This current season goes down in the ledger among the most brilliant years in Stockton High School's sport archives. Although the Blues dropped verdicts in football to both of their traditional foes, the Sacramento Senators and the Lodi Flames, for next season Coaches McKay and Solomon have practically a veteran team back, and the prospects are bright for one of the most formidable grid machines in the history of the school.

The Tarzans failed to annex the coveted Northern California championship in basketball, but this may largely be attributed to the strenuous siege of games prior to the vital contest with Auburn, which encounter they dropped after a commanding led at the intermission. As usual, the Lenzman captured the title of the sub-league by defeating Sacramento in a play-off match.

The phenomenal improvement of the Blues in track is borne out by the fact that they qualified five men for the State meet at Berkeley, as compared to a lone representative the previous year. Stockton dropped but one dual meet during the season—that being to the Turlock Bulldogs by a four-point margin. The Lodi Flames fell before the Blues by a 90 to 32 score. In the Northern California meet at Modesto, the Tarzans placed fourth. Harper placed fourth in 880 at the State meet.

"Pete" Lenz

When this book went to press, the Tarzan splashers had already chalked up victories over Sacramento, Palo Alto, Redwood City, and Lodi, and were riding the crest of a wave which seemed destined to carry them to another Northern California championship. The Blue tennis team, under the tutelage of Dan McClain, came through a banner year, winning seven games and losing one. The game lost was revenged later in the season. Golf was inaugurated this year and the Tarzan birdie chasers proceeded to chalk up victories over Turlock, Sacramento, and Lodi and sent two men to the Northern California finals at Sacramento, where Stockton placed second.

Football Summary

THE record for the Stockton Tarzan football team for the 1929 season was fairly successful. The Blues suffered four defeats out of nine games played, and one scoreless tie. The Tarzan squad scored 104 points to their opponents' 62. The team opened the football season with an easy victory over the Alumni, by piling up a 38 to 0 score before the game was over. Some of the Tarzan men on the 1928 team were playing against their Alma Mater. Louie De Martini, Norval Hammet, Richard Clay, and Ike McCoy were among those who opposed the Blues.

About three weeks after the beginning of football practice, the Tarzans took on one of the most powerful teams in the bay region, the San Francisco Polytechnical High School. This team had cleaned up by a large score every school that it played. After a hard game, the Tarzans were on the small end of a 13 to 0 count. Feeling the sting of defeat and thirsty for a victory, the Tarzans had very little trouble in mopping up the Preston squad by the score of 33 to 6. This was an easy game for the Blues, because they were matched against a lighter eleven. Although the locals piled up a large score, the visitors fooled the Stockton team on many reverse plays.

Next on "Pete's" wonder schedule was a game with the strong Modesto Panthers. This was the first C. I. F. game of the season, and proved to be one of the most exciting. It was not until the second half that Stockton was able to score. The game ended with the Tarzans on the long end of a 7 to 0 score. Between halves, the Tarzan thinclad team ran away from the Panthers in a relay contest. After the Modesto game, Coaches McKay and Solomon started work in earnest and drilled the Tarzans hard for the next game with the "Cal-Aggie" Frosh. The farmer boys were all large and experienced, but when the final gun went off, the game stood a scoreless tie. The Tarzans seemed to lack the old scoring punch when the ball was near the opponents' goal line. Although the big boys from Davis did not have enough punch to put the ball across, they had many clever plays. The next game was with the College of Pacific freshmen. The Tarzans were doped to win an easy game, but the dope bucket was upset and the Blues lost by the score of 16 to 7. It was an off day for the boys, because they were throwing passes that were intercepted by Pacific men; they fumbled and were unable to recover the pigskin, and the push at the line was very weak. Pacific's men were light and tricky. De Long and Gould, former Stockton men, played for Pacific.

With the second C. I. F. game on hand, the Tarzans journeyed to Sacramento to stalk the Dragons. This contest proved to be the most colorful and spectacular of any in the season. The boys played a hard game but the Dragons finally appeared at the head of the scoring column with 13 points to Stockton's 0. The Stockton rooters were behind the team one hundred per cent, but it seemed that the Sacramento men found plenty of holes in the Blues' line. However, Stockton partly atoned for the defeat by beating the Sacramento men in the races between halves.

Feeling blue, the boys made up their mind to win the next game or die. When they met the strong Santa Clara team, the Tarzans came off the field with the former's scalp under their belt. The Blue boys were playing real football when they romped off the field with a 20 to 13 victory.

Stockton finished the C. I. F. football season on November 16 at Baxter Field. This was the "Big Game" of the year—with Lodi. The Flaming Horde seemed to think that they would be able to walk all over the Tarzans, but the latter had an altogether different idea. The score was not so big as Lodi hoped, but nevertheless this proved to be Lodi's year in football when the Flames downed the fighting Tarzans by the score of 6 to 0. This was one of the hardest fought battles that had ever been staged between these two schools. Seven thousand people watched this spectacular conflict and saw the pass, just a few minutes before the gun went off, that won the game for Lodi. The Tarzans held the strong Flame eleven to a surprisingly hard and furious battle.

Captain Jack Johnson, Frank Alustiza, and Martin Muhs were picked from the Tarzans for the mythical All-Sectional team. Johnson was named at the guard position last year on the All-Central C. I. F. team, chosen by different coaches in the league. Muhs was named as center over Engle of Lodi, because he did not make a bad pass all season. Alustiza was chosen for the team because he could do more things than the other players: he could pass, buck the line, and kick. He was regarded as the best kicker in the league this year. Two Tarzans were placed on the second team, Sutton at guard and George at half.

Dom George was elected captain of this year's squad. He has been on the varsity since he was a freshman. The first year he was a substitute quarterback, and the next year he was also a "sub," nevertheless, he was given a chance to play in every game. Last year, he showed everyone that he was a first stringer and made the grade playing half back. Dom has won three letters in football and one in basketball. Eleven members of the squad graduated in January. They were Francis Coppel, quarterback; Arden Houser, quarterback; Martin Muhs, center; Francis O'Hare, tackle; Angelo Stagnaro, end; George Stevens, end; Gorden Stiles, guard; Joe Valverde, quarterback; Joe Vigna, half-back; Paul Wilson, end; and Irving Marlowe, manager.

Those who received a block "S" were Frank Alustiza, full; Bob Arthur, full; James Bainbridge, full; George Brooks, tackle; Henry Felix, half; Dom George, half; Allen Gomez, half; Irwin Lang, guard; Arden Houser, quarter; Martin Muhs, center; Jack Murray, tackle; Francis O'Hare, tackle; Angelo Stagnaro, end; George Stevens, end; Joe Vigna, half; Paul Wilson, end; Jack Johnson, guard; Francis Coppel, quarter; Stewart Douglas, end; Gorden Stiles, guard; Joe Valverde, quarter, and Oliver Mortimer, manager.

PADOOKAS

Ineligibles and post graduates were subject to the title of Padookas on a certain football team. These human beings were organized to give the varsity some tough opposition, and tough opposition they got. Some of the big stars of this "well-organized" group were "Cowboy" Miner, "Fearless" Feary. George Brooks and Garth Liesy. Some of the larger boys who were not able to make the first team played on this masculine team. It is hoped that this practice of organizing a "padoo" eleven becomes a tradition in the school, as such a team aids the varsity in developing men for both the first and second teams.

"B" FOOTBALL

Laurance Pease

The "B" football team under the tutelage of Coaches Laurance Pease and "Nibs" Evans had a rather unsuccessful season, winning only one game. This was from Galt by a score of 26 to 20. Gay Rible was elected to guide the "Bees" through the season. Some good material that has been found in this squad will be of use on the varsity next year. Roy Godfrey was injured in the earlier part of the season and was unable to take part in any of the later games. Next year the "Bee" team will probably be stronger than this season due to there being so many lower classmen out for the sport.

Basketball

THE 1930 basketball season was ushered in exceptionally early at Stockton high with the Tarzans acting as hosts to the greatest galaxy of high school teams in the state. Some of the teams which played in Stockton were Marysville, this year's champs of Northern California, Berkeley, Los Angeles All-stars, Alameda, San Francisco Polytechnic, Palo Alto, California Frosh and Auburn.

The five members of last year's championship team—Stevens, Sievers, Schiffman, Miloslavich, and Dinkel—formed "Pete" Lenz's starting lineup for the season. Others who initiated their first appearance on this year's varsity with success were Wright, Hammond, Alders, Scott, George, and Houser. Two weeks before the first game Coach Lenz began preparing his charges for their first contest.

Stockton, 15; Modesto, 13

December 6, 1929

Stockton high school opened the 1930 basketball schedule with a bang when it defeated Modesto in a hectic game by the score of 15 to 13. Lenz started the second team, and Modesto chalked up 7 points with ease. At this juncture Coach Lenz sent in the regulars. Captain Schiffert was the star for Modesto, making 9 of the 13 points. Sievers, forward, seemed to be Stockton's only luminary, tallying 6 points and playing a fancy game.

Stockton, 16; Marysville, 14

December 13, 1929.

The Tarzans, displaying that "never say die spirit", came from behind in the last two minutes of play to snatch victory in what might have been certain defeat by vanquishing the Marysville Indians 16 to 14. Bill Sievers saved the game by his timely field goal, a sensational shot from center, "arching pretty" to hit the meshes as the gun went off. Milton Schiffman grabbed scoring honors for the game with 7 points.

Stockton, 23; Los Angeles All-stars, 15

December 18, 1929.

Stockton high took the much touted all-stars down the line, 23 to 15. The famous Tarzan last quarter rally was in evidence. Miloslavich was high point man with 11 markers.

Stockton, 44; Modesto, 14

December 27, 1929

The return game with Modesto ended in the rout of the Stanislaus team, 44 to 14. The Tarzans, displaying a dazzling fast breaking attack, bewildered the Panthers. Dinkel and Legarra, with 10 points apiece, tied for high scoring honors. Captain Carl Stevens made his first appearance in the lineup. He had had a leg injury for three weeks.

Stockton, 27; Berkeley, 21

January 3, 1930

In the last three minutes of play the Tarzans humbled the powerful Berkeley Yellow Jackets 27 to 21, Miloslavich led the scoring with 10 points to his credit.

Stockton, 16; Auburn, 18

January 4, 1930

Showing signs of weariness from playing the night before, the Tarzans lost a hard fought game to Auburn 16 to 18. The Placer five won in the last few minutes, overcoming a 14 to 12 lead; 12 personal fouls cost the Tarzans the game. Stevens made 6 points.

Stockton, 23; Alameda, 15

January 10, 1930

With the second team playing the major part of the game, the Tarzans defeated Alameda 23 to 15. Coach Lenz took the regulars out of the fracas to save them for tomorrow's battle against the Poly Parrots.

Stockton, 32; San Francisco Polytechnic, 12

January 11, 1930

The Poly Parrots offered very little resistance to the Blue quintet, who were able to amass a score of 32 to 12. The Tarzans gave a classy exhibition in the offense and defense departments. Stevens starred with 10 points.

Stockton, 13; Stanford Frosh, 28

January 14, 1930

Out played and out reached, the Tarzans were unable to withstand the powerful onslaught of the collegians, 28 to 13.

Stockton, 23; Sacramento, 20

January 17, 1930

The Tarzans squeezed a close victory over the Sacramento Dragons 23 to 20. The game was packed with thrills. Holding a one point lead in the last few minutes, the Tarzans stalled. A pass in the hole clinched the game as the timer's gun went off. Stevens' timely goals totaled 8 points for scoring honors.

Stockton, 14; Palo Alto, 19

January 25, 1930

The powerful Palo Alto Vikings were too much for the Tarzans, who once again met defeat 19 to 14. Close guarding by each team limited the battle of the bottomless buckets. The Tarzan shooting was below par.

Stockton, 28; Lodi, 14

January 31, 1930

The Tarzans had no trouble in winning their second C. I. F. game from Lodi, 28 to 14. Coach Lenz tried to save the regulars for the morrow's game with the California Frosh.

Stockton, 14; U. C. Frosh, 26

February 1, 1930

Showing unmistakable signs of staleness from the Lodi game the previous night, the Blue quintet came out on the short end of the score 26 to 14. Lou De Martini and Ted Ohashi, members of last year's Tarzan basketball team, were in the "Cal" lineup.

Stockton, 19; Sacramento, 28

February 7, 1930

For the first time in thirteen years Stockton lost a game to the

Varsity Team

Dragons, 28 to 19. It looked as if Sacramento would lay claim to the sub league title, but the fighting Tarzans came back to avenge the defeat in an extra play off game by trouncing the Dragons 31 to 18, thereby annexing Stockton's thirteenth consecutive sub league title.

Stockton, 33; St. Marys, 14
February 14, 1930

The Tarzans added another victory to the "wonder" schedule by de-horning the Rams, 33 to 14. Stevens and Schiffman were high point men with 9 points each.

Stockton, 39; Lodi, 18
February 21, 1930

Lodi offered little opposition to the Blues, who took the game with ease, 39 to 18. Miloslavich led the scoring with 14 points.

Stockton, 34; Linden, 8
March 1, 1930

The first play off game was easy pickings for the Tarzans, who used three full teams to win against Linden 34 to 8.

Stockton, 37; Turlock, 16
March 8, 1930

Turlock Bulldogs were handed a downfall when the Tarzans displayed a bucket rampagne to score 37 to 16. Schiffman and Stevens were the leading scorers.

Stockton, 16; Auburn, 18
March 14, 1930

In the semi-final playoff for the northern state title, the Blues lost to Auburn 16 to 18 in a heart breaking game, thus ending the "wonder" schedule which will go down in the annals of school athletics as the most ambitious undertaking ever attempted by a Blue and White team.

"B" Team

Four seniors played their last game for their Alma Mater. They were Bill Sievers, Milton Schiffman, Carl Stevens and Charles Miloslavich.

STOCKTON High School's track team played a successful season, sending six athletes to the State meet held at the University of California oval, May 10. Those who participated in the state finals for Stockton were Harper, 880; Feck, low hurdles; Briones, high jump; Gomez, Jacobsen, Markham, and Feck, relay team. The Tarzans earned two places in this State meet. Harper performed above expectations to place fourth in the 880, and the Blue and White relay team took fifth.

The Tarzans opened their season by taking first place in a meet against Escalon, Manteca, and Oakdale. The Blues scored a total of 83 points. Then they proceeded to tackle the Modesto Panthers, and emerged victorious by a 68 to 54 count. The meet hinged on the outcome of the relay, and Stockton's baton-passing quartet brought in the needed five points to clinch the victory. On the following week they met the Turlock preps, but the breaks were against the Blues, and they suffered a 64 to 58 setback. With the score reading 59 to 58 in Turlock's favor, and the relay yet to be run, things looked rosy for the Tarzans. However the third man of the Blue and White brigade dropped the baton, thereby losing the meet. At the 20-30 relays held at Sacramento, Coach Kerr entered three relay teams and several stars in open events. The Tarzans garnered enough points to annex fourth place. The Lodi Flames were completely smothered under an avalanche of first and second places which gave to Blues a 90 to 32 victory over their rivals.

At the sectional meet held at Modesto the Tarzans took third place. Three first places were registered by Blue cohorts. Wilbur Krenz heaved the shot 47 feet $8\frac{1}{4}$ inches to surpass all opponents and win the Eric Krenz trophy. Briones, by doing some commendable leaping, copped first place. Markham won the furlong, placed third in the century, and ran on the relay team, collecting a total of $9\frac{1}{2}$ points to win high point honors. Harper took second in the 880, while Feck placed second in the low hurdles, third in the high hurdles, and fourth in discus. Rice placed fourth in the 440.

Then came the Northern section meet. Stockton garnered $11\frac{3}{5}$ points to cop fourth place. Sacramento, with a powerful team, took first, while Modesto and Turlock finished second and third respectively.

ONCE more, under the leadership of Coach "Pete" Lenz, the Tarzan water dogs went through a very successful season. Winning seven out of eight meets is not a record to be laughed at, in addition to winning the Central and Northern C. I. F. championships. The Alamedans barely nosed out the Tarzans by a mere margin of 5 points, the score being 48-43. Stockton swam against Lodi, Sacramento, and Palo Alto twice this season and won all these meets. Sacramento was submerged to the count of 60-31. The Flames went down to defeat under the pressure of the Blues for a 54-29 count. Palo Alto, with a bunch of good swimmers, also looked up to the Stocktonians and were on the short end of a 57-34 score. High point honors went to Joe Busalacchi with 15 counts to his credit. Richard Bennett showed great form by giving Joe a close race in the fifty yard backstroke. This came as a big surprise because the coach did not think he had a swimmer who could make it in such good time. Glen Holt came second for honors with 13 points. He showed good form when he won the 150 yard event by beating out a Palo Alto man by ten yards.

In the Lodi meet, the Busalacchi family predominated in the events, making a total of 15½ points. Harold "Catfish" Houser, captain of the Lenzmen, swam his event in the time of 1:16 and was pressed by Richard "Lanky" Bennett. Pete Lenz expects Bennett to be one of the most capable men for winning the century next year. Besides Holt, star diver, there is another lad, a freshman by the name of Marion "Cannonball" Gorley, who is expected to show up well in next year's meets.

The Tarzan mermen compelled the Dragons to swallow their wake, the Blues winning by the largest score this season. The Blues made a record of forty points. Out of eleven winners, eight wore the blue. Sam Peters proved he was best man in this meet and was first in points. Houser, as usual, took first in the 100 yard breast stroke.

"Pete" unveiled some new aspirants in the dives and distances when he found the Dozier twins and Gorley.

There was a veteran team for this year's work, which was able to capture the meets with some good scores to its credit. "Catfish" Houser, using the old breast stroke method, never lost a race in this event. He also showed well in the relay team. Joe Bugalacchi, the veteran of last season, was one of the consistent point makers on the squad. He was high point in most of the meets, and when he was not high, he came in among the top. His race is the distances. Richard Bennett is also slated to do some nice work in the hundred yard breast stroke. Some of the boys graduate, but "Pete" Lenz expects to have another winning team for next year.

GOLF

For the first time in the history of S. H. S. has Stockton had a golf team. Although this was only the first year of competition, the Tarzan Golfers have defeated schools that have had teams for over three years. Under the Hagen-like hand of "Pete" Lenz the Blue Golfers placed second in the C. I. F. meet when Ray Wheeler took second and Orville Suttles tied for fourth.

The first meet of the year was with Sacramento. Stockton defeated the Dragons 6 to 1 but lost by the same score in a return match. The Lodi Flames were the next victims; they fell 4-3. In a return match Stockton won again, this time by 3-2. Turlock was defeated 3-2 and a return match was planned. The personnel of this year's team is Captain Barrow Scott, Ray Wheeler, Leo Phillips, Malcolm Tucker, Orville Suttles, and Owsley Hammond.

Tennis

UNDER the tutelage of Coach "Dapper Dan" McClain, the Stockton High School tennis team has experienced one of the most successful seasons that sport has ever had. The Tarzanettes defeated practically every major team in Northern California, as well as San Jose High School and Monterey High School. Teams that had previously defeated the Tarzans in former years had a difficult time in even taking one. Three teams were shut out without a match, and two teams were able to gather in only two. In traveling to Monterey, the Tarzan team took one of the longest trips that any Stockton High School team has ever taken. Monterey had won the C. C. S. league for three consecutive years and had been undefeated in that time. The Tarzans, however, defeated them four matches to two.

Two veterans that have finished four years of tennis playing for Stockton High will graduate next February. They are Charles Miloslavich and Ralph Clay, numbers one and two respectively. It was through the strong playing of these two that the tennis team secured most of their victories. Combined in doubles, Miloslavich and Clay have yet to lose to any high school team. Holden Sanford and Howard Hammond comprised the rest of the team. Both of these players were good enough to play number one on a great many teams.

One of the outstanding victories that the Blues gathered was that over Sacramento. Sacramento boasted of a strong team but took only one match out of five. This is one of the most decisive victories that Stockton holds over the Capital City. On May 17 the Blue doubles team won the Central Section Title and the singles entry reached the finals. A week later at Roseville, Miloslavich and Clay won the Northern State Championship defeating Colusa in the finals by the score of 4-6; 6-1; 6-0.

Girls' Athletic Association

Margaret Downs

The officers of the Girls' Athletic Association for this year were Peggy Downs, president; Elsie Mae Graves (fall semester) and Mable Stone (spring semester), vice presidents; Bessie Compton, secretary-treasurer; and Geraldine Hammett, song leader. The other members were the various sport managers. The Committee met regularly every first and third Wednesday.

Elinor Armbrust

Tennis, managed by Delome Laurence, was a major sport this year, in which the high school girls of Ripon, Manteca, Lodi, Tracy, Modesto, and Stockton participated.

Because of the fullness of this year's outdoor program, tumbling, managed by Mabel Chipman, was limited to the rainy season. Volley ball, managed by Eunice Fitch and Mary McNoble, was also discontinued after the first of the interclass games, in favor of baseball. Practice games were played, however, for enough times to give the girls their letter points.

Basketball, which was, as usual, well attended, was managed by Evelyn Weber. The interclass meet for the fall semester was won by the juniors. Basketball was the only sport in which the interclass games were played by all classes.

Swimming was a very popular sport. The first semester interclass meet was won by the sophs, with the frosh and juniors tying for second.

Old English "S" Society

The Old English "S" Society was reorganized last fall with Mrs. Agnes D. May as sponsor. Meetings were held on the second and fourth Thursdays of every month.

The members were Gertrude Adams, president; Eleanor Armbrust, vice-president; Mary Jaume, secretary; Mabel Chipman, Peggy Downs, June Fujishige, Elsie Mae Graves, Geraldine Hammett, Helen Harrington, Delome Laurence; Doris Patterson, Mable Stone, Elva Weldy, and Winifred Wilson.

The second semester Eleanor Armbrust was elected president; Mary Jaume, vice-president; and Helen Harrington, secretary. An initiation was held for the girls who won their "S's" in February. The new members were Florence Anson, Julia Baskin, Helen Berkland, Annie Billington, Geraldine Boren, Melba Black, Marie Duckworth, Mary Fujita, Louise Lorenz, Mabel Marston, Violet Oshima, Alice Peterson, Elvira Remusat, Nettie Robertson, Mona Snyder, Urilda Wade, Hazel Webb, Evelyn Weber.

TENNIS CLUB

As a climax to the fall season, a Tennis Party was held at Oak Park. Miss Helen Gardner, sponsor of club, presented Delome Laurence with the F. G. Tollett Trophy, which is awarded the winner of the school tournament each year. Forty girls participated in the tournament.

For the first time a "Play Day" was planned for May 24. Representatives from Manteca, Lodi, Ripon, Modesto, and Tracy were invited. The club hopes to make "Play Day" an annual event, as it fosters inter-school friendship and good sportsmanship.

The officers for the year were Delome Laurence, president; Louise Neubarth, vice-president; Melba Black, secretary-treasurer.
