Roll them hips! Cliff Greenwood wasn't quite high enough.

The 1955 Mustang Track team, under the able coaching of Frank Boyle, proved to be a well-balanced squad. Although hampered all season by ineligibility, the thinclads were a pretty hard team to beat. Charlie Curtis and Gene Campbell were two of the consistent scorers, while Howard Jackson, Batch Williams, Bart Gauger, Cliff Greenwood and Vern Scloththauer were among the 'Tangs who turned in fine performances.

Batch Williams was up and over in the hurdles event.

Gene Campbell seemed to walk on thin air.

Leadell Traylor snapped the tape in the 220 for another first, while Wilson Johnson and Pete Serrano settled for fourth and fifth spots.

Ken Noyer paused on the way down, after vaulting over the bar with plenty of room to spare.

The grin on his face proved that Wilson Johnson was well pleased with his jump.

Bill Gott
Coach

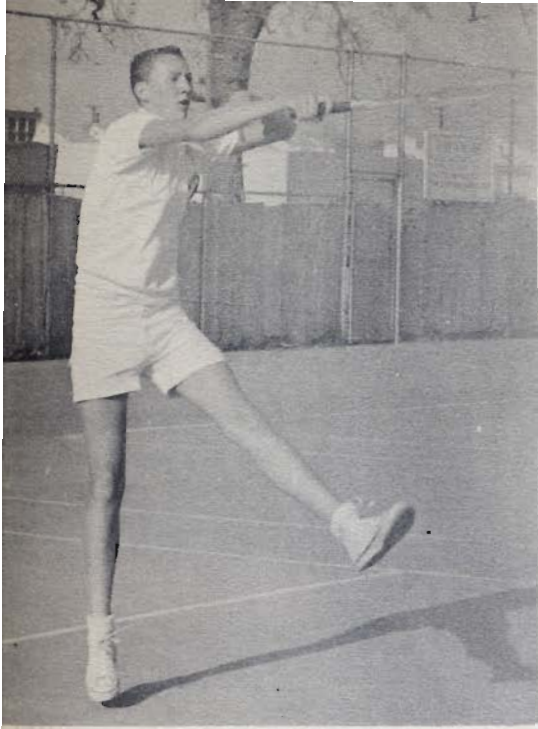

Coach Bill Gott's first season with the Colt cindermen proved to be a fruitful one. The large turnout was ample proof of the spirit of team members. Relying on such hustlers as "Legs" Tominaga, Jun Akaba, Leadell Traylor, and Waymond Hall, the Colts racked up a good number of points for a season's job well done.

Jun Akaba displayed his tremendous will to win.

Waymond Hall, right, and Carl Kennard dominated the hurdles in a meet with Turlock.

Gary Ricks concentrated on a good serve.

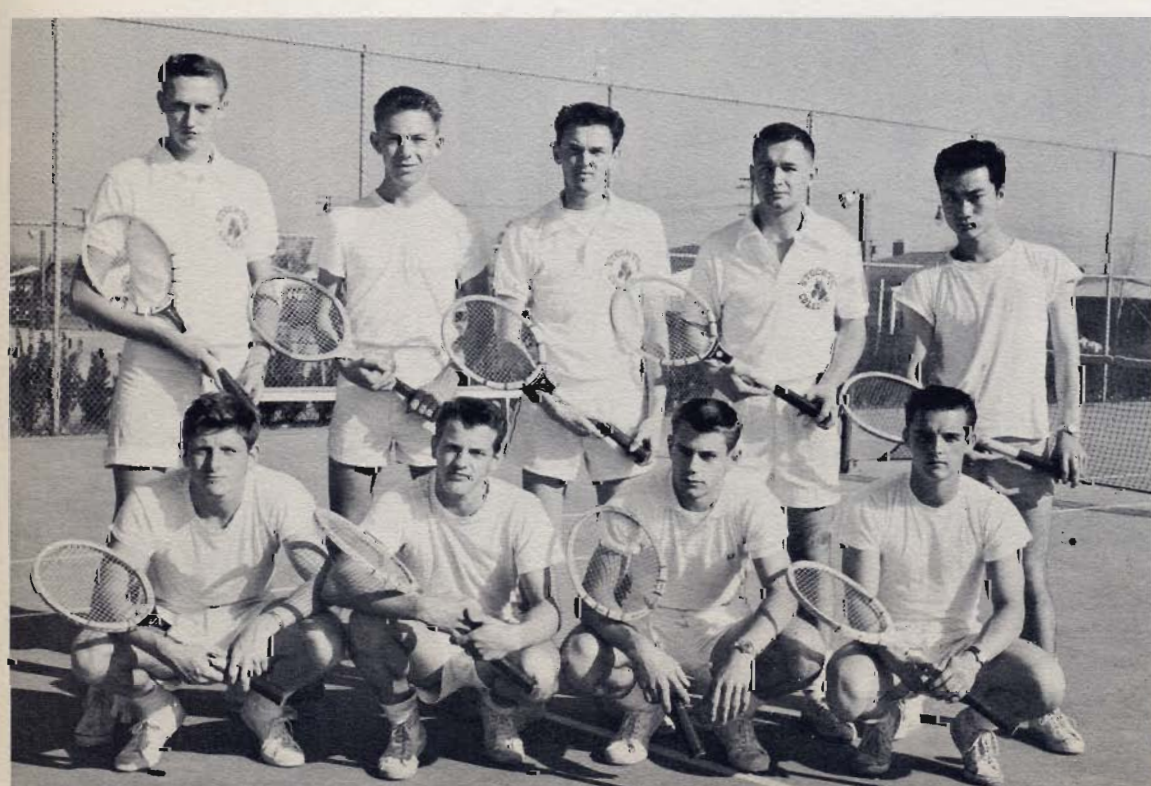

Chuck Bloch displayed his "fine form" with Corky Fergusson on the doubles court.

Mustang Tennis

Though lacking experienced players, Coach Bill Parton's squad played a creditable season. Sparking the '55 'Tang tennis team was Dick Whitesides. Backing up Whitesides were Corky Fergusson, Chuck Bloch and Del Simmons.

With Bill Parton taking up the coaching reins, the SC Colts enjoyed a very successful season. Winning most of their games, the Colts "Racquetters" proved to be a hard team to beat. The only losses suffered were to Lodi and Downey. Bob Rose and Luis Perez were the leading netters. The rest of the team proved to be able.

Burgess Windsor, one of SC's stand-out golfers, was named "Athlete of the Year" for the city of Stockton by the Stockton Jesters Club. Burgess, last year, won second place in the National Amputees Golf Tourney in Michigan; he plans to enter the Tourney again this year.

The past season for the 'Tang golfers proved to be an exceptionally brilliant one. In eight league games, the squad was undefeated. Led by Bob Oliva, Dave Dillon, and Burgess Windsor, the team was ranked one of the top two teams in the state.

Lee LaPlant loosens up while several of his teammates look on.

The proper technique of chipping was demonstrated by two of Coach Lenz's top-notch golfers.

In 1955, as in past years, Pete Lenz coached the Colt golf team. The Colt "linksters" had some good material, but they were up against very tough competition. Two of Coach Lenz's highest-rating squad men were Tim Quinn and Ron Smith.
