Ex-Committees and Student Controls

THE Executive Committee is the division of our student government which does the financial worrying. This year the Board of Education decreed that it was not compulsory for students to buy Student Body cards, therefore the Ex-Committee put on a campaign to sell as many as possible, for this is one of the main sources of Student Body funds.

Twenty-eight Block "S" sweaters, two Managerial and Special "S" sweaters, and sixteen gold footballs were issued to the boys of the football squad.

The Ex-Committee brought several good programs to the school this year, such as Private Peat and The Stanford Glee Club. They also arranged for the presentation of the excellent play, "Abraham Lincoln." Last, but not least by any means, is the fact that $2,000 of the proceeds from the Stockton-Lodi football game was deposited in the Building and Loan Association last December, and only a small amount has been withdrawn since. All in all this committee has shown excellent judgment in the able manner in which it has performed its duties.

The Student Control is the Judicial Department of the student government, and sees to enforcing the laws for the entire student body. It is divided into two groups—the Girls' Control and the Boys' Control. Each group holds court every Monday, and all the offenders are summoned before them. The members of the controls discuss each case and decide the punishment for it. This plan works very successfully, for this year there were fewer offenses than ever before. The girls, however, are much more law abiding citizens than the boys. Except for one week they have maintained a good record throughout the entire year, while the boys' court has been positively flooded with law breakers this last semester. Nadine McCall was president of the girls' control, and Eugene Root of the boys' control the first semester, and David Carr the last semester.

Girls' Association

The Associated Girls of Stockton High will have their memories brim-full with the pleasant entertainments and worthwhile activities they have enjoyed as members of the Girls' Association in this last year. With Mary Louise Leistner serving as president, the girls co-operated in their work to solve any problems which arose.

Delegates to the convention of the Associated Girls held at San Mateo early in the year were Mary Louise Leistner and Evelyn Patterson. The Big Sister movement was again successful at the beginning of the semester. At the end of the year, the uniform dress problem was again discussed. The song leaders elected were Naoma Cotter and Marian Farrell.

There was variety of entertainment in the programs presented at the monthly meetings. Mrs. Elizabeth Price told the girls of the advantages of being a Camp-fire girl, and urged them to join the Camp-fire groups. A delightful program by the "toy orchestra," led by Miss Virginia Short of the music department, featured the Christmas program. In February there was a special program in honor of the mid-year graduates. Miss Butters gave an interesting talk on her motor-trip in France. Miss Dean Inge told of the benefits derived from a course in nursing.

In January, 1928, the Associated Girls felt a sincere loss in the death of Mrs. Mayne, who had been the girls' matron for many years. Mrs. Chestnutwood is the new matron.

The officers for the year were Mary Louise Leistner, president; Jean Graham, vice-president; and Naomi Libhart, secretary-treasurer. The various committees, who worked hard to make the year a successful one, were: Entertainment—Miss Ungersma and Miss C. Humbarger (advisers), Mary Lou White (chairman), Harriet Crane, Rowena Wright, Margaret Thompson, Lillian Robinson, and Helen Reams; Publicity—Miss Turner (adviser), Dorothy Harrigan (chairman), Jean Clarke, and Doris Foster; Athletic—Mrs. May (adviser), Jeanette Wheeler (chairman), and the executive committee of the G. A. A.; Social Service—Miss Hawkins (adviser), and the members of the Mary Minta club; Finance—Miss McInnes (adviser), Margaret Spooner (chairman), Naoma Libhart, Rubye Campodonico, Barbara Jones, Elizabeth Humphreys, and Myrtle Conwell; Rooms—Mrs. Chestnutwood (adviser), Carmelita Armburst (chairman), Alice Baker, Adele McLiesh, Jean Waite, and Bessie Anderson; Absence—Miss Robbins (adviser), Audrey Glover (chairman), Hannah Rose Gartner, Margaret Van de Venter, Helen Harrison, and Geraldine Hammett; Scrap Book—Miss Montgomery (adviser), Ruth Buckman (chairman), Helen Hansen, and Rose Ah Tye.

Honor Scholarship Society

HONOR Scholarship Society plays an important role in the high school life of every good student. "Success in school is closely related to success in life," said principal W. Fred Ellis at the assembly in April, 1928, at which more than seventy scholarship certificates were awarded to students who had maintained membership in the Honor Scholarship Society for four consecutive quarters in the periods from September, 1926 to June, 1927, and February 1927 to February 1928.

The membership roll of the Honor Scholarship Society increased each quarter, reaching a total of one hundred eighty-eight members at the end of the third quarter, or about seven and one-half percent of the total school enrollment. In the first quarter Marion Moreing headed the list with twenty points; Curtis Clark starred with twenty-two points in the second quarter, and Marion Moreing again led the list in the third quarter.

The stellar students for the first three quarters are Rubye Campodonico, 57 points, Marion Moreing, 57 points, Helen Shephard, 54 points, Curtis Clark, 53½ points, Kenneth McIntyre, 49 points, Henry Silvan, 49 points, Eugene Foppiano, 48 points, and Helen Pulas, 47 points.

During the first quarter, Miss Mary E. McGlothlin, faculty advisor of the Honor Scholarship Society, was elected treasurer of the state Scholarship Federation at the California Scholarship Federation meeting in Long Beach.

The delegates to the convention of the California Scholarship Federation, held in Sacramento on April 28, 1928, were Nadine McCall, (official delegate), George McNoble, David Ritchie, Ethel Royner, Donald Stanford, Helen Shepherd, Marian Williams and Curtis Clark.

The officers of the Honor Scholarship Society for the first semester were Nadine McCall, president; Kenneth McIntyre, vice-president; and Marian Williams, secretary-treasurer. For the second semester they were Nadine McCall, president; Marian Williams, vice-president; and Marian Moreing, secretary-treasurer.

"The Crucifixion"

Music

THE "Crucifixion," the all-Schubert Program, and the Public School Week Program were the major achievements of the music department of Stockton High School this year. These three productions, embodying all the branches of the department—the band, orchestra, choral class, boys' and girls' string quartets, male quartet, and girls' sextette, were truly representative of the music students' talent and of the expert instruction of Mr. Frank Thornton Smith, Miss Virginia Short, and Mr. Andrew C. Blossom.

The "Crucifixion," a Lenten season pageant by John Stainer, was one of the most tremendous undertakings ever attempted by a high school music department. It drew a larger audience than any other music program of the year. The success of the production and the reaction of the public were so favorable that a Lenten season production is to be made a yearly event. The production consisted of a chorus of 175 voices, seven soloists, and a seventeen-piece orchestra. The soloists were Walter Brignoli, Austin Coggin, Walter Eisenhart, Scott Hardester, John Smalley, Claude Ward, and Gilbert Edgar. The members of the orchestra were Miss Short, Mr. Blossom, Ralph Matesky, John Foppiano, Manual Kauffman, Jack Peterson, Frances Fogerty, June Curtis, Sarah Shuster, Thalia Kessing, Frances Sheldon, Virl Swan, Harold Carlson, Luther Renfro, Harold Winder, Marian Eldred, and Clarice Westphal.

This year has been an active one from start to finish for all branches of the department. Football season found the band livening all rallies and games. Through the efforts of the Stockton Chamber of Commerce the band accompanied the team to Bakersfield. The orchestra has always furnished music for plays and participated in other programs. A number of students from the choral department assisted in the production of the "Messiah" by the College of the Pacific. The male quartet, composed of Cyril Smith, Walter Brignoli, Claude Ward, and Walter Eisenhart, has had its usual full year furnishing music for school assemblies, programs, and banquets and meetings of organizations like the Lions' Club, Rotary Club, Exchange Club, Masonic Lodge, and Hi-Y Club. The girls' sextette has livened rallies and programs with their songs. They have also sung for the High Twelve Club and have participated in the All-Schubert and the February Class Day programs. The members of the sextette are Ruth Tuttle, Rowena Wright, Irma Davidson, Hazel Livoni, Rosamond Coddington, and Betty Robie.

MALE QUARTET

Music Club

Although the boys' string quartet and the girls' string ensemble were organized the second semester, they have had their share of activities. The two quartets made their debut on the evening of the Freshman-Sophomore Oral English contest. The boys' string quartet and the girls' violin quartet participated in the All-Schubert program. The girls' string quartet played for the Open House program and at the Music Club mothers' tea. The boys have played at the First Christian Church and for Commencement. The two quartets also formed the backbone of the orchestra that played in the "Crucifixion."

More honors were won when four students, Ralph Matesky, Manual Kaufman, Viri Swan, and Harold Winder, traveled to Fresno to participate in the Central California high school orchestra. It certainly has been a banner year for the music department, and wherever the students have performed they have always done credit to themselves, their teachers, and their school.

A Rainbow

The skies were leaden,
 But through the gray
 Came a rainbow;
 It shot a glorious arch of sun,
 A tri-colored ribbon,
 Orange, blue, and green.
 I watched it grow bright
 And then die, a beautiful mist;
 It faded back into the gray.

Language Clubs

PROGRAMS given by the Latin, French, Spanish and Italian clubs during the last year were somewhat varied. A very amusing play, "Le voyage de M. Perrichon," was presented by Miss Lukes' and Miss Heggie's second and third year students at the meeting on March 14.

Michael Matsushima took the part of the distracted father who was taking his daughter Henrietta (Ellenor Gonyou) to Switzerland to further her education. Betty Price took the part of Madame Perrichon, the mother of Henrietta. At the station M. Perrichon was very much annoyed by the presence of Daniel (De Witt Page) and Armand (Richard Dickenson), sweethearts of Henriette. James Turner took the part of L'Employe, or ticket agent, while Ernest Simard and John Espinol portrayed the parts of Le Facteur and Marjorin, respectively.

On December 7, the students enjoyed motion pictures, "When Fishing Fleets Come Home." The officers of "L'Amicale Francaise" for this semester were president, Marian Moreing; vice-president, Jack Roberts; secretary, Jacquelyn Waite; treasurer, Helen Beecher; sergeant-at-arms, Bob Cahn. Jean Turner succeeded Helen Beecher in February.

"Conventus Latinus" held many meetings which were of great interest to the students. Interesting stories were related by Miss Anne Marie Bach of her trip to Europe. At the first meeting she told of the customs and ways of transportation in the countries which she visited. At this same meeting Jack Hancock was elected president; Marian Davidson, vice-president; Harold Ulrici, secretary-treasurer; and Billy Farrel, sergeant-at-arms. The second year students under Miss Lillian Williams' supervision gave a fashion show on November 3. Motion pictures, "Classic Greece" and "Vagabond in Italy," were shown on December 1. One of the most interesting meetings was held on January 12, when Miss Bach's class presented two short Latin plays, "Roman School" and "Roman Boy and Two Friends."

"Saccus Malorum," or "A Bag of Apples," was the program which welcomed the new students into the club at the first meeting of the second term, which was held February 14. There was no club picnic this year.

French Club

Spanish Club—Girls

Movies showing Spanish holiday celebrations and travel pictures showing customs, dress and fiesta days, were shown at the different meetings of the Spanish Club. Adeline Alcalde, a Spanish student, sang and played some very unique numbers at the meeting on December 1. A beautiful Christmas tree adorned the assembly hall at the last meeting before the holidays. At the meeting on March 15, Orlando Verme, a student who had just come from Peru to study English here, gave a fifteen minute talk in Spanish, illustrated by pictures of Peru and vicinity.

Miss Adeline A. Selna was the speaker at the meeting on January 4. Miss Selna traveled extensively through Mexico last summer, where she collected many articles of clothing and other things which were of great interest to the students. The officers of "El Casino Espanol" for this term were, president, Helen Shepard; vice-president, Jack Peterson; secretary, Mary Ward; treasurer, John Smalley; sergeant-at-arms, Joe Wells.

Many interesting programs were given by members of "Pro Cultura Italiana" during the last year. At the meeting held on October 12 Lawrence Bruzzone was elected president; Jean Graham vice-president, Rubye Campodonico secretary-treasurer, and Dante Pedrini sergeant-at-arms. The new officers each gave a short speech in Italian. "Pro Cultura Italiana" is sponsored by Mr. Louis Vannuccini.

Dr. Craviatto spoke on "Florentine Culture Throughout the World" at the meeting

Spanish Club—Boys

Italian Club

on November 9. Flavio Flavius, prominent Italian newspaperman, gave a very interesting talk at the first meeting of the new year. Mr. Flavius told the students about the characteristics of our country and prominent position held by Italy in art, music, literature and sculpture.

The club picnic was held May 26 at Twain Harte Lodge. Thus ended the activities of members of the Italian Club for the year 1928.

German Play

Although there is no German Club, every year the students, under the direction of Miss A. M. Bach, give a German play, inviting all members of other language clubs.

This year the class chose "Karl hat Zahnschmerzen," or "Charles has a Toothache," as their play. The characters chosen for this play were as follows: John Hawkes as Karl; Jean Turner as Mine; Dorothy Pfeiffer as Emma; Fern Rommel as Fraulein Adelheid; Elsie Betcher as Frau Grunert, a cook; George Jacobsen as Herr Krause, a homeopathic doctor; Franklin Malloy as Johann, a friend; the part of the dentist, Ernest Rowe. A synopsis of the play in English was given by Evelyn Fredrickson. With the success of last year's play, everyone was interested in the play this year, and many students claimed that this play surpassed that of last year.

Latin Club

Girls' Science Club

Science Clubs

THE Philopseyan Club, or girls' science club, had the most active year of all the science clubs. At the first meeting the members started by the presentation of a play, written by Mary Benschoter. Miss Hilda Schneider, of the San Joaquin Board of Health, gave a talk on first aid, at another meeting of the club. The officers for the year were Harriet Fredericks, president; Elmira Edwards, vice-president; Ethel Clancy, secretary-treasurer.

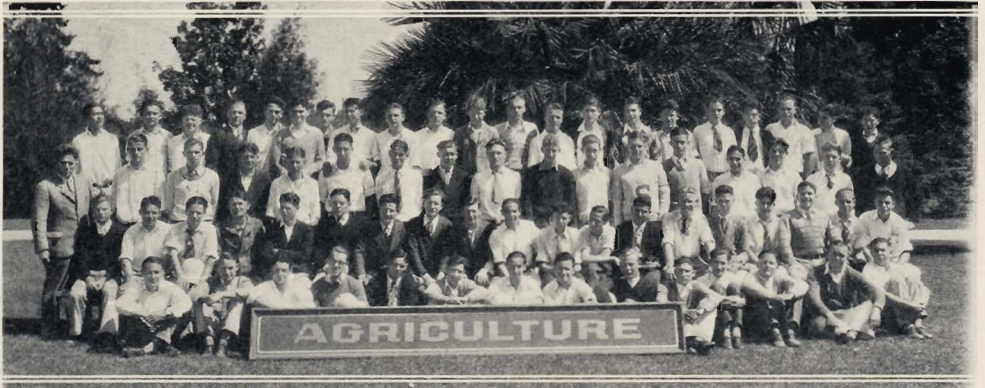

The Boys' Science Club was reorganized this year by Bob Aungst, Leslie Drury, Harold Carter, Warren Pugh, Knox Borden and Don West. Dr. John J. Sippy of the San Joaquin local health district, spoke at a joint meeting of the boys' science clubs. The officers for the year were Don West, president; Knox Borden, vice-president; Ted Ohashi, secretary; Leslie Drury, treasurer; James Snook, sergeant-at-arms. H. J. Snook, science teacher, was faculty adviser.

A series of talks on electricity were given by J. C. Corbett, head of the physics department, at several meetings of the Radio Club during the past year. Two of the members of the club, Laurie Willette and Russell Bennett, are transmitting amateurs. Laurie Willette was the president, Russell Bennett was vice-president, and Stiles Martin was secretary-treasurer.

Boys' Science Club

Agriculture Club

The Agricultural Club was fortunate this year in securing speakers for the meetings, which were held once a month. Dr. Locke, of Lockeford, spoke on "Dogs" at the March meeting. The doctor's dog "Pat" assisted by performing several of his "fifty-three tricks." W. C. Fleming, San Joaquin assistant farm adviser, spoke on the conditions of county and school agriculture departments. Lewis Fox, member of the local chamber of commerce, spoke on the conditions of the potato and grape industries in the local area. Dr. Asa Clark, local dog fancier, spoke on the care and feeding of pets. The officers of the club for the past year were Leslie Gray, president; Bernard Cassidy, vice-president; Curtis Clark, secretary-treasurer.

The new Aviation Club was added to the list of science clubs this year when several of the vocational boys had a great desire to learn the practical construction of airplane models. The club met on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, at 3:05 for one hour. Maurice Dale Taylor of the commercial department, was the instructor and faculty advisor of the club. Each boy in the club has a complete kit from which he could make several model airplanes. Ernest Taylor completed an eight inch plane that was considered very small to have all the details of the larger planes. A contest was held in the latter part of May to arouse interest in model-plane construction.

Thus it can be seen that the year 1927-28 was probably the most active year that the science clubs, as a group, have ever experienced.

Radio Club

Press Club

ON October 5, 1927, about twenty young journalism aspirants met to elect officers for the semester. At this time Franklin Malloy was elected president; Robert Aungst, vice president; Jeanice McCall, secretary-treasurer; and John Foppiano sergeant-at-arms. The club, on November 2, decided to have either pins or rings by which members of the club could be distinguished. After much discussion it was decided to have pins. The pins were made in the form of a shield with the inscription "Press Club."

At the last meeting of the old year the club had its largest meeting of the whole year. The print shop boys were in charge, and surely gave the members a good program. Emmitt McCombs recited "The Pikey Printer," while the cast of "Getting the Copy Into Print" were putting on their finishing touches. The cast of the skit was as follows: Editor, James Luly; Printer, Walter Cade; Misspelled Words, Joe Tersheshy; Dim Copy, Blendon McCarty; Big Sheet Copy, Fred Lovotti; Corrected Proof, Edwin Langdon; Late Copy (Lodi-Stockton football game), Vernon Altree; Scholarship List, Jefferson Drais.

On January 18 about thirty-five assembled for the annual Press Club banquet. Flavio Flavius, guest of honor, told of the younger generation's place and opportunities in journalism in the world. Jeanice McCall, the editor for next semester, announced her staff at the banquet. Officers of the club for the second semester were Jeanice McCall, president; Robert Aungst, vice president; James Luly, secretary-treasurer.

Pan-Pacific Club

ELECTION of officers took up the time of the Pan Pacific Club members at the meeting held on October 26. At this time the following officers were elected to preside over the club for the semester: president, DeWitt Page; vice-president, Wilbur Krenz; secretary-treasurer, Ellenora Gonyou; and Sam Peters, sergeant-at-arms. At this same meeting Rev. Hugh Vernon White spoke on "Hawaii." Mr. White had lived in Hawaii for three and one-half years, and for this reason he was able to give an excellent history of the Hawaiian Islands.

On January 11, the club members met to elect officers for the second semester. At this time Robert Patterson was elected president; Nadine Keller, vice-president; and Ellenora Gonyou and Sam Peters were re-elected to the offices of secretary-treasurer and sergeant-at-arms respectively.

A play written by Robert Patterson, entitled "A Man," was acted out at the meeting held on May 9 under the supervision of Miss Ida Green, oral expression teacher. All the students claim that this was a good play and that some day we might know Robert Patterson, president of the Pan Pacific club, as a playwright.

Literary Club

AS the old constitution did not fit the needs of the new Literary Club this year, an entirely new one was drawn up, allowing English students of all four years to become members instead of only juniors and seniors, as was the policy in bygone years.

The main activity of the club for this year was the compiling of a "Literary Scrap Book." This book contained the pictures and writings of some of the noted authors, such as Mary Roberts Rinehart, Edna Ferber, Christopher Morley, and Rudyard Kipling.

At one of the meetings character sketches were portrayed by several members of the club. In this way the club members became better acquainted with "Rip Van Winkle," "The Man Without a Country," "Uncle Tom's Cabin," and other books and characters. A reserve shelf was placed in the school library for the use of students in the Literary Club, where the best books were selected by Miss E. Humbargar and reserved for the members to read and discuss at the meetings.

As the club was not reorganized until the latter part of the first semester, those officers who were elected served until June. Those who served were Hubert Chain, president; Ruth Garden, vice-president; Ethel Mae Ward, secretary; and Harold Ulrici, sergeant-at-arms. Miss E. Humbargar was faculty adviser.

Comercial Club

AS the Commercial Club was anxious to do something for Stockton High School, they took the name of "Junior Chamber of Commerce" so that they could be of service to the school, just as the city chamber of commerce is of service to the community. In connection with this feature, Mr. A. M. Robertson, secretary of the local chamber, spoke to the club at one of the first meetings. He told of the activities of the Stockton Chamber of Commerce and commented on the fact that there was a junior chamber in the high school with the same motto as that of the adult club—"Service."

At the end of the first semester, Miss Olsen's 12A girls' adviser section presented to Miss Coleman's 10A section a pennant for the best scholarship record in the commercial club.

The Commercial Department scored two victories this year when it nominated and elected Curtis Clark student body president and David Carr second vice-president. It also won a name by having Stanley Dinkel, captain of the state championship basketball team, as its native son.

The officers for the year were Curtis Clark, president; Harold Ferguson, vice-president; Leslie Gray, secretary; Tony Delucci, sergeant-at-arms.

Social Service

CARRYING out its ideal of service to others, the Social Service Club has completed another successful year. Social service work and relief for the poor have interested the girls of this club to the extent that they have restricted the membership. Only girls who show an active interest in welfare work are enrolled.

Several projects have been accomplished this year by the Social Service girls. Boxes of clothing and food were sent to the Indian Reservation at Humboldt, Nevada, at Christmas time. Every two weeks a group of girls visited the Day Nursery, taking refreshments for the children, and devoting their time to teaching the children games. The club also aided other organizations, such as the Red Cross, in welfare work.

There have been a number of interesting speeches at the monthly meetings. Dr. Dameron gave an educational talk, "The Crippled Child," discussing the problems of making life easier for the crippled children, and telling how every advanced organization works for their benefit. The organization of the work for the Community Chest was explained by the Reverend Hugh V. White, who showed that charity work must be carried on in an efficient manner to reach its aim.

Officers of the club were Mary O'Brien, president; Maebern Hansen, vice-president; and Eleanor Coffelt, secretary-treasurer. Miss Emma Hawkings is faculty adviser of the club, which has about twenty-five members.

Chinese Club

WITH the approval of W. Fred Ellis, principal of Stockton High School, a group of Chinese students met to form a club. The purpose of the club is chiefly to promote better understanding and friendship among the Chinese students and to help each student to become acquainted with the school. Programs of the various meetings consisted of speeches by Ben H. Lewis, sponsor of the club; T. C. Leung, instructor at the local Chinese Association School; and Frank Fung, a student of the College of the Pacific.

The outstanding event of the calendar for the Chinese Club since its organization last February was a social given on the nineteenth of May in conjunction with the Chinese Club of the College of the Pacific. Dr. Webster, a professor at the college, gave a very interesting talk on the topic of China. Vocal and piano numbers, readings and stunts, initiation of members and other varieties of entertainment concluded the program that brought together the members of the two clubs.

At one of the early meetings the members elected Harry L. Chinn, president; William Wong, vice-president; and Dorothy Ah Tye, secretary. The constitution of the club provided for an advisory board consisting of five members including the vice-president and the secretary; the other members were Carl Wong, Annette Yick, and Young Wong.

From the invalids at Bremerton Naval Hospital to the native children of Guam has extended the service and good work of the Junior Red Cross of Stockton High School. The outstanding event of the year was the vodvil show given to replenish the treasury. This program cleared one hundred and ninety dollars, which is to be used for next year's service fund.

Eighty Christmas boxes were sent to the children of Guam, and fifty-five local needy families were aided at Christmas. Other contributions of the organization were twenty-five dollars to Bremerton Naval Hospital at Seattle, Washington, and twenty-five dollars to the U. S. Veteran's Hospital at Whipple Barracks, Arizona. This made the ninth consecutive year that the students have assisted the soldiers at Whipple Barracks.

In addition to the work done by the local chapter, the National Junior Red Cross sends each year contributions varying from $1000 to $12,000 to many European nations for the purpose of maintaining schools, playgrounds, and for the awarding of scholarships. Arthur B. Dunn, who was National Director, has been succeeded by H. B. Wilson, formerly superintendent of Berkeley schools. The officers of the Stockton Junior Red Cross are Eleanor Coffelt, chairman; Emmitt McCombs, secretary-treasurer; and Miss Alice McInnes, faculty adviser.

Although the purpose of the society is to assist people who are in need, Miss McInnes states that one of the main objectives is to form an international league of children in service for others, and in this manner create a love for each other in the hearts of the children, which will, in time, bring about world peace.

HI-Y

Hi-Y Club

STOCKTON'S Hi-Y Club has just completed a very successful year that was filled to the brim with conferences, conventions, entertainments, and bits of service.

The fifth annual football banquet was held on January 18, with Professor Eisen as the speaker, talking on the "Evolution of Football." Dr. Dewey R. Powell spoke on his European trip, at the father and son banquet, which was held in October. The Older Boys' Conference of Northern California, which was held in Stockton in January 1927, was this year held in Berkeley on December 2-4. Stockton sent eighteen delegates to the conference, the theme of which was "The Quest To See Jesus." The Hi-Y Club also sent delegates to the Older Boys' Training Camp at Montezuma, which was held during the week after Christmas.

Dr. John J. Sippy, Prof. G. A. Werner, and Rev. C. A. Carr were among the speakers at the different meetings throughout the year. The Second Annual Boys' Hobby Fair was held on May 18 and 19. Eugene Root was president of the Board of Directors, with Charles Satterlee as vice-president, Michael Matsushima, as secretary, and Herold Ulrici, as treasurer.

Seven delegates from the Stockton Hi-Y Club were sent to the conference in Yosemite Valley, which was held April 2-5. Sixty boys attended this conference, Stockton, Sacramento, Woodland, Turlock, Salinas, and Modesto being represented. The Hi-Y sponsored the Williams Colored Singers," who came to the high school auditorium on January 30. The plays which the Club presented to the school late in the spring were "His Second Girl" and "The Burglars."

A Boys' Glee Club was formed in the Hi-Y this year, with Jake Jacoby, College of Pacific student, as its leader. Twenty members of the club took part in the program put on by the Y. M. C. A. at the Central Methodist Church in March.

Clarke Briggs was the delegate from the California Hi-Y's in the World Brotherhood tour through Europe last summer. A similar tour will be made this year to the Orient. Stockton Hi-Y will send Howard Hammond and Jack Hancock on this tour.

The officers of the club for the first semester were Eugene Root, president; Horace Parsons, vice-president; Robert Houston, secretary; Ted Ohashi, treasurer; and Bob Aungst, sergeant-at-arms. Officers for the second semester were Tully Knoles, president; Ted Ohashi, vice-president; Bill Morris, treasurer; Harold Ulrici, secretary; Arnold Paul, sergeant-at-arms.
