SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

A Dramatic Hit In Four Acts By '24

(Cast of characters in order of appearance.)

First year president, Tom Sloan; first year vice-president, Dorothy Dunne; first year secretary, Harold White; first year treasurer, Walter Meyers; second year president, Ed Libhart; second year vice-president, Beth Doane; second year secretary, Robert Morris; third year president, Ed Libhart (note: a great demand for a dual part for the above actor); third year vice-president, Grace Waltz; third year secretary, Charles Gagnon; fourth year president, Palmer Goldsberry; fourth year vice-president, Beth Doane (note: also popular in a dual role); fourth year secretary, Calhoun Reid; fourth year treasurer, Lana Root.

SYNOPSIS OF SCENES.

Act I. Tall, narrow, mysterious halls, appearing very spooky to green scum.

Act II. Dark, dismal, uninteresting halls, except when brightened by sophomore play, "Alice-Sit-by-the-Fire," and soph dances.

Act III. Bright, cheery, passage-ways used for the sole purpose of what they are not for, such as a refuge for the studious junior who cuts his dull classes.

Act IV. Tall, dignified hall implying the dignity of the worthy institution of learning.

Time: From 1920 to 1924.

Place: Good old S. H. S.

ACT I

At rise of green curtain green scum are seen tiptoeing down halls with a blank expression on their faces and fear in their eyes. They manage to step right on through from 1920 to 1921 without any bad effects, and later discover that it was the birth of the greatest S. H. S. organization. They are wearing knee pants, straw hats with elastics, and little waists with Peter Pan Collars, exceptionally becoming to Ed Mayall.

ACT II

With a self-satisfied and fearless air this little band gathers together in 1921. Feeling a little more certain of themselves, they stage a play, "Alice-Sit-by-the-Fire." It makes a big hit, and many stars begin to shine forth in all activities. After giving several successful dances, they begin to feel themselves capable of razzing the frosh.

ACT III

Enter 1922 with more dawning intelligence than before. '24's begin to show up their dignified elders. Earl McDonald goes through with a bang carrying first place honors for this gang in the extemporaneous contest. Big hit with junior-senior dance. Discover actor amongst them in person of Palmer Goldsberry.

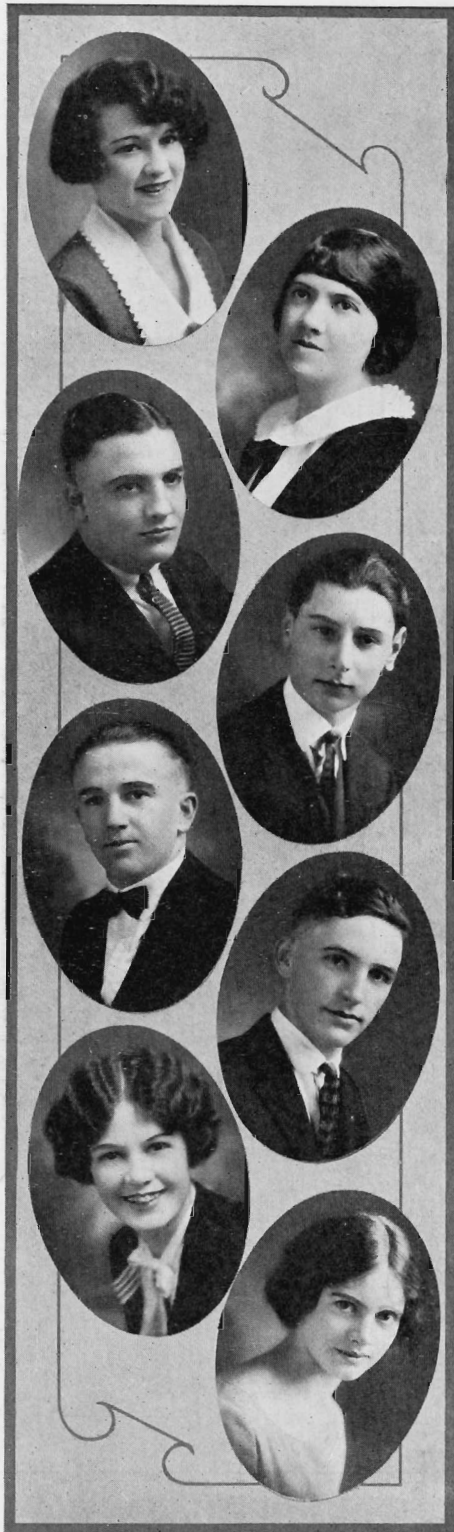

ACT IV

Curtain (this time a new burnt-orange curtain, price $813. Annual editor weeps copiously at rise.) Rises for last time, 1923-1924, on well behaved crowd of men and women. Many heroes shine forth. All-senior crawl big success. Ed Mayall and Clifton Frisbie garner in all honors for debating. Philip Cavalero carries seniors through with second place in Oratorical contest, first places in County and Central Constitution contests, third place in Northern Constitution contest, and third place in extemporaneous contest Souza proves athletic hero, and Joe P. Goldsberry doubles his repute as an actor when senior play, "Captain Applejack," is produced. Then this great class comes in for reflected glory when the G. & T. wins honors as best high school publication in California.

The $813 falls in 1924 closing the greatest four-year life of the greatest class ever graduated from S. H. S.
