*Aren't these lions well-trained?
The two larger ones like to seem fierce, but they really aren't.
The smaller ones would rather have fun playing, but they are all very good and do what the trainer says.*

Achievements

0 score and three years ago, our class of "43" entered San Juan. Green and wiggling freshmen though we were, we had visions and dreams of becoming high and mighty Juniors. Now that we have achieved that goal our Junior year has passed far too quickly, and our present goal is of the coming Senior year.

The Junior play, "Ever Since Eve," lived up to the standards of all Junior plays that have been given at San Juan. "Ever Since Eve" was a hilarious comedy that proved what the male sex has been trying to prove for centuries, ever since Adam.

Due to the world situation and blackouts, the Junior prom had to be postponed. We are sure the prom would have been a complete success, since the cookies for the prom had been baked, and all was ready for the great event.

With the closing of a successful year, we, the Juniors, are prepared to come back to San Juan worthy of the title of "Seniors."

Achievements

Now that we are on the verge of becoming upper classmen we look back over our second year of high school with glad remembrance.

Although we did not win the Freshman-Sophomore Scamper, we thoroughly enjoyed the fun connected with it.

The Sophomore Hop, at which the South American theme prevailed, was attended by a large number of the student body and alumni. The walls of the old gym were decorated with drawings of dancing senores and senioritas. Other Latin American features were used to add to the spirit of the dance.

Without the careful guidance of our advisers and the cooperation of all the members of our class, we feel that the success we achieved through this year could not have been; therefore, we extend our thanks and appreciation to these people and all others who helped.

Achievements

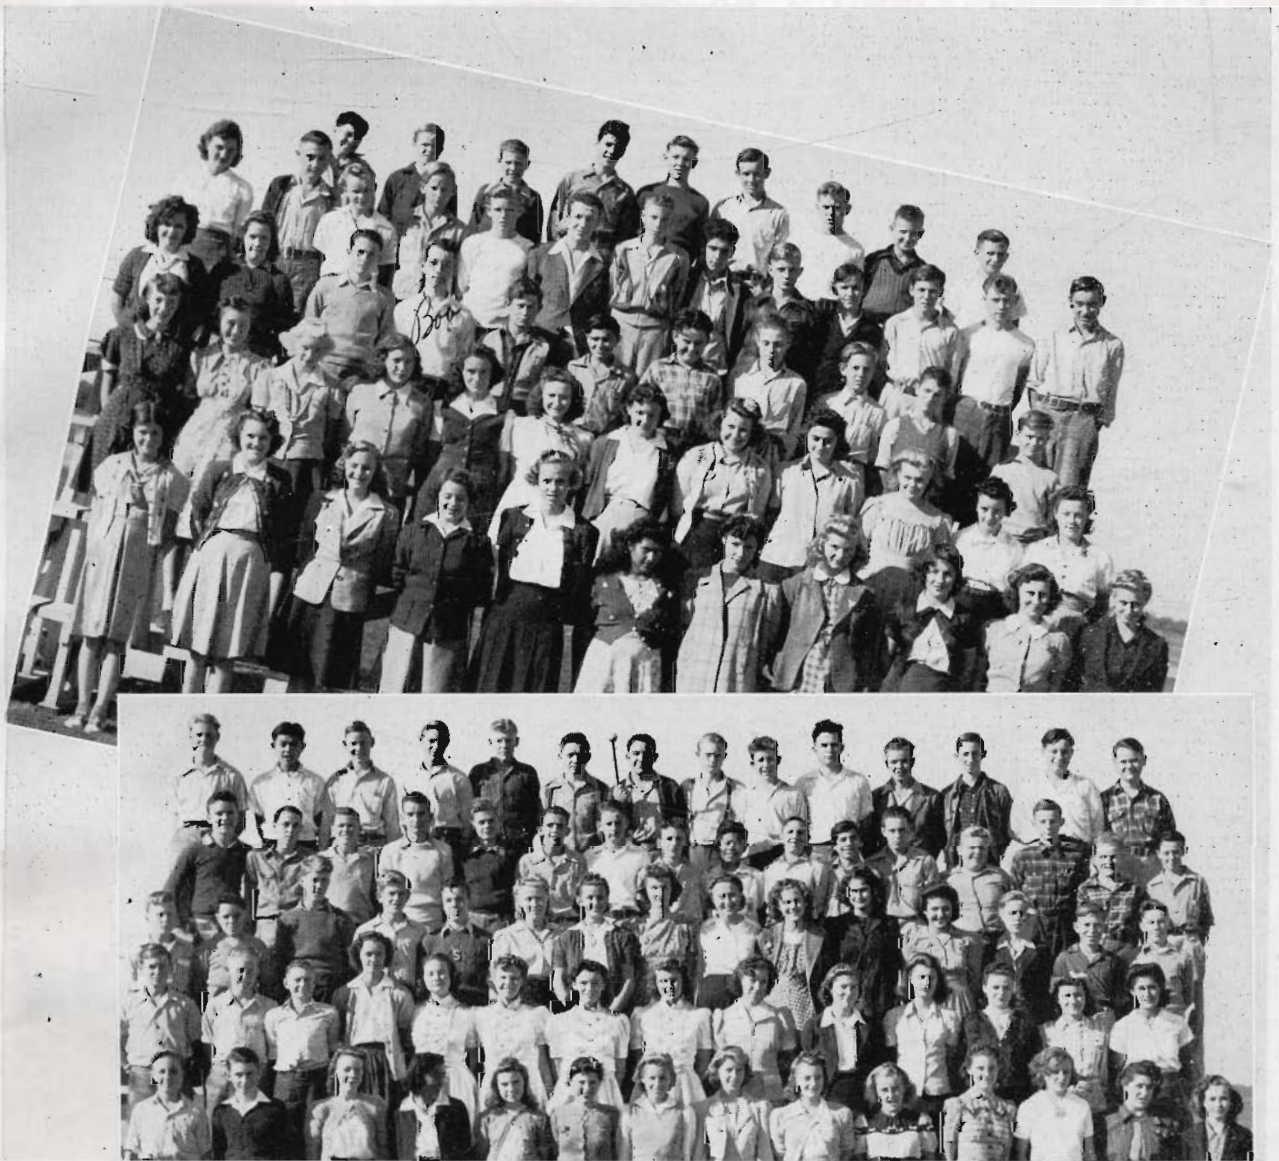

On a warm September morning in 1941, some eager but meek little persons were seen entering the doors of San Juan. Our initiation was handed out to us by those ever-obliging Seniors. Some funny and even weird-looking faces were seen on that day. The Freshman-Sophomore Scamper, which was won by us Freshmen, was our next big event. Our first social gathering, the Freshman Reception, was our formal introduction to the students and faculty of San Juan. We were rightfully proud of ourselves when we won the student body card sale contest and got to initiate the Sophomores.

All in all, we Freshmen think high school life is grand and are looking forward to next September when most of us will walk through the doors of San Juan again, this time as Sophomores.
