher's College to sprout the young idea, when she might be making "goodies" for some of us poor mortals.

ROBERTA BUSH

If you want a true blue pal, take "Bobby." She arrived here two years ago full of pep, and is still in the same condition. Remember the perfect boy in "Pucker Up and Whistle" at the September freshman reception, the "tallest of ladies" the year before, and the "niggah" in the last one? 'Twas "Bobby"! This year, when she hasn't been helping on the student control, or the G. & T. work, she's been talking either to G. D. or "Bobby" and "Margie".

ESTHER CARIGIET

"S" is that sparkling-eyed little girl with the smile that won't rub off. Angelina says she's "easy to get along with, amiable, and nice," and she certainly gives that impression to all who gaze upon that joyous countenance. Of course this happy disposition must give vent to music, and we found "Carrot's" blitheness displayed in both "Pinafore" and "The Pirates of Penzance."

ELETA CARLIN

Eleta Carlin is never seen without her tall partner, Kathryn Miley. Even when she finishes high school, she is going to stay with "Kat", for they will attend teachers' college together. This attractive little "miss" is very fond of both swimming and tennis. Well, "Kat", don't let Eleta eat too much rich food at Normal because you know her ambition is not to get fat.

HELEN CARLIN

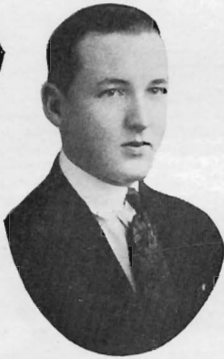

"My ambition is to dance my way into the heart of a rich bachelor." "Shrimp" informed us with decided seriousness, and she really means it. She certainly started well when she danced the hornpipe in Pinafore with "Ed," and the "Associated Girls" have enjoyed her varied characterizations. "Blondy" is just a charming temperamental, sentimental, excitable, good sport, always ready to laugh and never melancholy.

Seniors

ROBERT CARR

"Well—all right." We all know just what mood "Bob" is in by the length of time he leaves between the "well" and the "all right." He has had leading parts in ten S. H. S. dramas to his credit, won the G. A. R. prize in 1921 for the best oration, was a "four-minute speaker" for the Red Cross, long term editor of the 1921-1922 weekly and annual G. & T., member of a winning debating team, and earned thirty points one quarter in the Honor Scholarship Society. Besides all this, Bob came in on the finals of the 1921 Shakespearean Contest, the first time any one from Stockton had accomplished the feat.

ELMER CARROLL

Elmer is very fond of arguing and loves to give his opinions, which, by the way, usually show good judgment and are considered quite valuable. Elmer hails from Manteca, and we know that he will use some of his good judgment toward the welfare of his native town. Elmer is a good sport and is liked by all his classmates.

CLARENCE CLEMENSON

Oh, what a pal is "Clem"! Yes, and some ambition he has, too! He wants to tour the world with—, though he doesn't care to work, one of the necessities in the preparation for such a feat. But he's far from lazy! To prove this, just consider that he turned out for crew and football and was successful in both.

STELLA CRAWFORD

Our Stella is well known for her sunny, smiling face and her quiet, unassuming capability. She did very good work for the Guard and Tackle weekly the last year she was here. Since she graduated in February, she has been working in the office of the cannery. Stella was always noted for being one of the best in her class as far as scholarship is concerned. As for friends—they are all who know her.

EMILE CROSS

"Hello, Shorty!" Why, yes, that is Emile speaking with her infectious giggle—that giggle which made "Pinafore" practice a joy to a good many "sisters, cousins, and aunts." She "just loves" boating, horseback riding, dancing, skating, and expects to be a housewife! Says she has him all picked out, too! But "Slats" is just as impulsive, merry, carefree, and enthusiastic over everything as any girl who ever lived.

GILBERT CURTIS

Gilbert Curtis, the intellectual looking senior, has no nickname; so we will bestow upon him the non-de-plume of "Intelligence". "Intelligence" entered Stockton High School from San Leandro two years ago and proceeded to brighten S. H. S. with his unlimited supply of knowledge. Like all great men he has great ambitions, but then, contrary to all rules of the game, he hasn't quite decided what they are.

ORA CUTTS

Ora, although very dignified, is cheerful and friendly when you know her. The poor girl has been and is still searching for her ambition. She looks as if she would make a good stenographer or—a good house-keeper. If you are around Ora very long, you are sure to hear her say, "Oh, don't you think so?", or "Do I?"

Seniors

WILMA DAVEY

After hearing Wilma Davey's ambition and favorite expression, one immediately decides that she is anything but sedate. She wants to travel, to go to movies, and to dance. Besides "Will" loves to say, "Oh, Gwan!" She is always a good old pal. Her future is a dark secret, for when asked as to what she intended to do, she said, "I'll never tell."

PERCY DOLAN

Tennis! tennis! tennis! It seems as if that is all "Slick" thinks of from what he says and does. But 'tis not so. He believes in getting his lessons, because he's enrolled in the Honor Scholarship Society, and we all know he likes to dance. But he really does want to be a tennis "shark"; so—best of luck, Percy!

GARDINER DUFF

Writing up Gardiner is like opening a Christmas stocking—there are so many unexpected things within, which are not seen on the surface. First comes that "something" which makes him a good sport and "pal". Last year "Duffy" "shipped out" exchanges, this year he debated, and next year he'll probably go to U. C.

KENNETH DURAND

Have you noticed a quiet and dignified student treading the halls of S. H. S.? You have? Well, did you know that that personage and Kenneth Durand were one and the same? Did you know that Kenneth Durand inscribed his name in the hall of fame when he succeeded in obtaining a "1" from Miss Diment in U. S. History? "Kennie" is also a science "shark" and will doubtless some day attach "prof" to his cognomen.

CHARLOTTE ECKSTROM

"Eckie" expects to "make Art my life work," and we know she means it, every word! She thinks "Art" will force her to attend an "Art" school if "Art" will allow her. Oh Heck! To enumerate the things "Eckie" has done for and in Stockton High School would positively take volumes; so we will only mention the Student Control, Executive Committee, freshman reception, freshman vice-presidency, vice-presidency of the Associated Girls (1921), junior and senior representative. "Eckie's" chief characteristic is slowness! Yeh, slow as a snail.

ROY FARNSWORTH

Roy Farnsworth has made himself known for his record as an athlete and his talent as a musician. It was he last year who won the first place in the high jump. Roy has ably helped in many school functions with his trusty violin. Despite the fact that he is quiet by nature, he is quite sociable. Besides he is a good student.

ALFRED FISHER

A little red Ford bug, a big how-dy-do smile, and he himself,—all go to make "Al" a great favorite, especially among the boys. Shouting out over his loud "toot" in the band, his success in "The Pirates of Penzance," "The Admirable Crichton," and "Pinafore," is the fact that he has never had below a "2" in any subject. Al's always saying, "What're we gonna do t'night?" but he has deeper plans—to slip through Stanford and then own a planing mill.

Seniors

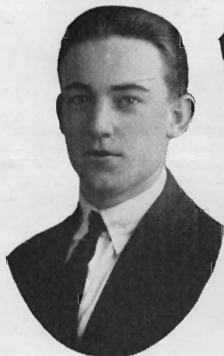

THELMA FITCH

Another February graduate is "Miss Fitch." One just has to call her that almost, for she is already a student in the San Jose Teachers' College and is even more dignified than she was when a senior in S. H. S. Thelma is an attractive blonde with the merriest of blue eyes and dispositions. Thelma will make a good teacher, we are sure, and the kiddies she trains will be lucky.

SCOTT FORD

"Scotty's an awful nice fellow!" Wonder who said that? Yes, he's not only nice but ambitious, too, for he wants to be a dentist. Don't you think Scotty made a cute sailor in Pinafore? Or do you think he made a better track captain? And he was on the Executive Committee this year, too! But, to make a long story short, he's surely a jolly comrade.

LEO FOSTER

Ha! behold Captain Corcoran of the "H. M. S. Pinafore". And he was a sailor before he became captain. Did you see him in the "Pirates of Penzance" and in the "Admirable Crichton," the "Work House Ward,"—and just oodles of other dramatic productions? He's planning to go to the University of Nevada, and we all wonder if he will be an actor some day.

DOROTHY FRAZIER

Dorothy is a very reserved, studious girl who intends to go to Teachers' College next year. And she certainly should be a good instructor, because many have said, "You could search from one end of the world to the other and not find a truer, better friend than Dot." Yet, how can the scribe say anything about her without mentioning what everybody must know and can see?

ROSE GABBART

Rose has loved music almost as well as does her little friend Irene, or "Little Buttercup," and that is probably one reason they are such good friends. Irene has looked quite lonesome at times since last February when Rose took her departure. Rose was a pleasant hard-working girl who had a personality which made people like her as soon as they met her. We believe Rose's pupils will like her as her friends do.

WILLIAM GAGEN

Bill Gagen can justly be called a good fellow. No matter what Bill becomes interested in, he puts his whole self into it. As a student, as a manager, as an athlete, and a friend, he is right there. The success of this year's G. & T. has greatly depended on his faithful work, while his playing on the varsity team did much to bring the state basket ball championship to Stockton. Such boys as he cannot help having a successful future.

JOSEPHYNE GAIA

Although "Jo" has not been with us for a very long time, we all know her and love her for her quiet, industrious ways. She was vice-president of the Honor Scholarship Society and also a "pusher" for the Latin Club. 'Twas she you saw in the Latin play, "The Departure of the Helvetians." "Jo" likes sports and that must be where she gets her complexion, but she has chosen inside work as her specialty, which is chemistry.

Seniors

MARJORIE GALLAGHER

Although "Margie" is a shy, bashful appearing little person, she is extremely good-hearted and really very jolly when you break through her reserve. She expects to go to teachers' college after she leaves S. H. S. and have a good time. Hope you do, "Margie."

LILY GANNON

"Oh, this is so sudden!", you are liable to hear "Muzzie" explode, and the facial expressions that accompany the explosion are enough to make even Elmorene giggle. "Muzzie" was in the famous "Pirates", the Glee Club, and the French Club, and she is a great little canary bird. Talk about neat, too—she is right there, and is almost too sweet-tempered to be true!

ABE GIRSH

"I can't say that anybody appreciates my wit," Abe declared. He always seems happy to do anything for anybody at any time. After taking a course in medicine at U. C., Abe will be able to use more of his power to help people so amiably. While he has been at S. H. S., he has made himself known by his bright mind, having belonged to the Honor Scholarship Society, been president of the Latin Club, vice-president of the French Club, and one of the committee to select this year's senior play.

ELMORENE GLASCOCK

"Snooky" likes to keep house and cook, but she tells us she will be a "stenog" after she leaves S. H. S. She's so tiny and quiet that one can hardly believe she has ever thought of doing anything more rash than pushing a little when waiting in line at the library for a "Muzzey."

EDITH GOULETTE

Although Edith has not been with us long, she has entered into everything with the spirit a senior should show. "Edie" is very studious, and it is said she can write very interesting and entertaining letters. She often answers her friends with "I'll say so" when they ask her questions. In a few years Edith will be saying, "Add two and two," or "Locate Copenhagen on the map," for her ambition is to teach school.

DOROTHY GRAEBE

"Dot" is fond of dancing and—well, there's no need to tell the name of the most famous athlete in the school. She is a person whom many people can not help liking, and in her four years here, she has won a host of friends. "Dot" is very fiery and argumentative, and "Christie" says, "She's always bawling me out"!

BERNICE GREY

In basketry after a "Pinafore" practice, "Shorty" and Emile just giggled, giggled, and kept everyone else in a happy mood. Bernice is naturally a gentle, sweet, low-voiced, little person who is thrilled by canoeing, music, reading, and dancing, and, although she hasn't decided what she'll do after graduating, she surely will go forth with the good wishes of her classmates.

Seniors

MARY HALL

"Gee, there's nothing serious that I want to do." "Shorty" gleefully declared when asked to be perfectly frank and tell honestly in what she liked to indulge. And that is "Shorty" to a T. In fact, the only thing serious she ever does is sleep, and then, one may safely wager a salted peanut that she dreams crazy dreams! Thinks she'll be a "stenog"; but upon further probing, she objected on the ground that questions were becoming "too personal".

RUTH HANDS

Say, who is that good-looking girl over there with the pretty blonde bob? Why, that's Ruth, the "little boy" in "Six Who Pass While the Lentils Boil". She is pretty good at dancing, too. Did you see her on May Day? She wants to go to U. C. next year, and when she finishes there, she expects to loaf. That's pretty good if you can "get by" with it, "Ruthie."

DOROTHY HARPER

"Dot"—that's she—quite small but active. She's been on oceans of committees, was vice-president of the sophomore class, junior representative, and student body vice-president. She likes to eat. Wonder if dainty food makes that wave in her hair. Maybe she'll work in the City Health Office as she wants to, but—we'll see!

LESLIE HARPER

Guess "Les" is to be principally remembered on account of his pink cheeks and happy disposition. He is a very good speaker, and, as he says he really enjoys voicing his own ideas in public, we are all expecting to hear a great deal of "Pest" hereafter. He ran for student body president last year, did a heap o' swimming, and debated some, too. His favorite pastimes are reading, swimming, and fishing (not to mention a few more exciting ones).

KATHRYN BURNS HARRIS

Talk about "ambish"! "Kataract" graduated from Stockton High in three years, took eight subjects during her senior year, drew up the Constitution of the Honor Scholarship Society, is on the Nominating, Social, and Administrative Committees of that society, helped on various other committees, and is right there when anyone suggests a good time. It's almost impossible to get friend "Kataract" angry or even "peeved", and she is going to make a wonderful modern housewife!!

HORACE HEACOCK

Horace will have to do many great things to live up to such a classic name. He has made a good start, for after a creditable four years spent in high school, he plans to enter U. C. and complete his life preparation. He has always been bright and conscientious in his work and could always be relied upon. Horace has also been noted for his gentlemanly and dignified manners.

DAISY HOLDEN

"Just ask Thelma and Melda; they can tell you all the terrible things about me," requested Daisy, but so much for the "terribleness". We can all judge from our experience all the nice things to say, for "Da" surely is cute. Seems almost too bad that she will be a steno, when she loves aesthetic dancing and anything athletic so much—but such is life.

Seniors

WILMA HUBBARD

Wim, dear old Wim! Were you ever in the blues or in a tight place? Wim would always pull you out, smooth your ruffled feathers, and tease a smile out with her eternal cheerfulness and good nature. In her freshman year, Wim distinguished herself among the students by winning the girls' championship cup for swimming. It's useless to say that her greatest joy comes from the various fields of athletics, and she is invariably a good sport.

EDNA HUGHES

Another rival of Fritz Kreisler is Edna. She has helped a great deal in many school affairs with her trusty violin. She has been enrolled as a commercial student since entering high school four years ago and has always been a bright and ambitious student. It is unnecessary to say that "Ed" would make a good office worker. With all this, she can not decide what she will do after graduating. Perhaps she has other plans!

ADENA HULTEEN

Quiet, reserved, bright, and capable are just a few of the adjectives which can be used in describing Adena Hulteen. Although Adena is a commercial student, she finds time for her pet hobby and really writes some very clever verses. Also her name appears continually on the Honor Scholarship list. In a little while we shall probably see her working as a private secretary in some large office, a position earned by her efficiency and reliability.

JEAN HUMPHRIES

Jean is that welcome young lady who is always able to present us with the glad news of when school is going to close, as her father is on the Board of Education. She is, in fact, her "Daddy's girl", according to the much abused "little birdie", and we never see Jean when she isn't smiling, smart, and clever. Remember her in Pinafore?

DOROTHY INGLIS

Dot of the sparkling eyes, good nature, and cheerfulness is planning to be a teacher of physical education, after taking a special course at Mills. While here, she has distinguished herself by her dancing, her brilliancy, both in the classroom and out, and her "Oooo"! Be sure to put the right inflection of the oo's.

MONA JACKSON

Remember Mona as the poor blind fiddler in "The Man Who Married a Dumb Wife"? She says she enjoys reading and drama, with a little basket ball every once in a while for variety, and, as she is quite studious appearing, it "sounds O. K." The San Francisco Normal is to be honored by her presence next year, and, as she belonged to the Honor Scholarship Society here, she will be welcomed there, no doubt.

LOREITA JOHNSON

Always a neat and attractive little person is Loreita. Everyone knows her through her work as office girl in the night school office last year. After finishing her work at S. H. S., she will probably go into office work entirely, and with her past experience, she is sure to make a valuable and efficient employee.

Seniors

YSABEL JOHNSON

Everyone takes a second look at Ysabel Johnson when passing by her, for the passer is immediately attracted by her neat and artistic appearance. That is the word, for "Izzie's" intentions are to be nothing more nor less than a real artist. "Yeah" (as she would say), "Izzie" also is fond of aesthetic dancing and basket ball and is very apt at both. Besides, Ysabel is always a jolly good sport.

BEULA JONES

"Beula is one of the nicest girls in this school," several of the teachers have remarked. Although she is studious, neat, and conscientious, she has a keen sense of humor, and has received straight "ones" in physical training. She is known by all her acquaintances as a very sweet, lovable girl.

WILBUR KELLING

"Bill" has been active in music during his high school career, having been a member of both the band and orchestra for four years. "Bill", whenever excited, yells out, "Shoot the works!" (meaning to blow up the school—!). He is planning to attend Davis Farm, after leaving S. H. S. and is thinking about becoming a dizzy motorcycle racer and starting a sensation by racing the plow around the field with skis on his motorcycle.

GEORGE KROECKEL

S. H. S. has a "Rudolph Valentino," too. Yes—it's George. Don't you think he's good looking? And he's equally jolly and not one bit serious. He says his ambition is to go on the stage (from here to Lodi) or on the railroad (counting ties). He likes to play billiards and aims to be "real clever" some day.

LOIS LACY

A true lover of music is Lois Lacy, one of our classmates who wishes to have music accompany her whole future. "Peggy", as she is called by her friends, is a quiet and business-like girl. Always obliging and respectful towards her teachers and friends, she is most pleasing to her associates. We hope that her life will be as serene and musical always as it has been during her high school days.

MARGARET LAFFATY

"Tee Hee", "Ha Ha", "Ho Ho", "Giggle Giggle"—that is the way Margaret is greeted whenever she comes in sight, and it is all on account of her being blessed with such a laughing last name. "Tee Hee's" disposition surely matches her name, too, because one might hunt the whole world over for a more jolly, good-natured person. Sh! She's telling people she is to be a school teacher, but "we'll tell the world" she'd make a better negro minstrel! Tee Hee!

PLACIDO LAGANAPAN

Coming from the far away Philippines to a strange land to finish his last year in high school was the unusual experience of Placido Laganapan, a native Filipino. Senor Placido, during his brief stay in Stockton High School, has made many good and true friends among his American cousins. He entered into the spirit of participating in school activities and was a member of the cast of "The Turtle Dove" presented by the Dramatic Workshop class.

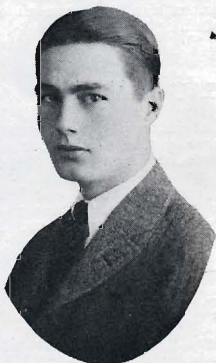

Seniors

Florence Larky

FLORENCE LARKY

Yes, sir! She really likes to sic little puppy dogs on chickens to tantalize her friends; and, tiny though she be, she is the chauffeur of her family. "Cricket" is to design dresses as a profession; so in a few years from now, the best dressed of us will be wearing some of the famous Larky creations.

BART LAUFFER

That boy with the fine complexion and dark eyes is our good-looking Bart. We almost lost him when he started to Davis, but he returned in time to graduate with us. Although Bart seems a little quiet, he is a great favorite with every one. He was president of the sophomore class, and besides being popular and good looking, Bart has a keen mind.

EVA LEWIS

"She certainly is clever in getting what she wants", sweetly murmured a little friend of hers, and we agree! "Rusty" is always smiling whenever one sees her, and she says she enjoys dancing or playing cards. We know she is a good sport to have near by. She expects to be a grammar school teacher, and she surely will make the youngsters mind, for there's force back of that beaming smile.

MARGARET LIESY

When we asked Ruth about "Mig", she was able to let out all the following in one breath: "She's dear, lovable, sweet, congenial, smart, and an all around good sport." And Ruthie is absolutely set in her opinion that "Mig's" favorite expression is: "Oh, Ruth, wait. Now, wait a minute!" (and incidentally, she's fond of confiding, "he's an awfully nice boy"). Margaret is planning to be a music teacher, after a good training in the Conservatory of Music of the College of the Pacific, and one of her calm and sweet disposition couldn't help being successful in her chosen work.

FRED LONIGAN

Fred is another senior who is noted for his studious habits! He is always so busy preparing to become an engineer that he can't find time for much of anything else. But once in a while he manages to squeeze in a little basket ball. He's planning on completing his education at Stanford University beginning next year.

RUTH LONSDALE

As almost every one knows, "Bluey" is not a "dig", though her marks seem to indicate it. It shouldn't be a bit difficult for her to pass teachers' "exams" and begin instructing the "lil' fellahs" in grammar school in a very short time. Besides being so brainy, Ruth is of such a good, carefree, and happy-go-lucky nature that one feels as though a breeze of spring is softly blowing whenever she is around.

HELEN McAFEE

One year ago Helen came to us from Santa Cruz. Since that time she has proved herself to be an addition to the class and an antidote for gloom. "Golly Wobbles" is right there when any one wants some help, whether "any one" refers to Miss M. U. Howell, some of "the gang", or a poor unsophisticated freshie. At the Pinafore party hardly any one would believe "Shorty" was a senior; she looked so young. And that's the way she always appears—freshly youthful, full of a youngster's fun, and always ready for anything.
