We, the Staff, hereby dedicate the 1927 issue of the "Far Darter"
to those who have so willingly given us their aid
at all times.

First, to our Mothers and Fathers to whom we owe everything.

Second, to the Faculty, especially to Mr. Lyman and Mr. Gardiner, our Advisors.

Foreword

In a short lyric which he calls "Man-Making," Edwin Markham says that the glory of a nation does not consist in its material wealth but rather in the character of its citizens:

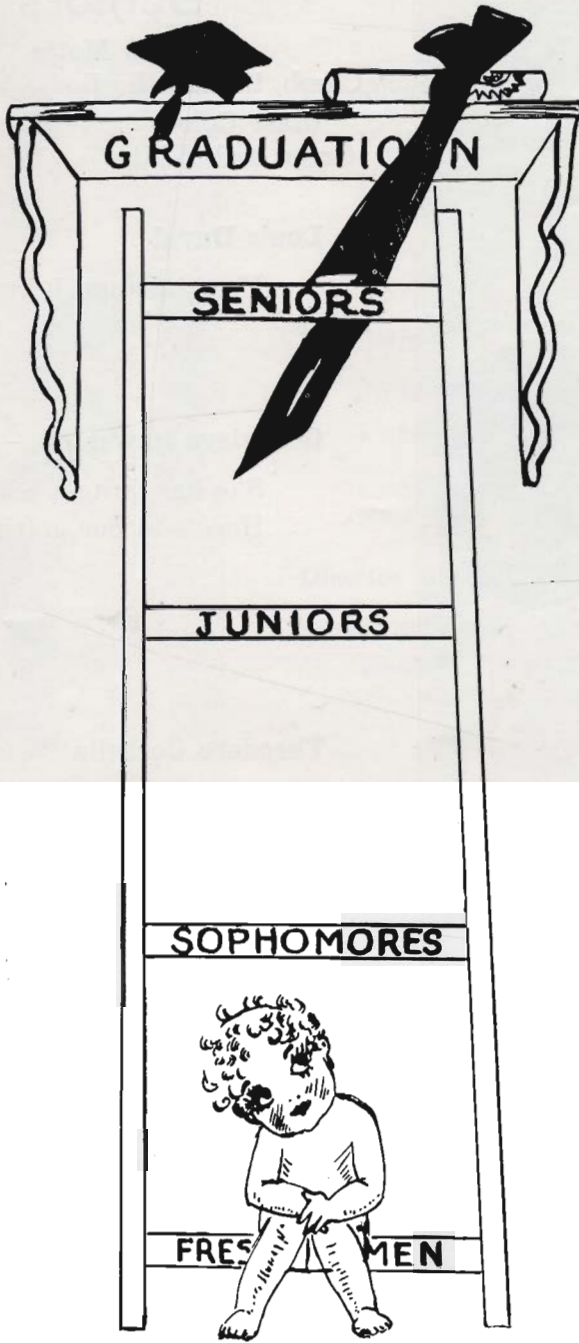

We all are blind until we see
That in the human plan
Nothing is worth the making if
It does not make the man.

Why build these cities glorious
If man unbuilted goes?
In vain we build the world, unless
The builder also grows.

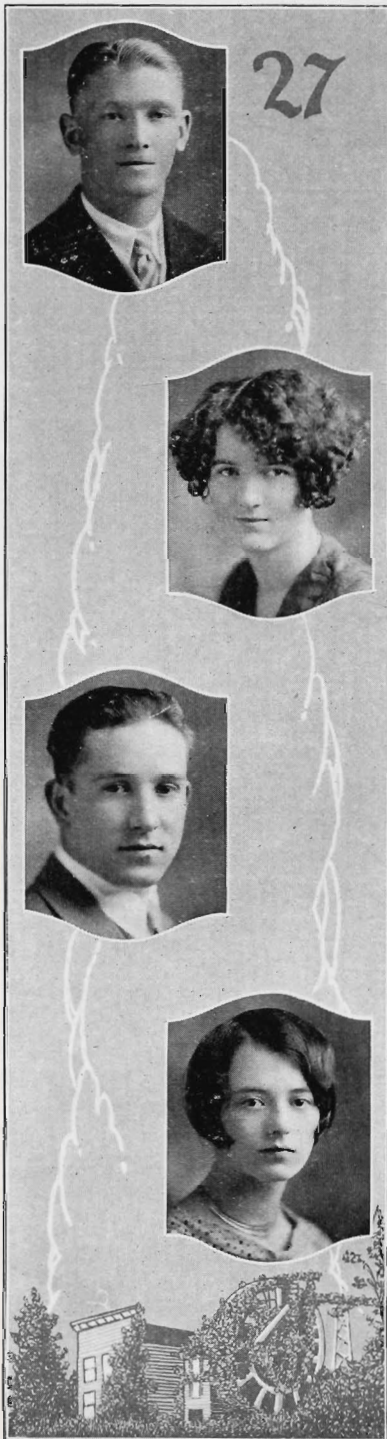

Let us remember as we close this year of athletic triumphs, of dramatic successes, of scholastic attainment, of all our varied pleasures and duties at last completed for the term; with a fresh year lying open before us, clean, unsullied, ready to take whatever imprint our fingers wish it to have; let us remember that it is not so much what we do to the job as what the job does to us, that really counts. "In vain we build the world, unless the builder also grows."

W. L. GAYLORD.

Louis Duval

He thinks much but says little.

Genevieve Hawes

She has quite a business air;
Here's to her getting there.

Theodore Corbella

Good at a fight, but better at play.

Inez De Veau

A dancing shape. On her toes she trips quite merrily.

27

Theodore Maliani

Full of laughter, fun and joy,
It's a shame that he's a boy.

Ella Whittle

Jolly yet serious,
Fun-loving yet sincere.

Charles Bloch

A man well favored.
Beware, fair maid, he hath a handsome face!

Angela Harrison

She is a maid of artless grace—
Gentle in form and fair of face.

Joseph Vasconi

Life has no worries for him.

Helen York

Power dwells with cheerfulness.

Martin Taganas

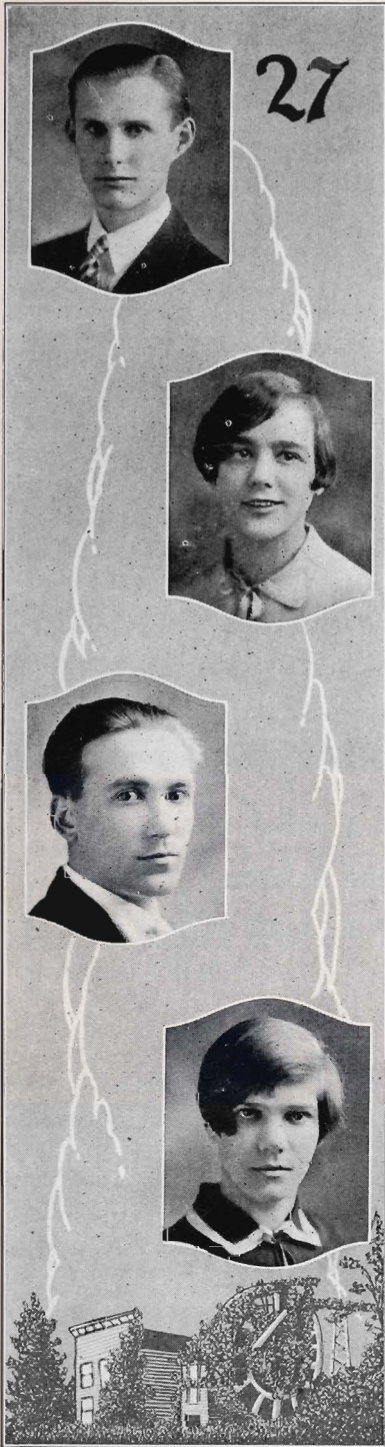

The stars are his goal.

Elsie Becky

Determined but sweet.

Joseph Teping

Ever jolly and full of fun—
Ready to joke with anyone.

William Allen

An all 'round man.

Gay Harrington

As brimful of mischief and fun and glee
As ever a mortal girl can be.

Jerdon Walters

Everything he does well and he does everything.

Marie White

She's a quiet and studious maiden;
Her power is in the written word.

Roberta Schaw

She is clever, she is witty,
She's in love; what a pity!

Derby Wilson

He loves a little wholesome fun,
E'n before his work is done.

Edna Richardson

Quietness is a factor of success.

Malcolm Paulson

True worth wins a way.

Louise Rossi

A friend to everyone.

Class Will

We, the ALMIGHTY Seniors, do hereby bequeath to our successors, the following:

To the Faculty, our best wishes for the future.

To the Juniors, our good will and the Senior Row.

To the Sophomores, our class spirit.

To the Freshmen, our dignity.

Individually we bequeath as follows:

I, Ella Whittle, will my ability to catch Pope Valley farmers to Virginia Maker, knowing she will be capable of handling the job.

I, Inez De Vean, will my ability to do fancy dancing to Helen Mund, knowing she'll make good use of it.

I, Theodore Corbella, will my football ability to "Shorty," and upon request, my dimples to Mrs. Gardiner.

I, Joseph Vasconi, will my ability to run the 880 to George Swanson.

I, Angela Harrison, will my daily walks around the track to Ellen Blake.

I, Louise Rossi, will my ability to pull down "ones" in American Problems to Alice Burnham.

I, Theodore Maliani, will my pull with Miss Cobbey to Dan Kaiser.

I, Louis Duval, do hereby will my pitching ability to Robert Chevalier.

I, Marie White, will my nickname, "Sparky," to Grace Johnstone.

I, Genevieve Hawes, will my luscious curly hair to Mrs. Gardiner.

I, Malcolm Paulson, will my musical ability to Madge de Camp.

I, Joseph Teping, will my job as financial manager to anyone who wants it.

I, Gay Harrington, will my ability to giggle and look happy to Zora Sloper.

THE FAR DARTER

I, Roberta Schaw, will my pull with the "Prof" to Bobbie Chevalier, and my sarcasm to anyone who can get away with it.

I, William Allen, will all I got from being treasurer to Eileen Chase, hoping that she will get more than I did.

I, Derby Wilson, will my ability to pilot my Hudson 70 miles per to Antonio dal Piaz.

I, Edna Richardson, will my red locks to Stanley Zill.

I, Elsie Becky, will my position as jump center on the basketball team to Grace Johnstone.

I, Charles Bloch, will my ability to lead yells to Andrew White.

I, Jerdon Walters, will my ready flow of speech to Albert Chevalier.

I, Helen York, will my long walk home to Douglas Scofield.

I, Martin Taganas, the promising engineer of the Philippine Islands, will Bienvenido Dimaya my future career.

Signed,

SENIOR CLASS.

Moonlight

The moon cast a soft glow on the cold marble stairs,
It played on the tinkling fountain where lovers like to wander,
Its waning light shone down the lane of oleander trees.

Where the moonlight touched the forest's edge,
It brushed the soft colors of a silent fawn,
Which turned and swiftly disappeared in dark shadows.

For a moment all was still and calm,
When the moon slipped down behind the hill,
And dawn crept up to take possession.

Senior Prophecy

Last night as I lay on my pillow,
 Last night as I lay on my bed,
 A spirit from out of the heavens,
 Came flitting right close to my head.
 It told me of all my dear classmates.
 This is the most that it said.

It told me of Martin Taganas,
 A lawyer of highest renown.
 It told me of Joseph Teping—
 His profession, a circus clown.

Of Elsie and Edna in far off Peking,
 Who are sure to be heard above all the din.
 Experts in the increase of lung space are they.
 As to the outcome, it's hard to say.

Genevieve tried the life of a crook,
 But now, I am told, she is somebody's cook.
 Inez, the dancer, all the world knows,
 Keeps Sarge a-going, right on his toes.

Louise, a teacher for several years,
 To be a spinster are her worst fears.
 Jerdon, a successor to Andy Gump,
 Sells real estate in a Florida dump.

Louis Duval won fame as a pitcher,
 And Gay fell heir to a man much richer.
 Marie and Helen take prizes as bathing beauties,
 And Ella's content with her wifely duties.

THE FAR DARTER

Malcolm Paulson, sheik of the day,
Lives at his relatives on very small pay.
Theodore, full of youthful folly,
Fell for a girl that was awfully jolly.

Willie, with head high up in the air,
Is climbing right up the political stair.
Angela Harrison, meek and demure,
Did she marry? Why to be sure.

Joseph Vasconi, the second Red Grange,
Plays football at college. That's not a bit strange.
Roberta, a nurse? Oh, no, not she!
She's happy with Mr.— and a family of three.

Charlie, a man right after my heart,
Full of the mischief and awfully smart,
Without even the help of Aladdin's magician,
Roused all the world with his fame as physician.

Derby Wilson, joker of old,
A miner in distant Alaska so cold.

The Wind

The wind with its old gray cap,
Came blowing along through the mountain gap,
Cracking off a mighty branch
With the force of a desperate avalanche.
Down through the valley in a torrent it went,
Howling and moaning like a dog on his scent,
Until at last when it died,
With a breath it sighed.
