TRACY

"THE CITY OF OPPORTUNITY"

Furnished by Tracy Chamber of Commerce

IT WILL BE DIFFICULT for you to find a more ideal location than the Tracy district, situated in America's most diversified county, San Joaquin. This county ranks first in the United States in the number of crops grown commercially. The West Side district of this county, of which Tracy is the trading center, has much to offer in the way of a place to work and live. Realizing that every district has its advantages, we are setting forth in this brief review the resources and opportunities of the Tracy district.

Surrounding the city there is 120,000 acres of rich irrigated farm lands; to the north many thousands of acres of fertile lands on the delta of the San Joaquin river; to the west rolling hills ideal for grazing cattle and sheep. This district lies directly east of San Francisco bay and is the "gateway" to the world-famous San Joaquin Valley. This fertile district presents a variety of soil types and crops unsurpassed in the state.

Our lands hold real promise for the thrifty farmer and his family. He has the choice of a wide range of soils and can select a spot best suited to his experience elsewhere. The fundamentals of successful farming—soil, water, drainage, climate, transportation and markets—all are here.

LOCATION: Tracy's location is almost ideal, being situated at the gateway between the San Francisco bay area with its two million population, "the most densely settled region in California," and the San Joaquin Valley, richest of California valleys.

Fifty miles by rail or truck over three rail lines or ideal paved highways makes it possible for the producer to reach the consumer with the least possible effort or expense. Less than 20 miles by paved highway takes you to Stockton, America's newest inland port, where you have access by ocean going vessels to the markets of the world.

SOIL: Rich, alluvial soils carried down and deposited by the San Joaquin river, or the great delta with its heavy black soil built by decaying vegetation are equal or superior to the best river bottom lands of the world. This rich soil reaches a depth of 18 feet.

WATER: There is an abundant supply of ground water and those sections outside the irrigation districts obtain ample water economically by the use of pumps.

CLIMATE: This district has the summer sunshine and heat necessary for maximum crops. The long, warm growing season assures the farmer a bountiful harvest of great diversification. The nights are cool and refreshing, owing to our proximity to San Francisco bay and the ocean. Our summers are long and without rainfall which accounts for our large number of crops.

Our barley and wheat have always commanded a premium because of their brightness and lack of mouldy grains. Labor is more efficient, it being able to work outside in comfort every day in the year. Every month is a harvest month. Flowers bloom all the year round.

TRANSPORTATION: Transportation facilities are unexcelled. The district is served by the Southern Pacific and Western Pacific railroads. Good paved highways radiate from Tracy like the spokes of a wheel. Hauls to markets are short and inexpensive. Inland waterways give us cheap transportation for our products. Thousands of tons of sugar beets are brought to Tracy by barge and manufactured into sugar and the finished product sent to market cheaply in the same manner. Ocean going ships dock at Stockton, 20 miles away, making our transportation facilities complete.

INDUSTRY: The climate is unusually favorable to the greatest labor efficiency, abundant white labor—mostly home owners—freedom from industrial strife, splendid living conditions, good schools, excellent recreational facilities, unsurpassed transportation offers a splendid manufacturing location. The cost of living is comparatively cheap, food is cheap and abundant, labor turnover is at a minimum. Here you can locate your factory in the center of raw materials, and right at the door of your market.

At Tracy is located the large plant of the Holly Sugar Corporation, the Dairymaid Creameries, the Carbona Bean Growers large cleaning plant. The Denver Alfalfa Milling and Products Company's plant at Tracy is the largest and most modern alfalfa mill in the world.

Fruit and vegetable packing sheds, warehouses and numerous small plants make Tracy a manufacturing center.

Cheap and almost unlimited hydro-electric energy, fuel oil supplied from great main pipe lines direct from the oil fields, abundant pure water from the San Joaquin river or inexpensive wells, low tax and insurance rates, inexpensive sites, make Tracy an industrial center. Tracy now has large producing gas wells within one mile of the city.

CROPS: This district has long been known as the food basket of the San Francisco Bay area with its two million people. What a basket! Let us take a look inside this basket and see the milk, cream, butter, eggs, honey and wax, fruit, nuts, figs, poultry, veal, beef, mutton, pork, lambs, wool, grapes, peaches, pears, apricots, plums, cherries, olives, melons, asparagus, tomatoes, peas, carrots, spinach, lettuce, onions, potatoes, beans, sugar, wheat, corn, barley, oats, canned milk, alfalfa, sugar beet pulp, hay and seeds. This district is the most important baby lima bean center of the state.

Hundreds of dairy farms stocked with high class animals produce great quantities of milk and cream as well as thousands of tons of alfalfa, both for home consumption and the adjacent market. Of the 3065 counties in the United States this county stands first in diversification of products. The world's record potato yield, 962½ bushels on one acre, was produced north of Tracy. Delta soil, rich in humus and nitrogen, yields heavier than any other section of the United States planted to sugar beets. An average yield of 20 tons to the acre, unknown elsewhere in the United States.

RECREATION: Nor is the Tracy district lacking in recreational facilities, boating and fishing on the San Joaquin river and its tributaries. Here the fishermen come to catch striped bass "up to 60 pounds," and a variety of other fish for which our river, sloughs and canals are famous. Here the wild ducks, geese and quail are abundant. In the hills on the west and the high Sierra Mountains on the east, thousands of deer are killed annually. A short trip over paved highways to Yosemite Valley, California Big Trees, "the oldest and largest living things on earth," the historic old gold country, the Sierra Nevada Mountains, with ideal summer and winter resorts. Many Tracy citizens have beautiful summer homes in these mountains, with their beautiful lakes and streams that can be reached by auto after the day's work. Fifty miles by auto takes you to great cities with their universities, libraries, museums, old Spanish Missions, theaters, symphony orchestras, parks and ocean beaches.

HEALTH: The Tracy area is located in the San Joaquin Health District with its splendid system of health officials and nurses. In the western division of the United States, this county stands first in public health.

The American Public Health Association awarded first prize to this county this year for the elimination of premature deaths and the reduction of economic losses due to unnecessary illness.

Tracy is not a city of agriculture, industry and business alone—here you will find well paved and well lighted streets, comfortable homes set in beautiful gardens where flowers bloom all the year round, tree lined shady avenues, good schools, churches, clubs, lodges and fraternities. Here you will find a neighborly, congenial atmosphere not found in the larger cities. The factories are clean, well lighted and the business houses are modern. It is an ideal place in which to work and live. Real estate can still be had at reasonable prices.

Our population has increased 56 per cent in the last ten years and there is a law governing real estate to the effect that values increase in proportion to population. Forty-six per cent of the population of the state of California, over two million people, live within less than 100 miles of Tracy.
