

SENIOR OFFICERS—JUNE

ROSS BEWLEY, Pres.

BILL BIGELOW, Vice-Pres.

HELEN SHADLEY, Sec.

Seniors—first-class seamen! The last trip of the four-year voyage! Many of these sailors will agree with Joseph Conrad, who wrote "Ah! the good old time—the good old time. Youth and the sea. Glamour and the sea! The good, strong sea, the salt, bitter sea, that could whisper to you and roar at you and knock your breath out. By all that's wonderful it is the sea, I believe, the sea itself—or is it youth alone? Who can tell? But you here—you all had something out of life: money, love—whatever one gets on shore—and, tell me, wasn't that the best time, that time when we were young at sea; young and had nothing, except hard knocks—and sometimes a chance to feel your strength—that only—what you all regret?"

In our book this year the school is a ship, and the students are the crew. Many a senior, looking back over his four years of high school, is like a sailor, looking back over several years at sea. He came to the ship as a green apprentice, worked through the periods of third-class and second-class seamanship, and at last attained the status of first-class seaman. And he thinks of all the hard knocks and hard work—the hours of toil at night, the hours of struggling with difficult tasks during the day. And he also thinks of the pleasant times spent with those of his own age—the sports, the groups, the dramatics, and other activities.

What senior regrets the time spent on this four-year trip? Not one! They have grown from raw youngsters into capable adults, ready to take care of themselves in the "cold, hard world." A few hard knocks have toughened them for rough weather to come, and pleasant times have given them happy memories of days gone by.

During the last few months of the fourth-year trip the sailors who are leaving the ship for the last time naturally look forward to new experiences and surroundings. Are they just back where they started from, ready to try something new? Not all! For they are indeed different persons—decidedly different from the raw youngsters who signed up four years ago. Wiser, huskier, and infinitely more mature, they are ready to face the troubled seas of the modern world. May they be as successful in their new work as they have been during the long trips of the past four years.
