

1935

SENIOR MEMORIES

Jimmie Brokaw 12B

EX LIBRIS

ACROSS THE WEST GLADE LEILA SANDERS

SENIOR MEMORIES

*Published by the February and June
Senior Classes of Stockton High School*

ELIZABETH RAVEN, Editor

Stockton, California

1935

Foreword

THIS yearbook, like the many others which are published in 1935, is issued for the purpose of creating a permanent record of high school memories, friendships and activities. For this reason and because the book is necessarily small, only the most important events and departments have been selected for recording, and an attempt has been made to insert only the most typical and appropriate pictures, and examples of the best art work. The art department, typing classes, composition classes, the print shop and many teachers have all cooperated with the journalism department to make possible the publishing of the 1935 Memory Book. With the hope that in years to come this annual will revive memories and awaken the pleasures of school days and represent the best of this time, it is submitted to the senior class and the student body of Stockton High School.

Airplane View of Campus

Auditorium

Principal's Message

FOR the most part the four years just ending have been most enjoyable. To be sure you have done some hard work, some of you far more than others, but you have formed friendships that will be lasting, and have had a good time in spite of difficulties that at times seemed insurmountable. You are going out now equipped, we hope, to face life with the same happy spirit with which you have met your problems in school. All life is not going to be easy with you. Issues will have to be met, decisions made. If what you have learned in the Stockton High School enables you to meet these issues squarely and to make your decisions intelligently, we shall feel that our teaching has been successful. You will have to depend increasingly on your own resources, but you will also learn that people out of school are very much like those with whom you have associated the past four years. You will find friendliness, if you express it in your own personality. I wish you joy in all that you undertake which has worth. I hope that you will never attempt those things that are of doubtful value. My heartfelt good wishes go with you.

W. FRED ELLIS.

Faculty

W. FRED ELLIS	Principal
ALICE MCINNES	Vice Principal, Dean of Girls
LAURANCE N. PEASE	Vice Principal, Head of Commercial
JAMES C. CAVE	Dean of Boys
ASA L. CAULKINS	Registrar
HOMER S. TOMS	Study, Principal of Night School

ENGLISH

Ovena Larson	Ben Lewis
Head	Georgia Smith
Nancy Berry	L. Lucile Turner
Esther Butters	Carrie D. Wright
Lily Cliberon	Lizette Ward
Ida C. Green	Mildred Smith
Anne L. Harris	Librarian
Adelle Howell	Mrs. Inez H. Pond
Elizabeth Humbargar	Asst. Librarian
Lucy E. Osborn

LANGUAGE

Lillian Williams
Head
Elizabeth Anderson
Olympia Binsacca
Mariana Crescenzi
Ellen De Ruchie
Gabrielle Heggie
Ralph Hofmeister
Gladys Lukes
Alice McInnes
Adeline Selna
Louis J. Vannuccini

DRAWING

Mrs. Elizabeth Olson
Head
Howard G. Bissell
Karin M. Farwell
Amy A. Pahl

SCIENCES

Asa L. Caulkins
Head Chemistry, General Science
J. C. Corbett
Head, Physics
Harry J. Snook
Head, Biology
Arthur W. Everett
Emma F. Hawkins
Ruth Hoerl
Sanford Sweet
Mrs. Helen S. Abbott
Mrs. Myrtle Kerr
Ralph S. Raven

MUSIC

Frank Thornton Smith
Head
Harold A. Heisinger
Virginia L. Short

SENIOR MEMORIES

SOCIAL SCIENCE

Wesley G. Young
Head

Bettie May Boswell
Veva L. Brown
Eleanor Hancock
Alida Israel
J. William Kerr
John S. Landrum
Elinor Malic
Edna Rinset
Walter Rogers
Pearl Sifford

COMMERCIAL

L. N. Pease
Head

Elizabeth Carden
John Carmichael
Vera Cobb Cass
Lucy Crosby
Mrs. Alma G. Decker
Lilien Eberhard
Margaret Ferrario
George Freeman
Mrs. G. H. Tolhurst
Harry Hibbard
Marguerite Hubbell
Jean Humphreys
Marjorie Pease
A. R. Reelhorn
Harold Turpin
Bernadine Ungersma
Bert I. Van Gilder
Ralph Wentz

COM. ENGLISH

Winifred Lovejoy
Head

Anne Pauline Abright
Louise T. Baer
Mary G. Bloom
Mrs. Laura B. Watson

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Mrs. Agnes D. May Head Girls' P. E.

Grace U. Bliss
Kathleen Mitchell
Frances Shelton
Helen Stone
Persis Whitton

Harry B. Lenz
Head Boys' P. E.

Howard Evans
Pete McCain
Wallace McKay
Fred Solomon

VOCATIONAL

Floyd R. Love
Head

Edwin D. Comer
John H. Harrison
Ralph E. Herring
Charles H. Libhart
Edwin L. Pister
Alan Porter
James A. Smith
Maurice D. Taylor
Ira L. Van Vlear
Charles E. Williams
Evelyn E. Taylor
J. Mitchell Lewis

HOME ECONOMICS

Constance Post
Head

Ada Alexander
Marilla Dunning
Grace G. Fowler
Stella Johnson

MATHEMATICS

John S. Reed
Head

Henry Bradley
Edith Chidester
Catherine Humbargar
Lucia Keniston
Rachel Keniston
Mary McGlothlin
Benjamin Welker

Miss Butters
Mr. Carmichael
Miss Cass

Mr. Comer
Mr. Corbett
Miss Crescenzi
Miss Fowler

Miss Hancock
Mr. Harrison
Mrs. G.H. Tolhurst
Miss Heggie

Mr. Herring
Miss Hoerl
Mr. Hofmeister
Miss Humphreys

Miss Crosby
Mr. Libhart
Mr. Pister
Mr. Porter

Mr. Raven
Mr. Rogers
Miss Shelton
Mr. Smith

Mr. Snook
Mr. Taylor
Miss Taylor
Mr. Turpin

Mr. Vannuccini
Mr. Van Vlear
Mr. Williams

School Organizations

STUDENT COUNCIL

THE Student Council, which meets every Tuesday afternoon, sets our dates and bestows our honors. This year the council has increased our entertainment by making school dances more frequent. As to bestowing honors, the council decides who shall receive block letters. The council this year donated one hundred and fifty dollars to a swimming meet. One of the greatest responsibilities of the Student Council is to decide whether or not our student desires, if granted, would be constitutional. Those responsible for directing the activities just mentioned are the student body president, Robert Peckler, who presides at the meeting of the Student Council; Jean Swenson, who as vice-president of the student body, occupies the vice-presidency of the council; and Howard Becker, who holds the office of recorder. A small group of both boys and girls completes the membership of the Student Council, which has terminated a successful semester.

STUDENT CONTROL

THE STUDENT CONTROL, aiming to develop a greater response for law and order and to maintain higher standards of conduct in and about the school, has done much the past year toward fulfilling its purpose. Under the capable direction of Eleanor McCloud, fall semester, and Jean Swenson, spring semester, the Girls' Student Control, in addition to its regular activities, worked out a number of regulations for the conduct of high school girls. These concern chewing gum, attention in assemblies, applying make-up, cutting, and smoking.

The Boys' Student Control, with Tony Calvelli and Eldred Barnes at the head, carried out the usual duties of supervising assemblies, helping keep up the campus, and improving the general conduct of school boys.

JUNIOR RED CROSS

IN STOCKTON High School, as in many schools in the United States, there is a Junior Red Cross. This organization is made up of every student in the high school, whether he pays dues or not. In order to make money, one day a month is set aside as "Penny day," where everyone brings a penny for the collection. This year 6,627 pennies were collected for good causes. In December, in order to secure funds to fill Christmas baskets for needy families, an unique Tin-Can Dance was given. Also at this time 217 Christmas boxes filled with toys were sent to Guam, and 500 menu covers were sent for men of the United States fleet in Pacific waters. In the spring 400 dinner-dance programs were designed by art students, printed in the school print shop and sent to Washington, D. C., to help make the National Junior Red Cross convention a success. Monthly meetings, attended by representatives of the several classes, are made interesting by student and faculty speakers.

Door of New Building

I Fear

Charles Parsons Jr., February Class

I fear
When my last long trail is taken,
And my soul has come to its end,
That I shall leave nothing behind me
To be long remembered by them
Who live on to their journey's end.

I fear
When the last prayer is uttered
And the last mourner is gone,
That my name shall rest on a tombstone
And not be revered and thought of Abroad or by fires of home.

Only the shadows may know me,
Only the well-sheltered glen
Where my body rests in eternity,
Away from the thoughts of them
Who keep in memory forever
The titles of famous men.

Oh God, let me not falter!
Help me to ever be true
To the goals at which great ones are aiming,
And what all men are longing to do.

Music Department

THE orchestra started this school year with more members than it had ever before known. Immediately members of this organization began to work toward a series of programs they were to give, the first of which—numbers played for Teachers' Institute—aroused much favorable comment. The group also assisted the German Club and the February class at the time when they gave their plays. The orchestra made a total of eight appearances during the year and learned eighteen different selections—one of which was the Caesar Frank Symphony.

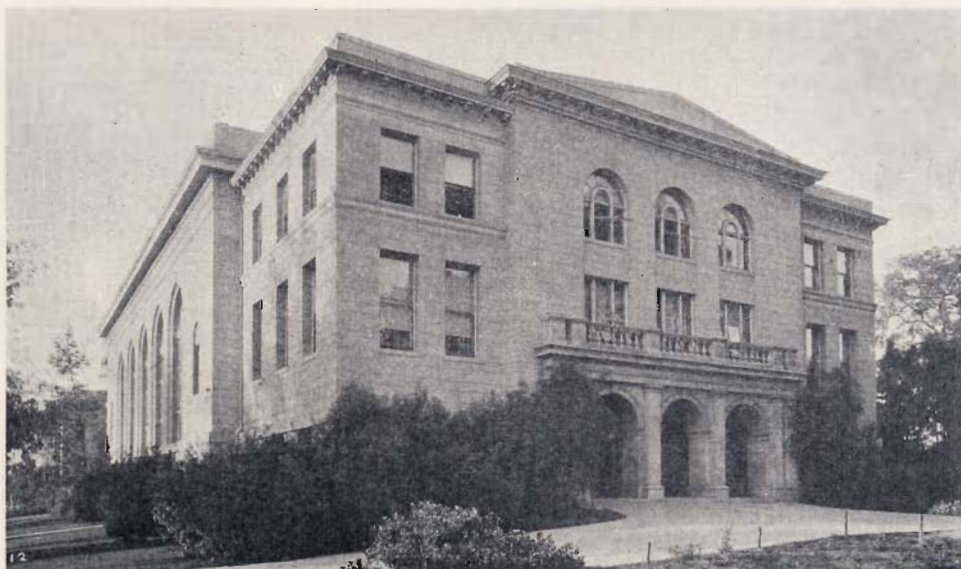

The band appeared at all football games during the fall and lent needed support and enthusiasm to rooters. Another important function of the year was the Pomona College Glee Club concert for the benefit of the band uniform fund. At the request of the glee club the band played a group of numbers during the evening performance. Two organizations of band members, the trumpet quartet and the wood wind ensemble, were active during the year, as were the boys' and girls' string quartets, composed of orchestra members.

Band and orchestra combined to end the year with the Fifth Annual Band and Orchestra Concert, at which Josephine Miramontes and Charles Welch were soloists. Another time, May 18, both groups joined with the choral department to participate in the largest May Music Festival. Alfred Hertz, Herbert Clark, and Charles M. Dennis, outstanding leaders in the country for orchestra, band and chorus, were chosen for conductors of this affair.

The Troubadours, the group of singers picked from the chorus, gave performances for downtown clubs and appeared on the Washington-Lincoln program, the annual Christmas program, the Band and Orchestra Concert, Commencement, and at other times during the year.

Auditorium

IN MEMORIAM

RICHARD BLEWETT
TERUO FUKANO