

Juniors

When we Juniors first entered High School three years ago, there was a total enrollment of 22, but although we were a small class we took our part in the activities of the school, several members of our class being on the boys' basketball and track teams and also on the girls' basketball team.

The next Fall when we came to school as Sophomores, we had but eighteen in our class. As in the preceding year we took a prominent part in all school activities, including athletics.

This year we have only thirteen members and though small we are, as usual, active. The first semester our officers were: President, Leo Harrison; Vice President, Ethel Allen; Secretary and Treasurer, Hilda Hurliman. We were well represented among the officers of the Associated Students and also Associated Girl Students. Juniors were members of both the boys' and girls' basketball teams. In the second semester our officers were: President, James Lovering; Vice President, Dudley Duval; Secretary and Treasurer, Sebastian Lizzio. As before we had members on the Executive Committees of both the Associated Students and of the Associated Girl Students.

We are looking forward to next year when we will return as Seniors.

Sophomores

Sophomore Wonders

The Sophomore Class is the next largest class in school.

The Sophomore Class has some of the dumbest bells around school.

The Sophomore Class has provided three men for basketball.

Stevie Jackse, a Sophomore, is noted for his mean hair comb.

Three Sophomore girls are on the basketball team.

Four Sophomore boys are on the baseball team.

Two Sophomore girls are on the tennis team.

This year's Student Body membership far exceeded that of past years, having in all 106 members.

At an early Student Body meeting the Editor and Business Manager of the Far Darter were elected.

Each semester two committees were appointed by the President—the Social Committee and the By-Law Committee, both having representatives from each class.

The first big Student Body undertaking was the annual Circus. It was an entire success, and was put over with much enthusiasm, as were all the student affairs this year.

With the guidance and help of the Dean of Girls, Miss Tidmarsh, and the efficient leadership of both our Presidents, Beryl Daniel and Bernell Palmer, the Associated Girl Students have progressed very rapidly this year.

The primary purpose of this organization was to create more interest in athletics, to develop a better school and class spirit, and to encourage more all around sportsmanship. This purpose has been achieved with remarkable success this year.

Subordinate to the A. G. S. are four departments, which, with their chairmen, are: Social Service, Ethel Manker; Personal Efficiency, Phoebe Tidmarsh; Entertainment, Julia Smith; Athletic, Beryl Daniel. The chairmen of each committee, together with the A. G. S. officers, make up the Executive Board.

As a part of the Athletic Department are the Heads of Sports. They are: Basketball, Betty Jelinsky; Volleyball, Phoebe Tidmarsh; Tennis, Lena Garibaldi; Swimming, Ethel Allen; Baseball, Bonnie Harrington; Outing Club, Beryl Daniel; Track, Bernell Palmer.

We cannot say that we have a very large club, but what few members we have are full of "pep." We are not professionals yet, but we all hope that next year one of the main events in school will be debating.

During the first month of school we organized the club, drew up our constitution and elected our officers. Owing to the time taken up by the circus we were only able to have one debate the first semester. This last semester we have had several very good and interesting debates.

Editorially Speaking

It is the unspoken but determined resolve of every member of a graduating class to be a success in later life. Whether or not the individual is planning on further study, on beginning "on his own," the underlying purpose is to make good. Unfortunately, perhaps, Youth in America measures its success by the size of its bankroll after a few years of work. Howbeit, we are coming more and more to realize one thing—namely, higher and more intensive training. Parents, everywhere, sponsor it, educators and leading men and women endorse it, and above all, the business world demands it. It is the trained boy or girl who is chosen for the big position every time. So—what's the answer? More education, obviously. The greater percentage of graduates enter the business world and it's not hard to see who succeeds. Hence, take heed, you Seniors, and Seniors who are to be, this interests you whether you think so or not. If you aren't prepared you suffer eventually. Think it over.

The Headlight

STAFF 1924.

For the first time since 1921 a school paper was started, with a new name, "The Headlight." Its purpose was to stimulate interest in school life and to summarize the various activities of the school. It was edited monthly, the stencil work being done by the Typing II and Office Practice Classes.

Exchanges from Calistoga, Vallejo, Cloverdale, Geyserville and Aetna Mills were received, each paper giving an idea of what the various schools were doing.

The Headlight has achieved its purpose this year and it is hoped that the interest and co-operation of the students will carry on throughout the next year.

Alumni

The Alumni Association of the St. Helena Union High School met on May 25, 1923, and elected officers as follows: Lowell Palmer, President; Raymond Griffith, Vice President; Marie Ingwersen, Secretary and Treasurer.

At that time there was much discussion on plans for increasing attendance. In view of this fact there was a banquet given during the Christmas holiday season at which time many of the older members attended. So much enthusiasm was in evidence, due to this social time, that an effort will be made in the future to have an annual affair of this sort.

The Mothers' Club

Standing—Mrs. Clara Herdle
Sitting, left to right—Mrs. Anna Miller, Mrs. Margaret Smyth, Mrs. Janet Ewing, Mrs. Cathryn Hilton

What is it? It is a group of mothers or guardians of students, as well as mothers of eighth grade pupils.

What is its object? Its object is to foster or create a better understanding between teachers and parents, or school and home. Until the formation of the Club many of the mothers had never been inside of the school building, unless to a concert and some not even then; but now, slowly and steadily the mothers are beginning to feel more at home in the building; also, that they have a right to enter it and discuss the problems of their children's school career.

What has the Club done? It is easily understood that the first year's work must, of necessity, be somewhat slow, just as clearing a piece of timber land for the plough would be. Even so, we feel we have accomplished quite a line. To begin with, and this is extremely important, the mothers are meeting the faculty and are becoming better acquainted and, therefore, feel freer to discuss matters with them.

Our Project Committee has been hard at work. The auditorium stage was sadly in need of remodeling and the Mothers' Club has attended to that, as all can see at any time for themselves.

Next year will see new students in the school and it is hoped their mothers will join the Club and help on the good work.

JANET EWING, President.

St. Helena and Its Advantages

(The St. Helena Chamber of Commerce, in taking space in the Far Darter, offered first and second prizes for the best essay on "St. Helena and Its Advantages." The following essay, judged to be the best, was submitted by Theodore F. Spaller:)

St. Helena has a charm that is not found in any other spot in California. Visitors immediately are aware of it. Our oldest settlers feel it. When any of our citizens go away for a trip, if for a few hundred miles, back East, or even to the famed beauty spots of France, they generally come back chuckling, "Well, St. Helena beats them all!" Even my uncle, who has lived for the past eight years in "The Paradise of the Pacific," the Hawaiian Islands, said, when he visited us last Summer, "You can't imagine how beautiful everything looks to me. It is more delightful by far than the Islands. You soon tire of the everlasting green. It gets monotonous."

Situated in the heart of Napa Valley, St. Helena is a haven for those who want a place in which to settle down and enjoy life. It has advantages that no other place in California has. Its climate, location, and the fertility of its soil, make it a Promised Land to which anyone may come and realize ALL of the promise in lavish fulfillment.

The climate alone is enough to make anyone glad to live here. There is enough rain so there has never been a crop failure in the entire history of the place, and this without irrigation. There is just enough difference between the temperature of day and night to make the nights pleasantly cool, so that one can always enjoy refreshing sleep.

It is extremely rare that it gets cold enough in the valley to snow, although each Winter one gets brief treats of added beauty when our higher hills are covered with a sparkling mantle of white.

Recognizing the scenic beauties and superior climatic advantages of this section of California, a location three miles from St. Helena was selected for the now world-famous St. Helena Sanitarium.

A location could not be finer than that of St. Helena. The highway from Napa to Calistoga runs through St. Helena, and so do the interurban and Southern Pacific lines, connecting St. Helena with San Francisco and Calistoga, and way points. The electric interurban reaches San Francisco from St. Helena in a trifle over three hours, with six trains daily each way. There is one train each way daily on the Southern Pacific. These numerous transportation facilities make St. Helena an ideal location as regards accessibility to other places.

The fertility of the soil and the ability to raise many different kinds of crops are important features of this place. Grapes, prunes, apricots, peaches, cherries, pears, apples, oranges, figs, berries, and many other kinds of fruit are grown. Almonds and walnuts are always a big crop. One can always get fresh fruit off the trees. There is good grazing land for our many fine dairy herds. Poultry raising and egg production are conducted on an extensive scale. Land here is cheaper than that of many far less desirable places.

[Thirty-eight]

For those who have an automobile, St. Helena holds many charms. The highway from Napa to Calistoga passes through extensive vineyards, orchards, and beautiful hills. The scenery along this highway is beautiful in every season of the year, each period having its own special charm. Other beautiful drives are to Conn Valley and Chiles Valley, Chiles Creek, and Conn Creek Falls. The drive to Mill Valley, Berkeley, Oakland, or San Francisco, is also highly enjoyable. A good car makes the trip to "the city" in surprisingly quick time.

Besides its varied scenic attractions, there are many points of interest, among which are the Greystone Winery, a mile North on the highway. It is said to be the largest in the world. Two miles farther is the picturesque Old Mill. Six miles farther are the geysers, hot mud baths and resorts. About one and one-half miles West of St. Helena are the famous White Sulphur Springs, with Summer cottages, tents, dancing pavilion, swimming pool, and mineral baths, which attract many people from near-by cities during the season.

St. Helena has substantial, modern business blocks, built of brick, concrete and stone. There are two banks, The Bank of St. Helena and the First National Bank, each with a savings department. Their combined deposits are over two million dollars. The streets of St. Helena are well paved, and are as well lighted as those of any big city. The city owns its own water plant, the water coming from the near-by hills that supply two reservoirs with plenty of water.

St. Helena has a strong community spirit and civic pride. Public band concerts are of frequent occurrence, and for many years there have been held an annual flower exhibit, and May Day festival.

There is an active social life and a number of fraternal societies. The N. S. G. W., W. O. W., Druids, Redmen, Masons, Odd Fellows and Soldiers of the World War, have flourishing organizations. The societies for women include the Woman's Improvement Club, Mothers' Club, N. D. G. W., Rebekahs and Eastern Star. The Woman's Improvement Club is the largest and its chief activities are to promote civic and welfare work. The N. S. G. W. have an especially fine building with a spacious pavilion for public functions and dances. A theatre with adequate seating capacity gives some form of entertainment nightly. There is also a fine free library.

There are excellent educational opportunities: public school, high school, and the Elmhurst Academy for girls, conducted by the Ursuline Sisters. The schools of St. Helena rank among the very best in California. A diploma from the high school admits one to either the University of California or Stanford University. St. Helena's school buildings are modern and have good playgrounds. The public school has a large baseball diamond and playground equipment. The high school has a baseball diamond, tennis courts, and volley and basketball courts.

There are seven churches, the Catholic, Episcopalian, Presbyterian, Methodist, Baptist, Adventist, and Christian Scientist. Each has a good membership and contributes its quota to the moral and spiritual life of the community.

I am only a high school boy, but I have lived in some of the most attractive parts of Southern California, in Siskiyou county near Mt. Shasta, historic Monterey, Oakland, San Francisco, and in Ashland, Oregon, famed for its beauty, but I like St. Helena best of all. My Dad has spent twenty-eight years on the Pacific Coast, having seen every part of it from Mexico to the upper Frasier river in British Columbia, and I have often heard him say that there is more beauty crowded into this part of Napa Valley than he has ever found in any other place where people would want to live. So it's St. Helena for mine, for which I am glad, and I'd like to tell the world that this place is just right in every way for a home for anyone who wants the BEST that can be found in ALL of our glorious Golden West.

Trees

I think that I shall never see
A poem lovely as a tree.
Poems are made by fools like me,
But only God can make a tree.

The little red-breasted robin
Sat on a tree
Taking a sun-bath merrily
And humming a Winter song:
"Ah but it was cold
Up the mountains for me."

Dramatics and Social

Circus

The St. Helena High School Circus was held on November 16th, 1923. The Vaudeville Committee had a good, peppy show, which brought forth much laughter. The Side Show surely knew how to import freaks from all over the countryside. The Publicity Committee made attractive posters, and the crowds that attended the circus gave ample proof of the good work done in advertising. Ice cream, candy and peanuts were sold during the dance, and supper was served at 11 o'clock downstairs.

Jubilee Singers

After a very heated discussion in a Student Body meeting, it was decided that we sponsor the California Jubilee Quartette. The men had a splendid repertoire of negro songs, impersonations and sketches. They were greatly enjoyed and it was well worth the students' trouble to back them up.

Constitution Week

The first Monday in October a play commemorating "Constitution Week" was given by the United States History class. This was the first play of any kind that was given at the beginning of the school year. The cast included:

George Washington.....	Frank Harrison
Alexander Hamilton.....	William Smyth
Benjamin Franklin.....	John Rogers
James Madison.....	Theodore Borla
Robert Morris.....	Dudley Duval
Governor Morris.....	Herbert Lutley
William Patterson.....	Lionel Blake

CAST OF "THE DEAR BOY GRADUATES"

Lincoln's Birthday

On Lincoln's Birthday a scene from Drinkwater's "Abraham Lincoln" was given by the Civics class. Following is the cast:

Mr. Stone, a farmer.....	William Smyth
Mr. Cuffney, a storekeeper.....	Walter Filtz
Susan, a servant.....	Julia Smith
Mrs. Lincoln.....	Lena Garibaldi
Abraham Lincoln.....	Ted Borla
William Tucker, a merchant.....	Frank Harrison
Henry Hind, an attorney.....	James Lovering
Elias Price, a preacher.....	Dudley Duval
James Macintosh, editor of journal.....	Lionel Blake

Lives of Seniors all remind us,
 We can do our level best,
 And departing leave behind us
 Note books that will help the rest.

“The Dear Boy Graduates”

The Senior play, “The Dear Boy Graduates,” was given May 9th and 10th, and was considered a great success. The cast of characters was as follows:

Clyde Walker, “The Dear Boy”.....	Frank Harrison
Genevieve Walker, his elder sister.....	Phoebe Tidmarsh
Mamie Walker, his little sister.....	Florence Nellman
Caroline Walker, his mother.....	Lena Garibaldi
Grandma Walker, his grandmother.....	Bernell Palmer
Mrs. Mary Milton, one of his aunts.....	Hilda Hurliman

Dick Reed, his chum.....	Paul Herdle
Harry Duff, his chum.....	Leslie Manker
Prof. Whitney Jones, his athletic coach.....	Herbert Lutley
Prof. Hudson, the High School Principal.....	John Rogers

The Moon

Do you like your home in the heavens,
Oh, beautiful silver moon?
You seem ready to greet the clouds,
With outstretched hands and a cheery smile.
How lovely to be a cloud for a while
So that we might speak to you.
Yes, the clouds are your playmates,
Even if they often hide you from view,
Are they not,
Oh, wonderful watchman of the night?

Society

Freshman Reception

The Freshman reception was our first school party—a regular “get acquainted party,” given in honor of our Freshies. A short program was given, including a mock trial at which many of the Freshmen were tried for various offenses, and due punishment inflicted. Later in the evening an indoor track meet was held. Games of all kinds and dancing followed. And, of course, eats!

Freshman Return Party

To show their appreciation for the party given to them, the Freshmen gave an outdoor party to the upper classes. Jack-'o-lanterns were used effectively for lighting the grounds. After games and contests a dandy picnic supper was served under the trees. Dancing concluded the evening.

Senior Party at Woodworth's Resort

The first Senior party of the year was held at Woodworth's Resort on Howell mountain. All Seniors were present, and also the faculty. After a long ride they arrived at the resort, and then the fun began—swimming, dancing, croquet, shuffle board and a good “feed.”

Christmas Party

Our next party was our annual Christmas party. The incoming Freshmen were the honored guests. Nearly everyone was there—even old Santa “hissself.” Each class gave a stunt, but the Seniors came out first, as usual, and walked away with the first prize. Santa Claus gave presents and cards from the tree 'n everybody had a great time, really.

“Bum” Palmer's House Party

Just 'cause a bunch of Juniors had a theatre party one night, the Seniors started something, too. Somebody suggested Bum's, so they met in the usual way. Had good eats, music, and lotsa' pep, an,— isn't that 'nuf 'ced?

Junior Benefit

The Juniors needed some money, so they offered something new—a good program, another indoor track meet, some good eats and dancing were offered for the small sum of “two bits.” It was well worth the admission because it was certainly a “peppy” party.

A. G. S. Party

Here's one time the girls put it over on the boys. You know the old saying goes. “The early bird catches the worm”—well, the girls certainly did. At five o'clock in the morning queer figures were seen coming from all directions to S. H. Hi, Milady's Spring and early Summer fashions not being the vogue. At six o'clock roll call was taken and all but five girls answered "Present." A mock track meet was held, followed by a baseball game between the Freshies and upper classes. Breakfast was served at seven, and then the girls disappeared, returning at nine o'clock, greeted by many s'prised boys.

Boys' Jinx

Following on the heels of the A. G. S. party, the boys held their annual Jinx. They initiated the Freshies, had wrestling matches 'n lots of things. They had a good chicken and ravioli supper to conclude the good time. Some uninvited guests appeared on the scene. For further information ask some of the girls—they know!

Senior Sneak Day

The Seniors decided all of a sudden that they wanted a vacation, so they "jes naturally snuck off"—on a school day, too! Where'd they go? Hiked to the very tip top of Mt. St. Helena—every one of 'em, too, even their faithful advisor, "Pa" Lyman. A gran' and glorious time was reported by them. They said that Mt. St. Helena is all right, the only thing missing being drinking fountains along the trail.

Senior Blowout

Another Senior party at Woodworth's Resort. This time it was not Seniors "exclusively," but each Senior was allowed to invite one guest. Needless to say it was a "howling success."

Girls' Jinx

Somebody had an inspiration and started our annual Jinx. All sorts of costumes were seen sneakin' up the street about 7:30 p. m. Then the usual games, dancing and eats followed. They had a good time, so they say.

Junior Prom

On the night of graduation the Juniors gave a "Prom" in honor of the Seniors. The Grand march was followed by a dance and reception. The "Prom" was one of the most successful affairs of the season.

Junior Theatre Party

The Juniors decided they wanted to have some fun, so a theatre party was voted. After the "movies" a tomale supper was served at the Hi School. Lotsa' fun. was the report next day.

Senior Farewell Picnic

The three lower classes gave the Seniors a farewell picnic shortly before the closs of school. Co-operation and "pep" make a good pair, so, of course, the picnic was a success.

'24 Party

The last Senior party was the '24 party. The Seniors met very mysteriously one nite, and as it was the last party you may be sure that they made the best of it—dancing, swimming 'n evervthing. The next day the campus and vicinity were decorated with glistening "24s".
