PRINTERS

if you have been looking around for a printer who will take an active interest in your printing problems, from the smallest card or label to a broadside, I would like you to consider that

Salesmen usually receive from ten to twenty per cent of the cost of each job sold by them, and often make themselves annoying by calling at an inopportune time. That is why I employ no salesmen, hoping in this way to render a printing service that is pleasing and at a saving in cost.
