FROM THE BONE PILE

The Grand Canyon was made by a Scotchman who dropped a nickel down a gopher hole and dug for it.

While we're near the Grand Canyon, have you ever heard of the terrible poison there? One drop and it'll kill you.

"Who was that lady I saw you eating with last night?"

"That was no lady; that was my knife."

Dear Bob,

Golly what can I say to take up all this space? Just that I've really had a lot of fun here & I'm beginning to realize what it means when they say you don't want to leave when it comes time to graduate.

 I really feel sorry about leaving.

Remember the fun we had in U.S. History and talking at the station in Roseville.

Be a good little boy (don't you love the "little"?) and maybe you'll graduate too next year - (maybe) What a pessimist the gal is huh?

At way a good -
 Wym

Dear Bob,
 Well, we're not mighty seniors at least and I hope we enjoy our last year here as much as those before.
 It's a year swell having you for a classmate.

Dear Bob,

I found the following poem in a book one day, that I happened to be looking through, and I thought as I read it that it was sort of meant for just we two. I'm writing it here in the hope that you will agree that it "makes very good sense."

"Afraid to Say Hello"

Once a perfect pair, now we're perfect strangers Everybody seems to wonder why you're afraid I know, afraid to say hello
Since you said good-bye
If we met by chance you avoid my glances Can't look in the eyes you taught to cry
So you turn and go, afraid to say hello
Since you said good-bye
We used to point with pride To love that held a thrill Why are you suddenly ashamed
If this is the end can't the end be friendly Smile and say that love was worth a try Why should you be so afraid to say hello

Since you said good-bye

I think it's pretty good - don't you france
